ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long, or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a lifetime, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mather, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Bennett, John Hurrett, Thomas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the best stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbors; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range,

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

It can be used as freely as water upon the head, and will not, like most other preparations, oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one of his bottles of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOARVALL.

THE GOSPEL PSALMIST is a fine selection of the best hymns extant, made with the nice discrimination and good taste of the compiler, Rev. John G. Adams. Numbering as they do, almost a thousand, and embracing every desirable variety of topic and sentiment, they give ample scope for selecting the very hymn that is wanted.

These hymns are printed in a neat volume by themselves, to be used with any music, like other hymn books.

And they are also printed in connection with standard music, carefully selected and skilfully arranged by Mr. S. B. Ball. In this form they make a handsome octavo volume, for use in congregational singing.

One of the copies with music, and one or two more without, furnish a pew for engaging in this most pleasant part of public worship.

Both editions are published by J. M. Usher, Boston.

CUSHING ON THE WAR.—Hon. Caleb Cushing says, in his Salisbury speech:

"When peace shall again revisit us, then, and not till then, will I criticise.—When 250,000 of my fellow citizens are in arms for the defense of the government and country, I will not do it. We must have victory to insure respect from the South, to dictate proper terms of peace, and to stand up in the face of the world friendly or opposed, to have their profound regard. This war must be pursued for twenty years if need be to have victory.

Much fault has been found with our officers and soldiers in regard to the battle before Manassas—that it ought not to have been fought. But the battle was a necessity. If it had been delayed, the 75,000 three months volunteers would have been withdrawn. In that battle New England showed herself true. The 2d Rhode Island regiment, the 2d New Hampshire and two Massachusetts regiments were in the thickest of that hot fight. We have proved that we of New England had the true metal.—And it is the duty of New England still to show that we have not only brains to think, and mechanical ability to manufacture for the country, but that we have brave hands and stout hearts to battle for our native land and stand up for our rights, as did our fathers of the revolution. And let us now in this great temple of nature—by the music of this sounding ocean, swear to be faithful to the Government of the United States, and to restore the Constitution of our country."

ENGLISH NOTIONS. — Private letters from England and the Continent show that the fever created in England, growing out of a fear that cotton would become scarce, in consequence of the blockade of our Southern ports, is subsiding, and that a decided reaction is taking place. While the London Times has been croaking over the probable incapability of our government to raise money, our people have been raising it. And the talk now is, at Baring's, the great London banker, that England will get none of our loan at par, but will buy at a premium.

The London Times now thinks the subjugation of the South next to impossible, and its submission highly improbable. Davis and Wise would like to believe this,—but they would pay a very high premium—in Confederate bonds,—if they could be assured of it! They think it looks shaky.

☞ It is stated that a conspiracy existed among the passengers and a portion of the crew of the privateer Jeff. Davis to kill the captain and officers, and to take the vessel into the port of New York, and that four of the crew have been arrested. It is thought the conspiracy had some agency in the stranding of the Jeff. Davis on the St. Augustine bar.

Applications for positions as volunteer Lieutenants, Acting Masters, and Masters' Mates should state the ages, and be accompanied by certificates from the last owners of the vessels, and also from several underwriters of the ports whence the applicants have severally sailed. None others will be considered at the Navy Department.

☞ The report recently circulated that General Tom Thumb had died at Paris, was false. The General is alive and well and making a tour of the Canadas, being now at Montreal.

It is stated that Dr. Cummings, who predicts the end of all things earthly in 1866, has, notwithstanding, had his life insured, and has leased a dwelling house for thirty years.

ORDINATION AT SALISBURY.—The ordination of Henry G. Safford as pastor of the Salisbury and Amesbury Baptist Church, took place on Thursday.

It is rumored that the offer of our Government to accept the propositions of the Paris Conference relative to privateering has been rejected by the European powers.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1861.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— At the Fair of the Merrimack Co. Agricultural Society, to be held in Concord on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, there is to be vocal music, immediately preceding the address by Joseph B. Walker, Esq., of Concord. The programme comprises fourteen pieces and will undoubtedly form one of the pleasantest features of the occasion.

—— For the Second Company of Sharpshooters from this State, Henry M. Caldwell, of Danbarton, has been appointed Captain; John A. Moors, of Canterbury, First Lieutenant, and James H. Hildreth, of Lebanon, Second Lieutenant. Those marksmen who were too late to become members of Capt. Jones' company can make application to either of these officers. Capt. Caldwell's headquarters are in Concord.—He was a classmate with Capt. Jones of the First Company, at Dartmouth College.

—— In reply to the proposal of the State Executive, to furnish a body of cavalry to serve during the war, an order for three companies, of one hundred men each, has been received. These will be mustered into the New England regiment, which is to be organized by Gov. Sprague, of Rhode Island. The horses and equipments are to be furnished by the United States, or by Gov. Sprague—we do not know which; and such is the spirit and munificence of the chief magistrate of Rhode Island, that the Statesman thinks perhaps one of these alternatives is as likely as the other. Recruiting officers for this corps will soon be appointed.

—— Two men, employed as section men on the Grand Trunk Railroad, went to sleep on their hand car, two miles below North Stratford, and were not seen till the first up freight train came very near running over them. The train stopped within a few feet of them, the engineer blew the whistle, but they did not awake until he got off the engine and went to them.

—— A correspondent of the Wolfborough News, writing from one of the villages in Tamworth, says: "Twenty five years ago this month there were but five dwelling houses in this district, including one log house. There are now twenty-three; and from this little district there are nine soldiers now in the field, besides two three months men who have returned, but intend to re-enlist. Can another district among these mountains be found whose loyalty is better represented?"

—— On Monday, of last week, a young lady of North Stratford, named Mary McGrath, narrowly escaped drowning in the Connecticut. She was standing upon a rock near the shore when she slipped and fell into the water. Her little brother gave the alarm, and by the timely assistance of the people of the village, she was taken out of the water, and soon resuscitated.

—— Col. John H. George, of Concord, has been requested by Gen. Butler to raise a regiment in New Hampshire, to serve under the last mentioned officer in the special service to which he has been assigned.

—— Baldwin's Cornet Band, of Manchester, which went out with the New Hampshire First, is engaged for the Lincoln Cavalry—a regiment composed of nine companies from New York, two from Pennsylvania, and one from Michigan.

☞ The New Orleans Crescent, replying to a recent speech of a Union democrat of Ohio, says:—

"Probably it would be as well for Mr. Jewett to wait until we express a desire for a 'compromise' before he volunteers his determination that he has none to make.—Probably he had better wait until we ask for 'terms' before he professes that he has 'none to offer.' If the Northern people suppose we are fighting for compromises or terms, they had as well get rid of that little delusion at once. We are fighting for independence and a second nationality. If we were allowed to dictate our own terms for a further union with the North, we would scorn and spurn the proposal."

This is commended to the attention of all honest men at the North, who hear any body speak of compromise. The real purpose of the slave power is to rule or ruin.

THE CASE OF ROB'T F. ELLIOT.—It is alleged that sufficient evidence has been obtained to convict Elliot, who was recently arrested in the town of Freedom, Maine, and conveyed to Fort Lafayette, of the crime of treason. Col. E. K. Smart of Camden, by authority of the Government, visited Freedom, and obtained the deposition of various parties, who testified to the unlawful objects of the military company organized in that town, and the full complicity of Elliot in the design to interpose an armed resistance to the execution of the laws. Since the arrest of their leader the company has been disbanded, and many of its members taken the oath of allegiance, under the ministration of Judge Davis, who was sent for that purpose.

Some paper in Maine complained bitterly when some other paper accused these Freedom armed rebels of treason: but it seems they were strily guilty.

THE REBELLION.

The N. Y. World continues its vigorous call for MEN, MEN, MEN to put down the rebellion. Stout arms and stout hearts are in great need, though the country seems to slumber.

Five thousand Sharpe's rifles are on their way to New York, from the Sharpe rifle manufactory, for secret service.

The Legislature of Virginia has repealed all the honors ever conferred upon Gen. Scott, and ordered Scott county to be in future "Davis" county.

There are but 790 soldiers in the hospitals at Washington, which is less than one per cent. of the army, and the mortality is not ten per cent. of the sick.

Gen. Fremont telegraphed to the headquarters of the army, Thursday, that Major Garritt, 1st Indiana regiment of cavalry, who was sent out on a reconnoissance towards Gen. Hardee's position at Greenville, met the enemy's pickets and drove them in, killing two and taking three of them prisoners. He also captured 60 muskets and 25 horses.

Some 700 Creeks, and a portion of the Cherokees, Choctaws and Chickasaws, have joined the rebels, influenced by Albert Pike, and others, who have been counselling the Chiefs, and threatening an invasion of 20,000 Texans to lay waste their country and destroy the inhabitants. Yet, while the half-breeds have proved false, the pure Indians remain true, and civil war among these tribes may result.

Affairs at Fortress Monroe remain about as usual, except that the rebels are not so active in sending flags of truce over to the Fort, for the purpose of obtaining information of movements. Since Gen. Wool detained one of their boats for twenty-four hours, they have wisely concluded that their game of deceit was about played out.

A regiment of cavalry is authorized to be raised in Colorado Territory. One of its leading citizens says it will furnish three or four if necessary.

The militia of the counties in Kansas bordering on the river, have been under arms for the last two weeks, to repel any invasion.

The bill which passed both houses of the Kentucky Legislature, requesting Gen. Anderson to call for and take command of the Kentucky volunteers, was vetoed by Gov. Magoffin. It was passed over the veto in the House—68 against 22.

More troops have been sent from Louisville to Lebanon. In the western part of the State, the towns of Columbus, Hickman and Mayfield, are the only points known to be in the possession of the rebels under Gen. A. S. Johnston, who has superceded Bishop Polk in the command of the Confederate army on the Mississippi.

W. N Haldersman, the principal proprietor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier, publishes a card in the Journal agreeing to avoid the publication of matter prejudicial to the Federal Government, and to be loyal to that Government, while Kentucky remains in the Union. The Courier was recently suppressed.

A rebel camp at Petersburg, Hardy Co. Va., was dispersed by our troops on the 12th. One shot from a 12-pounder scattered them like chaff. Several were killed and wounded, and a number taken prisoners. The camp and all its equipage was taken and destroyed, also a large quantity of guns, uniforms, etc.

Some 200 rebels were attacked while they were drilling, near Barbousville, Va. The rebels fled at the first fire. Their leader and two others were made prisoners, and several killed and wounded.

The news from Western Missouri is still contradictory and incomplete. The first attack on Lexington was probably made on Monday, as stated by previous advices, with about 800 men. The engagement lasted two hours, when the rebels were repulsed with a loss of 100 killed and between 200 and 300 wounded. The fortifications are situated at the edge of the town on a bluff overlooking the river. The works are of earth, 7 feet high, 12 feet thick, with a ditch, 6 feet in depth and 12 feet broad, surrounding them. Another and smaller work is erected inside, and defended by a ditch. The works are capable of holding 10,000 men. The attack on Wednesday was a determined affair, and lasted nearly all day. The reinforcements from the North, under Gen. Sturgis, probably number 3000; but should they be unable to cross the river, the only aid they can give will be to sweep with their artillery the points occupied by the rebels. It is hoped, however, that the 6000 troops, that left Jefferson City on Wednesday, will be able to land at or near Lexington, and cut their way through the enemy's forces and join Col. Mulligan. It is said that Col. Mulligan expressed confidence in being able to hold his position against any force — not more than ten times greater than his. A Mr. King reports at St. Louis that Price on Tuesday took the three ferry boats, after suffering great loss, and thus would prevent the passage of the reinforcements, from the North, for Lexington. His account is very incoherent, and was not generally credited.

LATEST.

The Government accepts the tender of military services by the French Princes, Count de Paris and Duc de Chartres. They will probably enter Gen. McClellan's staff.

Major Beausenwein, late aid-de-camp to Garibaldi, was commissioned in the military service on Saturday.

Up to Saturday noon, there had been no definite action regardiog Gen. Fremont's administration of affairs, the questions involved being of a complicated and delicate character, and therefore requiring deliberation. The probabilities are, that he will not be suspended in his command, but that other arrangements of an important bearing will be made, having in view the public welfare. Nothing beyond this can be ascertained.

The telegraph states (no date) that Gen. Reynolds, at Cheat Mountain, had driven the rebels from their position, killing nearly 100. The 14th Ind. reg't was twice surrounded, but repulsed the rebels with great gallantry.

Gov. Morton and Col. Wood, of Indiana, left for Louisville on the 19th, with guns and ammunition. The Governor has ordered the Home Guards and regiments on the border, to hold themselves in readiness. 10,000 additional troops could leave Indiana in twenty four hours.

It was rumored at Louisville, 21st, that the rebels had advanced on Elizabethtown, Ky. The Union troops were preparing for any emergency.

The rebel General Buckner, at Bolling Green, has issued a proclamation to the people, asserting that "the Legislature have been faithless to the will of the people.—They have endeavored to make your State a Fortress in which, under the guise of neutrality, armed forces of the United States might secretly prepare to subjugate alike the people of Kentucky and of the Southern States." He re-iterates the assertion that the rebels did not enter Ky. until it became necessary, as there were large encampments of Federal troops within it, and there was also a well prepared scheme to seize an additional point of vital importance to the safety and defense of Tenn.,—and then an invitation to the people of Kentucky. He returns among them at the head of a force, the advance of which is composed entirely of Kentuckians. The Confederate States occupy Bolling Green as a defensive position. He renewed the pledge to retire when the national troops did so; and further, gave his own assurance that his forces would be held as an aid to the government of Ky., in carrying out the strict neutrality desired by its people, whenever they undertake to enforce it against the two belligerents alike.

Six more Federal prisoners at Richmond, have escaped.

Latest accounts from Lexington, Mo., state Col. Mulligan's force there is 3500 men. He has three six-pounders, one howitzer, two mortars. The firing was still going on, Wednesday eve. The rebels, it is said, have no shells, shrapnel, or canister,—nothing but round shot and slugs.

A dispatch from Baltimore gives the following:—

The Richmond Examiner of the 12th says: "It is evident to every intelligent observer that an embittered remnant of the submissionist party, fully represented in the Virginia Convention, is bent on organizing a regular opposition to the Government.

The Herald's Washington dispatch states that if the President has not already done it, it is believed that he has decided to depose Gen. Fremont, and order some other General to command that department. The fact that Lexington and other places have been left undefended when Gen. Fremont has a strong force at his disposal is a mystery that annoys the President and Cabinet, and is inexplicable to Gen. Scott.—Fremont will unquestionably be called to Washington to explain.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—By the Pony Express we have advices from California to the 7th inst. The election has resulted in the choice of the Republican nominee for Governor, by a vote about equal to that of both his opponents. In that part of the State from which returns have been received, Stanford, (Rep.,) received about 52,000, Conness, (Union Dem.,) and McConnell, (Secession Dem.,) about 27,000 each. The Assembly will be strongly Republican, as also the Senate.

Some seizures of Southern vessels had been made at San Francisco, under the confiscation act. The steamer of the 11th for Panama had $1,090,000 in treasure.

It is estimated that the number of emigrants across the plains this year will reach from 25,000 to 30,000. The greatest number are by the Central route.

The Oregon Indians are peaceable, and the alarm about hostilities on a large scale is evidently an exaggeration.

It is stated that the entire country beyond the Cascades and the Rocky Mountains is one vast gold field. There will be another gold rush in the spring.

TREASURY NOTES AT PAR!

JONES & MENDUM will receive Treasury Notes of the United States at par, in exchange for merchandise. aug19

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

Or the New York Musical Review, FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON'S last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c.&c. Subscription, $1 per annum

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON'S new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON'S new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

No. 47 MARKET STREET.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 17.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been revealed by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar.—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first I knew he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, or such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—The master-roll now includes about 1700 men—and the monthly pay-roll amounts to about $35,000; the total outlay per month being from $100,000 to $115,000. There are four new vessels now in course of construction—two third class sloops, the Kearsarge and Ossipee, steam propellers, nearly completed; and two side-wheel steamers, just commenced, to be called the Pawtuckaway and the Monadnock. The Kearsarge, which is just about 1000 tons, and will carry seven heavy guns,—we believe 24-pounders—was launched a few days ago, and is now in the dry dock, coppered, and being rapidly finished. She will probably be ready for sea as early as November. The other sloop, the Ossipee, of upwards of 1500 tons, is on the stocks in the ship-house where the Santee was built; and is planked up, and expected to be launched in about twenty-five days. These are most beautifully-modelled vessels, and built in the most substantial as well as speedy manner. The live oak in their bottoms was in the trees only a few weeks from the time of being laid; and it is less than three months since they were begun. These crafts were formerly called gunboats, an insignificant title for such large and splendid war steamers. They are known in the Department as third-class sloops—though rigged with fore-and-aft sails, like a three-masted schooner.

The side-wheel steamers just commenced are smaller, being about 750 tons burthen. They are very flat-bottomed, and will draw only about 6 feet of water—but we hope will also "draw" some of the rebel-pirates out of their holes along the Southern rivers.

Besides these four vessels now building, four others are ordered here for repairs; and several of the gun-boats now going up in private yards, will fit out at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

The Navy Yard presents a busy scene indeed; and not only the Constructor, but all the officers and clerks find plenty to do now-a-days. We have frequently been under obligations to Constructor Hanscom, Paymaster Bleecker, Engineer Chandler, and the Commandant, Capt. Pearson, and other gentlemen, for courtesies while visiting there. We have already announced that Capt. Misroon and Lieut. Cooper have been detached from this Station, and ordered to sea.

Some towns are favored in a pecuniary manner by the war. Portsmouth, N. H., was never more flourishing before than it is now made by the government works.—Nearly two thousand men, we are told, are employed in the Navy Yard—a number equal to all the men in Portsmouth before—and they keep money in quick circulation. —Newburyport Herald.

Portsmouth is greatly benefitted by her Navy Yard, no doubt—and we hope always will be; though some of our down east neighbors would like to have it moved into Maine, and reap all the advantages accruing therefrom. But all the men employed there do not belong or live in Portsmouth, or the neighboring towns, by a great sight — many of them come from "away down East," and not a few from the towns next to us—and from Newburyport and beyond. The ship-carpenters of the Piscataqua and Merrimac can't be excelled, for building ships, for peace or war. But we hope, ere long, they will have a chance to help "spread the wings of commerce" still wider than ever.

☞ Mr. Nelson Goodrich, Boatswain, of this city, has been attached to the steam sloop-of-war Pensacola, which for some time past has been at the Washington Navy Yard fitting out, and will soon be ready for service. There has been some unusual delay in providing her machinery, which is said to be of the most approved kind, and equal if not superior to any at present in use.

☞ One of the prettiest and most valuable improvements that our City Government has made this year, (and they are not small or few) is the public watering trough and fixtures at the Creek; which is ever filled by the little stream of pure Aqueduct water, rippling into it from the bent iron pipe which stands sentinel above it; and which falls with a sound so grateful, that man or beast is loth to pass with tasting. We have sometimes objected, and may again, to the monopoly of the Aqueduct Company; but citizens of Portsmouth cannot be too thankful for their supply of most delicious water.

☞ Capt. W. E. Putnam, of York, Me., recently appointed Sailing Master U. S. N., has resigned the situation, having an eligible offer to engage in business in China for several years. His sale, as advertised, offers a rare opportunity to purchase nice furniture, and foreign curiosities not often to be bought at all.

☞ Mr. D. R. Ambrose, 6 Market Square, has Harper's Magazine, for October, — containing Alexander Smith's new poem in full.

☞ We are requested to state that there is to be a Grand Union Ball at Union Hall on Wednesday Evening, the Eve of the National Fast. Music by Lamprey's Band.

☞ An attempt was made, Friday, to launch the new gunboat "Huron" from the yard of Mr. Paul Curtis, at East Boston, but at the last moment it was found that the grease of the launching ways had struck into the wood, and she could not be launched until the vessel was again blocked up, and the ways received another coating of the lubricating material.

Another attempt on Saturday, proved successful.

☞ The Atlantic Monthly, for October, is issued. Nathaniel Hawthorne, O. W. Holmes, Mrs. Stowe, Mrs. Howe, C. C. Hazewell, and other able writers contribute to it, and the "the Country Parson" has one of his inimitable essays. A new story, by the author of "Life in the Iron Mills," is commenced—to be completed in five numbers.

☞ Rev. F. E. Hicks has resigned the pastorship of the Universalist Church in Dover, where he was highly respected.

☞ The Richmond Whig plaintively advertises for vaccine virus, and says a supply is of the utmost importance.

Medical men, both Allopathic and Homœopathic, unanimously concur that the strong alkali in common Saleratus is detrimental to health, and paves the way for disease.—They also concur that Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is the only harmless article in the market which can be relied upon. Use it with cream tarter instead of soda. Call on the grocers for it. Their depot is 112 Liberty street, New York. 3t.

As the truly wonderful merits of the Oxygenated Bitters in curing Dyspepsia in its worst developments, become known and appreciated, orders for it are pouring in from all parts of the country—North and South, East and West. This tells the story.

For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum will be received. Subscriptions of five dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coins of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one-third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will remain until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon from the 19th August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar distinctive or peculiar condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permanding every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as liniments, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he confidently recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years past the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have yet to be known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the desired happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the unestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various forms, that there is a soverign remedy in ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DIEKS, Chemist, N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

From the Journal

Col. Marston.—The Colonel was in Portsmouth on Wednesday, and appears fast recovering from his wounds. His arm is free from the sling, but has not regained its full strength.—Of a report that is going the rounds of the papers, to the effect that Col. Marston will be compelled to resign the command of 2d New Hampshire regiment, on account of his wound preventing active duty, the Ballot says—"The story is an idle and absurd one, as of course government would not be so unjust as to compel a brave officer to resign because he was so unfortunate as to receive a wound in the discharge of his duty. We are happy to inform his friends that Col. Marston is rapidly recovering from his injury, and will be likely to report himself ready for duty by the time his furlough expires. He expects again to share with his regiment the perils and honors of the war, and they deceive themselves who base their hopes of promotion on his resignation."

Physical Education.—The commencement exercises of Dr. Lewis's Normal Institute for Physical Education in Boston, took place on Thursday evening Sept. 4th. The exhibition was one of much interest combining the result of physical as well as mental culture. The performances of the graduating class on the floor did great credit to Dr. Lewis as a teacher of gymnastics, while those at the desk spoke well for the mental education.

Enlivening remarks were made by the Director, Dr. Lewis and others in attendance, which, with the music performed for the occasion, afforded a nice entertainment.

Fort Constitution.—We learn that the Ellsworth Guards, of Seabrook, Capt. D. A. Titcomb, have received orders from the Governor, to be in readiness for duty as a permanent garrison at the Fort, and are now filling up their ranks for the same. They are to be regularly enlisted and mustered into the U. S. service and assigned this particular duty.

Piscataqua, was anciently written Pawcatamack, which means the Great Deer Place. The present name was adopted by the whites, expressive of our river being the Fish Water.

Ossipee.—This mountain is named for a river so called by the Indians. The meaning is the Pine river or Rivers of Pines.

Ordination.—Rev. Charles H. Corey, formerly of Brookline, Mass. was ordained as pastor of the Baptist church at Seabrook, on Wednesday last. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Lamson.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or by the removal of a simple plate, in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. The present extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a beach to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

John Trundy, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Washington, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbors; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair.

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

St. Louis, Mo., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bill bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. Wm. Bosayall.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

"MADE HIS PEACE WITH HIS GOD."—We never knew till now, where this religions phrase came from, though we had heard it, or the substance of it, from the pulpit and elsewhere, a thousand times, used with all the solemnity of a scriptural quotation, though it does not occur in the Bible.

The Boston Pilot, the able paper of the Roman Catholic Church, notices the death of Dr. Thomas Owens, a kind and benevolent physician, and says: — His complaint first manifested itself on the preceding Friday, and finding himself rapidly growing worse, he made his peace with his God, and received the last sacraments of the Church on Saturday, from which time he gradually sank until Tuesday morning, when his soul passed to his Redeemer.

GREAT "HORSE RUN."—About three hundred government horses kept in an enclosure at St. Louis, became frightened by the breaking down of a slight fence, and made a stampede through the streets. They separated into two divisions, one rushing up and the other down the street.

Five large government wagons encountered one division, and all the drivers except the first escaped. The horses attached to the first were knocked down and crushed to death. Two or three coming in sudden contact with the wagon, were crushed and trampled to death by those behind them.—Some springing with their full weight upon the wagon, brought it to the ground, crushing the driver in a manner such as to occasion his death a few hours afterward.

The second wagon was likewise literally smashed to pieces, a dead horse being here also found beside the wreck. Eight or ten horses were found dead at short distances from the lumber yard where they started, and two inside the yard. The fact that the stampede was kept up for a great distance, is proved by the fact that dead horses being picked up at a distance of two, three and four miles away from the yard. Nearly all the horses were recovered and taken back.

DR. ORESTES A. BROWNSON.—A writer in the Edinburgh Review, says that "the most enlightened and pious Catholics throughout the world" are in favor of Liberalism, and of despoiling the Pope,—and among them he names O. A. Brownson.—Whereupon the Boston Pilot says:

We shall not draw odious comparisons between these and other Catholics whom we should be disposed to consider more enlightened and more pious. But we may tell the reviewer that Brownson has questioned the eternity of the pains of the lost.

CANADIAN HORSES FOR THE U. S. ARMY.—A large number of horses are being bought in Toronto for the Federal Government. Several hundred have been shipped during the last few days.

The report that Queen Victoria was about to cast herself into the bosom of the Roman Catholic Church, and the story of her mother's conversion to the same faith before her death, turn out to be a heartless hoax.—Boston Journal.

Broadway is said to be as gay as ever, in spite of the many dry goods and jewelry stores turned into gun shops—veritable arsenals. Curious sights truly—cannon for sale where hooped petticoats used to be

☞ The late Ex-Governor George N. Briggs of Massachusetts, being asked at what College he graduated, replied that he graduated at a hatter's shop.

☞ The value of the goods ordered by government from seventy mills in New England, is about $20,000,000.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1861.

A SOUTHERNER DISGUSTED.

The following appears in the Richmond Whig, over the initials of "F. M."—no doubt from Franklin Minor:

ALBEMARLE, Aug. 29.

Dear Mosley: I am utterly disgusted with your man Jeff. Davis, and his man Walker, and I want to know if you will publish my spleen if I utter it.

I have a letter just from Manassas. Our troops there one day last week had nothing but salt and potatoes for breakfast, and were sent eight miles at double quick to meet a false alarm, and got neither dinner nor supper when they came back to camp.

It is evident to me your Government is rotten in heart. Davis ought to be spiked up where men can see him. You have won a great victory and got no fruits from it. You have had charge of the Government for six months, and have done nothing.

No meat, no bread, no powder, no wagons, no anything but salt and potatoes, and yet you sing out the government has the entire confidence of the whole people.

Now it has not mine, and I want to know whether I can get a fair hearing? The only smart thing I have seen is your proposition to postpone the Presidential election. That is excellent—most excellent. I trust it may save us.

I don't know either Davis or Walker, but I have seen enough to raise suspicions in my mind that neither is the right man in the right place. Why talk, then, about the confidence of the people in the Administration? I don't feel any such confidence myself. I believe I am not singular in my district. * * It is a shame which cries to heaven for vengeance when you men of the pen are talking about confidence, &c., and our soldiers are made to trot sixteen miles on a meal of salt and potatoes. * * * It won't do, my friends. Somebody must tell the people the plain truth, or we are ruined. Freezing and starvation stare you in the face for next winter, and you call on women and children to give up their blankets and bread to the soldiers. * * * I don't know any politicians, and I don't care for any, but I care for my country, and the brave men fighting for us, and it stirs my gall to see them treated worse than I treat my dogs and boys. Don't be afraid of showing your weakness to the Yankees; they know it. Show your strength by putting things to rights at home, and you will then be feared abroad.

(Signed.) F. M."

REBELLION RECORD.—Mr. G. P. Putnam, the well-known New York publisher of Irving's works, soon after the attack on Fort Sumter, commenced the publication of the Rebellion Record, and now the first volume is near complete, its real value may be easily ascertained. From a careful examination of the numbers already issued, we are convinced that it is an admirable work, extremely valuable now, even while the events it records are being transacted, and certain to become more and more so as time passes on. We are "making history" so rapidly, and great events transpire in such swift succession, that it becomes difficult, if not impossible, for those having the most retentive memories, even, to tell just what has been done, or what has been attempted. The Rebellion Record, therefore, giving as it does, every proclamation, message or paper that is of real importance, and narrating concisely yet clearly all that either side has accomplished, becomes an invaluable work to all who desire to keep clearly in mind the exact status of affairs in our country. It is edited by Frank Moore, whose experience in preparing the "Diary of the American Revolution," has admirably fitted him for the successful accomplishment of his present undertaking. There should be a large list of subscribers for the Record in this city, and we can see no good reason why an energetic young man should not be abundantly repaid for the time employed, in canvassing for subscribers to a work that is so reliable, so complete and so desirable.

☞ European intelligence to Sept. 11th, was obtained from the steamer Saxonia, which passed Cape Race on Saturday morning. It is reported that the arrangements for sending more troops to Canada are suspended for the present. It is announced in the Times that a combined Anglo-French naval military expedition will be organized against Mexico, to obtain redress for injuries to British and French interests. Spain will take a part in the expedition, and it is supposed the U. S. Government will also co-operate. The Turks are preparing for a vigorous prosecution of the war against the discontented Montenegrins.

☞ While four painters were at work upon the outside of the ship Curlew, at the Charlestown Navy Yard, an Irishman, who was tending the rope which lowered the staging, let one end slip, throwing men, paint-pots and all into the water. The men all got out safely, although one, who could not swim, was greatly exhausted.

☞ Telegraphic connection has again been established to all points in Kansas and Nebraska. The Pacific line is being pushed so rapidly that it is expected to be finished to San Francisco by the 30th of November next.

THE REBELLION.

An important circular, explanatory of the meaning of the confiscation act, has been issued. According to Mr. Seward's definition of that act, only such merchandise or vessels as are in actual transit between the loyal and disloyal States, or which are intended to form the subject of commercial intercourse between such States are liable to confiscation. Real estate, bonds, promissory notes, money on deposit in bank, and the like, are not subject to seizure or confiscation, unless they are used to aid the rebels.

A deserter from the rebel forces near Bull Run, states that Beauregard's army in and near Manassas numbers 185,000 men. He reports them well provided with clothes and shoes, and states that the men are paid promptly in specie. Their rations are liberal.

Sec. Seward has written a reply to the petition to expel W. H. Russell from the country, saying that the government had never been in the habit of acting in such cases, and that he saw no necessity for doing so in the present instance.

A leading clergyman in Washington is forming an organization to aid in the free transmission of articles of comfort to the troops.

A rebel deserter says Beauregard has promised the North and South Carolina regiments that they shall be led to battle before the 1st of October, or be permitted to go home.

Gen. Anderson has taken command of the federal forces in Kentucky, and has issued a proclamation, calling upon them to rise and repel the invaders of their State. Gov. Magoffin has also ordered Gen. Thos. L. Crittenden to execute the purposes of the resolutions of the Legislature, in reference to the expulsion of the invaders. Gen. Crittenden has ordered the military to muster into service forthwith. The Bulletin says that from 7000 to 8000 rebel troops, with 21 cannon, arrived at Bowling Green on Wednesday, taking a cannon and 120 stand of arms from the Home Guards. Six cannon and 2000 men were then sent to Gen. Roger W. Hanson, rebel commander on Green River.

A battle took place at Blue Mills Landing, Mo., between our forces under Col. Scott and the rebels. The rebels were strongly entrenched, and after an hour's engagement, our troops withdrew to more open ground. Here they were reinforced by Col. Smith, but as the men were exhausted, the attack was postponed until the next day. In the meantime, however, the enemy beat a retreat across the river. Accounts from Lexington, Mo., represent that the city had been reinforced; but dispatches to Chicago papers state that Col. Mulligan has been compelled to surrender to superior numbers, his men being exhausted for want of water. The report is not believed at St. Louis. Reinforcements have started for Lexington from four quarters.—It is also stated that the rebels at Blue Mills, in their retreat, were intercepted by Lane's brigade, and 800 of them taken prisoners. Gov. Gamble has called a meeting of the State Convention at St. Louis, Oct. 10. The steamer Sunshine, captured a few weeks ago by the rebel Gen. Green, has been re-captured.

A number of our surgeons, who were taken prisoners at Bull Run, have returned to Fortress Monroe with a flag of truce.—Beauregard has established his headquarters at Fairfax Court House. Many of the 1200 prisoners at Richmond have been sent to New Orleans. It was not supposed at Richmond that the rebels would attack Washington.

Fighting has commenced in Kentucky.—A skirmish took place at Barboursville on Wednesday. Both parties are mustering their forces.

☞ The imperial French steam yacht Jerome Napoleon, having on board Prince Napoleon and his suite, who are now on a visit to this country, arrived at Boston Sunday afternoon, from New York.

It is expected that the party will remain throughout the present week, and on their departure will touch at St. John, N. B., previous to leaving for Europe.

☞ The Lewiston Journal relates a sad case of mortality in the Millet family, which resides in Minot, Me., within a radius of two miles. The family has lost 14 children by diphtheria within the last few months, and not a single person of any other family in the vicinity has died of this disease. Two children in the same branch of the family died the same day and same hour.

☞ The Memphis Avalanche says that one of the Louisiana companies in the battle of Manassas lost its captain. The company then unanimously elected the wife of the deceased to fill his place, and the lady, in uniform, passed through Memphis on the 11th inst., on her way to assume command of her company.

☞ The Boston Courier states that letters for the blockading squadron may be sent by Adams & Co., gratis, to Fort Monroe, whence there is frequent communication with the blockading squadron.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— THE AGRICULTURAL FAIR at Nashua, last week, was more successful than could be reasonably expected in times like these. The first day was one of preparation, enlivened by a potato match, a wheelbarrow race and a horse trot. On the second day the Granite State Cadets, accompanied by Baldwin's Cornet Band, formed the escort with Engine Co. No. 4 and the Nashua Cornet Band. The Telegraph says the agricultural show was fine; the display of stock, not large. At the dinner, remarks were made by Hon. Frederick Smyth, Hon. Albin Beard, and others. A trot between Lady Macbeth and Fanny Fern, and another between two four-year olds, owned by Dr. F. B. Ayer and S. J. Lund wound up the entertainment.

——ENFIELD RIFLES have been purchased in New York for the Fourth Regiment. It was not supposed they could be obtained, and it was decided that the Windsor rifles must take the place of them. It is not certain that the rifles will be delivered till they arrive in New York. The expense of bringing them is unnecessary.

—— Col. Fearing has appointed Prof. Geo. H. Goodwin of Manchester, Band Master of the Eighth Regiment. He has been director of the Cornet Band for many years.

—— Chas. Copp, Esq., of Moultonborough, on visiting his "flocks and herds" on the highlands of the Ossipee Range, last week, discovered a large deer making himself merry by chasing the sheep and cattle about the pasture, to the no small amusement of his deership, and the evident annoyance of the more domesticated animals of the soil. He continued to enjoy his pastime while Mr. Copp went to his house, loaded his old "Queen's Arm" with powder and buck-shot, and returned and laid the intruder low. He weighed about 200 pounds.

—— Mrs. Hannah Piper, widow of the late Timothy Piper of Tuftonboro', now 81 years of age, one day last week spun ten skeins of warp yarn, from machine rolls, (seven knotted skeins, with 40 threads in a knot.) This vigorous old lady is the mother of thirteen children, the grandmother of fifty-six, and the great-grandmother of nine. She is in good health and spirits

NAVAL.—The armament of the gunboat Curlew has been placed on board. It consists of four broadside guns and a rifled Parrott gun mounted on the spar deck forward. The steamer will be sent to sea early next week, as she is wanted immediately on the Potomac.

The steamer E. B. Hale, at Charlestown, took on board a number of cannons destined for St. Louis, to complete the defences of that city, and sailed on Saturday evening for New York.

The following United States vessels were lying off Fortress Monroe on the 17th inst.: Roanoke, 44 guns; St. Lawrence, 50; Minnesota, 44; Savannah, 24; Cumberland, 24; Dale, 18; Dawn, 6; Gemsbok 6; together with several transports, tugs, etc., making a fleet of vessels carrying over 275 guns.

☞ Wm. G. Eliot, a member of the Sanitary Commission, has published an appeal to the patriotic women of New England, stating that well-knit woolen socks, large size, are urgently needed by the sick and wounded soldiers in the hospitals at St. Louis, and in the neighborhood. Several thousand pairs could be immediately used to great advantage. Their own citizens are manifesting great liberality,—but the above article, of good quality, such as New England women make, cannot be obtained there at any price. A large part of some regiments are natives of New England. All packages may be sent by express to "Sanitary Commission, Western Department, St. Louis, Missouri;" and the freight, if not prepaid, will be paid there.

☞ The editor of the Portland Courier saw on a sign, the following encouraging and patriotic notice:—"Unions for sale Here!" He didn't "take" until he happened to see two or three baskets of onions sitting round.

☞ The Rev. A. St. John Chambre, of Newark, N. J., has been re-appointed Chaplain in the army.

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

Or the New York Musical Review,

FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, OR THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON'S last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 50,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON'S new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON'S new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar:—I take the occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Roaches, Bugs, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN, ☞ Stealing fruit, vegetables, &c., from private gardens, is by no means an unusual crime in our city just now; and it is a somewhat doubtful question whether a due regard to the public welfare does not require the sufferers to make complaint of the offenders when they ascertain who they are. It is generally done by boys, and regard for their youth, or a disinclination to make a stir about what might appear to some a small matter, generally induces the owners of the gardens to let them off too easily. It is well, now and then, to make an example of some offender; and just now it might be advisable to "put the next one through" to the full extent of the law. It may prevent further depredations of the same sort. Sometimes such thefts are committed by those belonging to respectable families, who would do well to look after their boys in season, and especially to inquire where they are and what they are doing evenings.

☞ Mr. G. Frank Towle, of this city, has received a commission as First Lieutenant in a company in the Fourth Regiment, which is commanded by Capt. Greenleaf, of Nashua. He is abundantly well qualified in every respect for the position, and we feel assured will perform the duties thereof as efficiently as any other officer of the same rank in the regiment.

☞ About twenty recruits, who have been quartered at Fort Constitution, left this city on Monday, morning, having been ordered into camp at Manchester. They will enter the Fourth Regiment.

A dispatch received at Jefferson City, Mo., Sunday says the federal troops at Lexington surrendered to the rebels on Friday afternoon, for want of water. Ben McCulloch was marching on Lexington. A fight took place at Mariatown, Mo., Tuesday, between 600 federals under Cols. Montgomery and Johnson, and 400 rebels. The latter were completely routed, with a loss of 7 killed, and 100 horses and all their tents and supplies captured. Our force lost two privates killed and six wounded.—Col. Johnson was pierced with nine bullets. He died urging his men to fight for the stars and stripes.

Steamer S. R. Spaulding arrived at Fortress Monroe, Sunday, from Hatteras Inlet. On Tuesday propeller Fanny ran down to Ocracoke Inlet with a company of troops, who entirely destroyed the fortifications abandoned by the rebels. It is said the rebels were assembled in force at Newbern and Washington, and that 2000 of them had landed on Roanoke Island, with the intention of destroying the lighthouse and the dwellings of the Unionists. A detachment of 700 men, with a naval force, was about to leave Hatteras Inlet to prevent the inroads of privateers.

The Tribune's dispatch says the propriety of serving out tobacco with soldiers' rations is under consideration. Gen. McClellan, it is said, favors it.

A battalion of rebel infantry, Sunday evening, drove in the rebel pickets on Salt River, Ky. A federal encampment has been established at Harrodsburg. They have arrested Twing and Silvertooth, two prominent secession representatives. It is said that John C. Breckinridge and Wm. Preston escaped from Frankfort through Montgomery Co., on Friday.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the large joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory nature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL is, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may safely be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and persevieingly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

"SERMONS IN STONES."—The following are the mottoes on two highly finished blocks of marble, ordered by the Legislatures of the respective States, and now in Washington awaiting their place in the Washington Monument:

LOUISIANA.

"Ever faithful to the Constitution and the Union."

TENNESSEE.

"The Federal Union — It must be Preserved."

Could our Federal army desire any stronger motives to duty than those suggested by those who thus untrammelled expressed their sentiments before the arm of tyranny sealed their lips?

☞ When Caleb Cushing and Jeff. Davis took leave of each other in Washington last January, those men, who had been like brothers during the presidency of Mr. Pierce, were moved to tears, and finally remarked to each other, "we meet no more unless the fortune of war shall make us enemies on the battle-field." So says the Newburyport Herald.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, bilious, and constipated? Are they in your house, with your system on fire and your feelings on edge? Then stop! Do not go on thus the victim of sedentary illness. Some 10 cents invested in Ayer's Pills will remove the cause, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the health secure on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, reset upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the disarrangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the pleasant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the more complicated and dangerous disorders. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are equally subdued by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known people are most.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

YOUR Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR BRO. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PETERSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PRESLEY,
Clerk of Sumner Circuit.

Billious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people. ny

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, }
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1855. }

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangement of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease to obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhea, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as valuable as any aperient I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhoea. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Hines, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in Charlestown. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as ineffacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitude who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your Pills effect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my kidneys and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, and I was held by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 De. 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that has afflicted me for years. VINCENT SIBLEY.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its improper use. These Pills do not contain any or mineral substance whatever.

Price, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The door, at the front end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick baking.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, [for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nathl. P. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as a dressing for keeping the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOSBYHALL.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

—FOR—RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA.

GARDINER'S
RHEUMATIC AND NEURALGIA
COMPOUND

Is a certain, safe and permanent cure for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Salt Rheum. It is an internal remedy, driving out and entirely eradicating the disease, requiring no change in diet or business, and may be taken by children and persons of the most delicate constitutions with perfect safety.

TESTIMONIALS.

Having been a constant sufferer from Neuralgia for eighteen months, and been driven by excruciating pain to the trial of numberless remedies without obtaining relief, I was induced to try "Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgia Compound." I have taken but one bottle, and am entirely well." D. D. BAXTER, Dry Goods Dealer, No. 5 Appleton Block, Lowell, Mass.

I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form for a long time, and suffered more than can be imagined, except by those similarly afflicted. I tried one bottle of your Compound, and can honestly say that I believe myself entirely cured.—JOHN A. MORDO, Pearl St. House, Boston, Mass.

TESTIMONY OF JUDGE KITTREDGE OF VERMONT.—Charles F. Gardiner, Esq.,—Dear Sir,—I beg leave to add my testimony in favor of "Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgia Compound."—After suffering twenty years with Rheumatism, more or less, and last year with a very severe attack, I took one bottle of your Compound, which afforded decided relief. I think it the best and most efficacious medicine for that disease I ever used.—WM. C. KITTREDGE, Fair Haven, Vt., Dec. 1st, 1860.

Gardiner's Rheumatic and Neuralgia Compound has entirely relieved me from sufferings of several years' standing.—W. E. HODGKINS, No. 1 Old State House, Boston.

My son, ten years of age, has been for three years a great sufferer from Salt Rheum, his hands covered with sores, and in constant pain. One bottle of your Compound cured him.—J. W. HAMMOND, 99 Milk street, Boston.

I certify that my friend, Wm. T. Glidden, Esq., presented me with a bottle of "Gardiner's Rheumatic Compound," in 1856, when I was suffering, with a painful attack of Neuralgia and Rheumatism, and that it proved to be of decided benefit.—ALBERT SMITH, Ex-Member of Congress from Maine.

The Rheumatic and Neuralgia Compound has been taken by hundreds of persons for Scrofulous Humors with great benefit.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 25, 1861.

PATRIOTIC SPEECHES.

We have before us the speeches of Thos. Francis Meagher, delivered at Boston, and Daniel S. Dickinson, delivered at New York, with the letter of Robert J. Walker, which was read at New York.

All of them breathe the same spirit. They all support the government, all advocate the most vigorous prosecution of the war, and declare compromise, peace, or settlement, impossible, till the rebellion is put down on the one hand, or till the rebels destroy our national government on the other.

They all scout the new peace party as traitors and allies of the rebels.

Mr. MEAGHER delivered his speech to a great assembly in Boston, Tuesday evening, and was remarkably severe on those who cry peace for a protence: he says:—

But whence comes this cry for peace? It comes from conspirators at the North, in secret league with the more honest and courageous recusants at the South.

Unable to grapple with the great question of war or no war; not bold or frank enough to stand up without disguise, and claim that the Southerners are in the right and the Northerners are in the wrong, (for we must use these geographical distinctions in speaking of this matter, though I shrink from them with aversion,) these men come forward with the word "Peace," on their lips, that so they may deal a mortal blow to this Government and its just rights.

Mr. Meagher's audience was gathered to aid and countenance recruiting, especially for the Irish Brigade.

Mr. Dickinson's audience in New York, was the People's Meeting, to ratify the Union State Ticket.

Mr. DICKINSON, in his speech, approves of Martial Law, of suppressing seditious newspapers, of arresting seditious men, of suspending the habeas corpus, and the rascals too; he says he will not stop to discuss abolitionism or any other ism now, nor will he bother himself about Fremont's proclamation about the negroes, which he terms a "ripple in the great current moving on to wipe out this rebellion from the face of the earth."

We have room for only the following extracts:

There has been an attempt by the old managers of the Democratic Party to run this great machine in the name of party.—The Republican Party—the predominant party in this State, or claiming to be such, and, by recent elections, admitted to be such—seemed to have the sense to see that it would be impolitic and improper, if not impracticable and impossible, to continue a political organization in the field for the purpose of deciding this conflict. They therefore made a proposition, which was not accepted, to have a joint ticket. Certain Democratic managers—I mean Democratic, if Dean Richmond and Peter Cagger, & Co. are Democrats, [Laughter] which I don't admit by any means, though I believe they have no unprofitable preferences, [laughter] and no principles that conflict with their interests, [renewed laughter]—I speak of them not as individuals, but as the head managers of a wornout, effete clique—these men, in answer to the proposition of the Republicans to have a joint ticket, declined it because they wanted to stand upon a great principle. That great principle was, that in the attempt to prosecute the war, for every ounce of war you must have an ounce of peace to go along with it; [laughter] for every effort to put down rebellion you must make a low bow and tender a peace proposition. That was the great idea of these men. What has become of it? It was out a few days before the late Syracuse Convention—I mean the one under the control of those wire-workers—this defunct regency. [Laughter.]—That was their platform; but when the Convention sat, they had received some new light upon the subject. The scales had so far fallen from their eyes that they adopted a platform kind o' so and kind o' not so, and a little more not so than so.—[Great laughter.]

But we are threatened with a danger ten times more dangerous than pestilence, or famine, or fire. The Government of Washington—the only really free Republican Government on earth, is threatened with destruction. A great army is in the field against it; a mighty rebellion, with all the elements of war, is threatening its destruction; and right in the midst of this, we see scurvy politicians attempting to work out their accursed narrowness. The country will point the finger of scorn at them, and scourge them from the Temple of Liberty with a scourge of cords, and those not small ones. [Cheers.]

This rebellion has already gained, in its terrible proportions, from the aid, comfort and encouragement it has found in a treacherous and miscreant Press, which it has derived from sympathizers here, and attempts to aid it under one shape or another.—(Cheers.) The President of the United States and his Administration stand politically opposed to me, and I to them; but I would as soon sunder my right arm as throw a single obstacle in the way of that Administration, in putting down this rebellion. (Enthusiastic applause.) No! If I had a hundred lives I would throw them all into the scale to help this Administration to cast down this rebellion. (Renewed cheers.)

But we are told that war is dangerous.—Did we not know that before? (Laughter.) But it must be put down all the more thoroughly, and rapidly and energetically. A menagerie of wild beasts would be dangerous, let loose in the city. It would be dangerous to shoot them, but it would be still more dangerous to let them run at large. (Laughter and cheers.) You might do mischief in shooting the animals,—you might do injury, but you must put them down, and not let them run in their career of destruction to all time. Any war is dangerous and terrible, particularly a civil war, inaugurated in such ferocious circumstances as this. But it must be taken hold of all the more thoroughly, and he who attempts to palter with it is doubly guilty, for the very reason that it is dangerous. [Cheers]

Attempt to negotiate with the rebellion! Where was that infamous and treasonable idea hatched? He who tampers with it is ten times more mischievous than all the armies of Beauregard, Davis, Johnson and Price, and all the rebels put together.

Had it not been for a treacherous press in the loyal States—had it not been for treacherous and treasonable individuals in the loyal States, this rebellion, in all human probability, would have been put down before this. But it was encouraged by the hope that it was to have aid and comfort and assistance in the loyal States.

They tell you the President has violated the Constitution! Their President, Mr. Confederate Davis, has not? Oh, no! Abraham Lincoln has violated the Constitution! How? In attempting to dispose of and put an end to an infernal rebellion.—(Cheers.) He has committed, in the eyes of this peace party, an unpardonable sin, because he has not hunted up a precedent for everything he has done.

I tell you where President Lincoln could have done the Government good service,—not only by suspending the habeas corpus, not only by laying hands on a treacherous press, not only by committing individuals to Forts Lafayette and McHenry, but by suspending some of the apologists for treason. [Loud cheers.] Well, it is better late than never. The President has done just what he had a right to do, precisely, [cheers,] and what I commend him for, and stand by him for. [Cries of "Good."]

☞ The surrender of the little U. S. army at Lexington, Missouri, to the rebel, should admonish our Government and people that a larger army, raised at once, is not only desirable, but indispensable.

It is a sober fact that, with all our superiority of numbers in the free States, the rebel army is found to out-number ours at several important posts, and this is one of them.

We see no objection whatever to a requisition from the President and War Department, on the Governors of the several States, for such a number of men in so many days,—volunteers, if they volunteer; but drafts, if they do not.

We surely can pay them, and we hope are able to equip and arm them, forthwith. Six-months men will do very well for many places—but we need them now,—before winter sets in.

☞ Some three years since, two young men from South Carolina came North, and entered one of our New England colleges. They remained there until the attack on Fort Sumter, when they thought they "ought to go home." They were "strongly in favor of the Union, and no inducements could prevail upon them to take up arms against their Northern friends. But the South was their home; they were born there, and now that war was being waged between the sections, they thought they ought to return." But they had not money enough to pay their passage, and it would take much time to obtain it from their Southern friends. Accordingly their fellow students and several of the towns-people, furnished them with the sum needed; and, with renewed protestations of loyalty to the government, they departed. Those two young men now hold commissions in the rebel army; and one of their classmates, who is a Lieutenant in a New England regiment, and now a prisoner at Richmond, and whom we know to be a perfectly reliable man, states that he has met them several times upon the street, of which he has the liberty.

☞ The German Turners' Association of Young Men for Mental and Physical Development had a grand national representative celebration in the city of Berlin in the early part of August. A delegation of German Turners from the United States participated in the festivities. As the American Turners had no banner, the flag of the American Legation was readily loaned them. The stars and stripes had the first rank of all the representative emblems of nationality, the American Turners having been assigned the head of the procession; and although our flag cannot be cheered in Charleston, it was cheered most heartily in Prussia.

☞ The government has unofficially received information of an opportunity to buy paintings of the great masters, antiquities and other works of art, at Rome. It is supposed the offer may have been occasioned by the financial necessities of the Papal Government, and of the members of the Roman aristocracy. As Congress made no appropriation for such a purpose, the offer could not be accepted.

☞ A letter from Paris says the French government respectfully declined to inform the Mexican Minister there of the object of the French fleet to be sent to Mexico, saying that the latter government will be duly apprised of it through the French Minister. So far as appears from the letter, the movement of France and England is not necessarily hostile.

THE REBELLION.

Beauregard's plans to take the Capital were once more published, Tuesday, on "the unquestionable authority" of "the reliable gentleman." It is almost time to introduce something new.

An exposition law in relation to the confiscation of capital of residents in the rebel States held here in trust, has been prepared by Secretary Chase, in which he gives positive assurances that money on deposit, in banks or elsewhere in the loyal States, will not be disturbed, unless there is sufficient reason to believe it is to be used in aid of the rebellion.

Washington specials state that Ross Winans, was released Monday from Fortress Monroe. It is understood that he has taken the oath of allegiance.

Gen. Cooper has notified the War Department that his Maryland Brigade, of three regiments of infantry and one of cavalry, is ready to take the field.

The French Consul at Charleston, who recently left New York for Europe, took with him a list of vessels, several hundred in number, which he alleges have passed in and out of the blockaded ports. Most of the vessels are of light draft, many of them small boats, fishing smacks, &c., which can easily pass the bars and shoals along the entire coast. Before he left he showed this list to several gentlemen in New York and Washington. His object is to show his government that the blockade is not effective. The English consul has been engaged in the same thing. The rebel government have lent all the facilities in their power to swell the number as large as possible.—Our Government has taken the precaution to thoroughly ventilate this matter.

Duri g Sunday the patrols again cleared the streets and avenues of Washington, and sent the soldiers back to their camps, to learn better discipline and a wiser use of their money.

An order has been issued preventing all civilians and officers and privates not on duty, from visiting the outposts of the army.

Reports say that the rebels at Columbus are crossing to Belmont, and that they are in possession of Bladenville, Ky., 18 miles southeast of Cairo, Ill. Gen. Buckner is stated to have taken possession of Owensboro, Ky., on the Ohio river, 70 miles above Paducah.

This is the way the bogus Cabinet of the Southern Confederacy reads: Secretary of State—Robert M. T. Hunter, of Virginia. Secretary of the Treasury—C. L. Memminger, of South Carolina. Secretary of War—Braxton Bragg, of Louisiana. Secretary of the Navy—Stephen R. Mallory, of Florida. Postmaster General—John H. Reagan, of Texas. Attorney General—Judah P. Benjamin, of Louisiana.

Gen. Prentiss' dispatch announcing the surrender of Col. Mulligan at Lexington, Mo., says the Federal loss was 37 killed, and 140 wounded. The rebel loss is supposed to be about 800 killed and wounded. There seems, therefore, to be no reason to doubt that Col. Mulligan, after a gallant defence of several days, has been compelled to surrender the town and its garrison to a greatly superior rebel force under Gen. Price. It is reported that Col. Mulligan has been released on parole and was expected at Quincy, Ill. The commissioned officers are retained as prioners by the rebels. It is supposed that, if Lexington has surrendered, Price and his men will move down the river, and unless checked or defeated, will attack Boonville and then Jefferson City.

The town of Lexington, Mo., which has risen into note recently, is the capital of Lafayette county, and contains a population of about 5000. It is situated on the direct road for emigrants overland and to Santa Fe. The heights on which the town is built command the river, and to a considerable extent the back country as well. In the hands of the rebels it would enable them to command the river navigation at that point, and might thus cause us much inconvenience.

The St. Louis Evening News, having published an article entitled "Fall of Lexington," reflecting in bitter terms upon the campaign and the miltary authorities of the Department of the West, has been suppressed by the authorities.

Three thousand muskets and four thousand equipments were to be shipped to Missouri from New York, Tuesday, by the most expeditious routes.

☞ The late terrible tragedy upon the Ohio and Mississippi railroad was not occasioned by the malignity of secessionists, as at first supposed, but by a rotten bridge.

☞ Mr. Warren Davis, of Ballard Vale, Mass., was attacked by a hog, on Sunday last, and bitten in the most shocking manner. It is feared his injuries will prove fatal.

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

We also offer for sale, the COUNT, SPARTAN, CORAL, FAVORITE, TRIUMPH, LEADER, &c., with a variety of SHEET IRON STOVES, with or without ovens; CYLINDER AND BOX STOVES, of all sizes and prices, and a general assortment of

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

Or the New York Musical Review,

FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. Mason's last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of elementary music, the best in use, at music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON'S new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON'S new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is incalculable.

Strong Testimony

FROM BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with little faith whatever in the wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Culver—Dear Sir,—During occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these lordly vermin, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most efficient preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. ARRIVAL OF THE "PORTSMOUTH."—The U. S. ship Portsmouth, J. Calhoun, Esq., Commander, arrived in our lower harbor on Tuesday, after a passage of 46 days from St. Paul de Loando, S. W. coast of Africa, which place she left on the 9th of August. She has been absent over 28 months, having sailed from this port on the 23d of May, 1859. She has been actively employed since she left, most of the time under canvas; has captured three prizes, and sailed per log 50,000 miles.

The Constellation, Capt. Dornin, bearing the flag of Flag-officer Inman; the steamers San Jacinto, Lieut. commanding Fairfax; Mohican, Commander Godon: Mystic, Lieut. Com. LeRoy; Sumter, Lieut. Com. Armstrong; and storeship Relief, Commander DeCamp, were to leave Loando in a few days for the United States.

The U. S. ship Saratoga, Commander Taylor, was going into the harbor as the Portsmouth came out.

Surgeon Maxwell and Paymaster Bates, of the Portsmouth, had been condemned by a Medical Survey, and had left Loando by the mail steamer, for the United States.

The officers and crew of the Portsmouth have enjoyed excellent health, having lost but two during the cruise, — viz., Louis Porter, captain of the forecastle, who died at Porto Praya, on the 13th of May, 1860, of disease of the heart; and Henry Perkins, quarter gunner, who was lost overboard off Cape Palmas, on the 15th Aug., 1859.

The Portsmouth has had a succession of light winds during the passage.

On the 15th of September, boarded the American schooner Ann Hinks, eight days from Boston, bound to St. Domingo.

The following is a list of the officers who have returned home in the ship, viz.:

Commander, John Calhoun; Lieutenants, Robert B. Riell; H. H. Stevens; R. F. Bradford; Acting Paymaster, Edward St. C. Clark; Asst. Surgeon, David Kindleberger; Midshipman, Roderick Prentiss; Boatswain, James C. Walton; Gunner, Wm. H. Hamilton; Sailmaker, Samuel Tatem.

A small detachment of Gen. Rosecrans' troops have been sent into Kentucky, and the rebel Gen. Buckner is advancing northward. It is stated that canals and locks are being destroyed by the rebels in spite of the efforts of the Union men. The Ky. Legislature has authorized another loan of a million of dollars for the defence of the State, in addition to the million authorized May 24. A military board is also to be organized.

The Times' dispatch says it is believed in Washington that Gen. Fremont has taken the field in person.

The Tribune's dispatch says that General Fremont will probably be held responsible for the disaster to Col. Mulligan.

The fort at Ocracoke Inlet was destroyed because Col. Hawkins had not men enough to hold it. The rebels had succeeded previously in removing two heavy guns to Newbern. All the guns, numbering 18 long 32-pounders and four eight inch Navy guns, were destroyed, and the fort entirely burnt up. The Light House on the Island was also burnt. Two heavy guns were also destroyed at Portsmouth, which village and that of Ocracoke were visited.

About 10,000 rebels are encamped about Beaufort, and Fort Macon has been greatly strengthened. They are also erecting strong batteries at Roanoke Island. It is reported that the rebels have landed a force, about forty miles above Hatteras Inlet, intending to destroy the light house on Cape Hatteras, and attempt to drive our forces from the Inlet. Col. Hawkins has sent a force to protect the light house.

A dispatch from New Orleans, 20th, says that it was reported that the Federal forces have nine batteries on Chandler Island, and are expecting lumber to build houses and hospitals. Twelve thousand men are to be placed on that island and in the neighborhood. They also intended to fortify Ship Island, and prevent all communication between Mobile and New Orleans.

The surrender of Col. Mulligan is confirmed by Gen. Fremont. It was made at 5 P. M. Friday. The flag was hauled down by the Home Guards, who are accused of cowardice. Col. M. is spoken of in the highest terms: he displayed great bravery during the action, and when asked to surrender refused. His sword was taken away by force. Col. M. and all the commissioned officers are held prisoners by the rebels.—2000 of his command were released on parole and are en route for Quincy. Claib Jackson is at Lexington with the rebel forces. Our troops, which were sent up the river last week, were at Boonville, Monday, and were to move forward to Lexington the next day.

The men at Lexington fought fifty-nine hours without water, having only three barrels of vinegar to quench their thirst. The camp, of ten acres, had breastworks around it, with the exception of that next the river. H re the hardest fighting took place, the rebels' object being to surround the fort, and cut off the supply of water. Having succeeded in the latter, they waited until Col. Mulligan was compelled to yield to a foe more terrible than the 27,000 rebels. Previous to his surrender, he offered to take position on a level spot, and give Price the odds of four to one in fair and open fight.

A large amount of gold, supposed to be a quarter of a million, fell into the hands of the rebels. It was taken from the banks and buried by Col. M. some time ago, but the rebels speedily unearthed it. Col. M. wept like a child when he found himself compelled to surrender. The next morning, the men were all released on parole, and ferried across the river, the officers being retained. The loss of the rebels is thought to be not less than 1000 in killed and wounded.

Gen. Prentiss has assumed command of North Missouri, and started from Chicago on Sunday, On Monday he was west of Brookfield and cut off by the rebels, supposed to be part of Price's forces. Great fears are entertained that he would be captured.

Reports were rife at Chicago, Tuesday, that 4000 rebels were marching on St. Joseph.

Commissions were issued on Tuesday to the French Princes as aids to Gen. McClellan, they stipulating to receive no compensation.

The officers of the 21st Ill. Regt. have fully endorsed the conduct of Gen. Fremont, and resolved that they would not, under any circumstances, countenance the efforts being made to remove him.

RE-ARRESTED.—Mr. Cyrus F. Sargent, of Yarmouth, Me., who was recently arrested by order of the Secretary of War, but subsequently discharged by order of the Secretary of State, was re-arrested on Monday by Deputy Marshal Heald, of Portland, while in the cars on his way South. He was taken in charge by the Deputy, to be taken to Fort Lafayette. But while the train was approaching Kittery, Monday afternoon, Sargent drew a bowie-knife upon the officer and defied him to detain him.—But this movement was observed by Col. John Goddard, who was also a passenger in the car, and he promptly drew a revolver upon Sargent; whereupon he became more quiet, and gave up the weapon which he held. When the cars reached this city, Mr. Heald procured irons, and placed them upon Sargent to prevent any further attempts to escape.

MANIE ELECTION.—We have returns from over 400 towns, &c., in the State, which have voted as follows: Washburn, 52,000; Jameson, 19,179; Dana, 17,729. Union majority, 53,450; Washburn's, 15,092.

We have full returns from the Senatorial districts, which have elected 26 Republicans and 5 Union Democrats.

We have returns from all but five Representative districts. So far as heard from, 119 Republicans, 24 Union Democrats and 3 Dana Democrats have been chosen to the House.—Lewiston Journal.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he confidently recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who have suffered from many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Fine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. Those, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and how quickly it throws off the feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous disorders. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and surely cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

Dr. Ayer: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

Dear Bro. Ayer: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1, 1855.

Dr. J. C. Ayer. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Common Council.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Dill, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

Department of the Interior,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

Sir: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for dangerous cases of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their mild purgating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

Dr. Ayer: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best medicine I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

Warsaw, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

Dear Sir: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Hughes, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills in the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe cutaneous eruptions in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent preventives of the natural sorrow when wholly or partially disposed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawley, of the Methodist Episc. Church

Pulaski House, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

Honored Sir: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until I tried the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie. I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

Senate Chamber, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Jan., 1855.

Dr. Ayer: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the deadful disease (Salivation) that frequently follows its incautious use. These pills contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

☞ 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of simple size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

John Trundy, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen. [for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Merdum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range,

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

St. Louis, Mo., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and simplest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statement. Wm. Bosnyhall.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.—It is really cheering to have a paper so friendly to slavery as the New York Observer, take so fair a view of the free States as we find in the following items in the last week's Observer:

"New York was never more hopeful or cheerful than to-day, and never more confident of the future. The whole North can respond to this feeling. Business in this city and in every town and village is reviving, and our fall trade is brisk. The New England factories are calling back their operatives, and signs of life are everywhere visible in the manufacture of domestic goods, the great demand for army clothing giving an impetus in that direction.

The crops are very fair for this year, and already the railroads and canals are reaping the benefits of an increased traffic. Our exports will be as great as any previous year.

We have evidently seen the worst, and now, with increasing confidence in the strength of the government, and the revival of trade on a shorter credit system; we may hope for a steady advance and a continued activity in every branch of business.

The popular loan is meeting with great success, over ten millions having already been subscribed."

☞ The Mechanic Association, of Portland, had a rousing Clam Bake, a few days ago. The Transcript says there was a row of thirteen ovens, (holes among the rocks); and in each a fire was built, which when it had sufficiently heated the stones, was raked off, and a quantity of sea weed was thrown upon the hot rocks. Upon this three barrels of clams to each oven were emptied; upon the clams a bushel or two of potatoes, then a heap of green corn in the husks, and then more sea-weed, upon the top of the heap a basket of eggs was emptied and covered with sea-weed again. The heated rocks evaporating the moisture of the sea-weed, cooked the clams and accompaniments to a turn.

☞ A foreign paper tells of an ingenious smuggling trick which has been practiced on the frontier near Lille. Some boys sent up a gigantic kite, and followed it across the frontier line into Belgium. There a man attached to the kite several bundles of cigars and a large bundle of tobacco.—The kite was again raised, and the boys quietly returned into France without paying duty on their booty.

☞ On the 12th inst., Wm. Butler, son of Rev. Dr. Butler, superintendent of the Methodist mission in India, who was at a boarding school in Wilton, Conn., fell and broke his arm just above the wrist. It was immediately set by a skillful physician, and everything possible was done for him until Monday, when he died of lockjaw.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1861.

FAST DAY.

This day, Thursday Sept. 26th, being appointed by the President, at the suggestion of Congress, and also by the Governor and Council of this State, will probably be more generally observed than usual, by attendance at the Churches.

That we need Divine aid, in wisdom and power, no christian citizen will deny: and that we may ask that aid in full faith of receiving it, will not be greatly questioned by any person of devout and prayerful habits.

These classes of our people will generally attend the churches, and take an interest in the services. Some of these will enquire why it is we are afflicted with war, and that rebellion and treason stalk abroad in the land. And the answer must be, for our transgressions against the laws of God, in that we have not regarded his creature man, as we ought.

Such will have the Divine voice, speaking by the prophet Isaiah, ch. 58, v. 6th.—"Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, to let the oppressed go free, and that thou break every yoke—then shalt thou call and the Lord shall answer—then shalt thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon day."

This war, they know, is made by the slave-power, and for the slave-power, in order that it may rule the whole land and blot out freedom from the nation;—and in their prayer they cannot avoid the thoughts of it, though they may not use the word slavery or freedom.

It is not pleasant to allude to the consideration that some persons may be so thoughtless as to pervert the day into a season of gluttony or drunkenness or debauchery;—but it is to be hoped such will be few.

The venerable president Wayland says on this occasion:—

"In these circumstances we feel under the most solemn obligations to employ all the means in our power to resist this conspiracy, and to resist it even unto death.—We do this with sadness beyond expression; for success in battle can only be purchased by the slaughter of those whom we have already considered as our brethren beloved, with whom we have labored, whom we have esteemed heirs with us of the same inheritance, and for whom even now we cease not to pray as we pray for ourselves

"To be placed under these circumstances is one of the severest chastisements with which God ever visits a people. Shall there be evil in a city and the Lord hath not done it? To our brethren at the South we are conscious of having done no wrong. It must be sin against God that has brought this evil upon us. While we look up to him to remove this great calamity, and beseech him to arrest this effusion of blood, and restore to us peace founded on truth and righteousness, we must first of all repent of those national sins which have brought upon us so fearful a chastisement. In the words of the admirable proclamation of our chief magistrate, 'it is peculiarly fit for us to recognize the hand of God in this visitation, and in sorrowful remembrance of our own faults and crimes as a nation and individuals, humble ourselves before him, and pray for his mercy.'"

NEW STEAM REVENUE CUTTERS.—The Treasury Department has contracted for the immediate building of five steam revenue cutters, two of 750 tons, and three of 700 tons. They are not to draw over ten feet of water, with the armament and stores on board. They will be armed with one rifled pivot gun, weighing 800 lbs., two 32 pounders, and a heavy navy 24-pound howitzer on the top-gallant forecastle. They will have accommodations for 120 persons and can carry provisions for a long cruise, with tanks which will hold 28,000 gallons of water. The engines and machinery will be of the most improved patterns for speed and safety. The old vessels will be disposed of as soon as the steamers are built.

The following are the stations for the new vessels:—Boston, one; New York, one; Baltimore, one; Philadelphia, one; and one on the coast of Maine, during the war.

☞ It has been stated, in reference to the arrest of Mr. Sargent, of Yarmouth, Me., that he had started for the South and was on his way thither when arrested. But the Portland Argus states that he started to come to Portsmouth to attend to some matters having reference to his property at the South, which he supposes has been confiscated, and that he intended to return to his family the same evening. He took no baggage with him. A knife or dirk was found on his person and taken from him, but, the Argus states, no revolver was used by any person in the car.

☞ A letter from Port Spain, Trinidad, Sept. 6, says:

"A French steam frigate is now off this port, with which communication has been had. She reports that she had been boarded off Surinam, 1st inst., by the noted pirate Sumter, and that, after mutual explanations, they separated. Our waters are covered with French, English and American men-of-war vessels."

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Second Regiment New Hampshire Volunteers sends home more than twelve thousand dollars of its last payment. A committee of officers receive the money and forward it to the Suffolk Bank Boston, to be deposited to the credit of the regiment. They then draw checks for the various amounts, payable to the order of the wife, parent, or friend to whom the soldier wishes to send the money. These checks will be cashed at any of the New Hampshire banks. Some ten thousand dollars go to New Hampshire in this way.

—— The house of Hon. Benning W. Jenness, in Strafford, also barn and outbuildings, were destroyed by fire on the evening of the 21st. Loss $5000—insured $1500 in the Strafford Mutual office, of which Mr. Jenness was President.

—— A land case was on trial at Amherst last week, where the dispute was only $1, and the costs had already reached upwards of $300.

—— The Fifth Regiment went into camp at Concord on Tuesday, on Glover's hill, near the old Pembroke road, about a mile and a half from the State House, and half a mile after crossing the Concord lower bridge over the Merrimack.

—— Monday afternoon, the Superintendent of Schools in Manchester, aided a portion of the time by an Assistant Marshal, captured thirty-six boys, who were loitering about the streets and spending their time idly. Some were put into schools, some accompanied to their homes, and others taken to the police office and put in a course of training for the House of Correction, unless an immediate reform is commenced.

—— Orders are given for the Fourth Regiment to break up their camp at Manchester and start for Washington, on Friday morning. The solders were granted a furlough on Tuesday evening, with orders to report at the camp at 9 o'clock Wednesday, P. M.

FROM N. H. 2d REGIMENT.

HOOKER'S BRIGADE, CAMP UNION,
Near Bladensburg, Sept. 20th.

Messrs. Editors:—The 1st Regt. Mass. Volunteers, on leaving here, marched to Marlborough, where they seized some arms. After stopping there a short time they marched about 45 miles, without anything of consequence occurring excepting having their pickets fired upon occasionally. Last Monday four of our teams, with a guard of 117 men, started with five days' rations, and found them at Prince Frederick, Md.,—sixty-five miles from here. They remained all night, unloaded in the morning, and started for the old Camp, bringing with them a lot of secesh articles—among them sixty full uniforms complete, twenty muskets, twenty U. S. sabres, two six-barrel revolving rifles, five army revolvers, one keg of powder and a lot of musket balls and caps. It caused some little excitement when our teams drove into Camp with the above articles. To show what their load consisted of, wagoners Robert C. Sides and Proctor Collins, were seated on their wagons in full dress secesh uniforms. The uniforms are very nice, being made of the best of cloth and very handsomely trimmed with gold lace. They belonged to a company in Marlborough called the Planters' Guard. The muskets and sabres were found buried two and a half feet under ground. While I am writing four of our teams are loading and getting ready to start at daylight with more rations.

The boys of our Regiment are waiting anxiously for our turn to come to make a scouting expedition. Last evening Captains Barker and Carr arrived with one hundred and twenty-four recruits, and mostly they are fine looking men. Our Regiment is now very nearly full.

Wednesday I visited the Camp of the 3d N. H. Regt. They are looking finely and are contented, except that they want to be nearer our Regiment. They have a very poor camping ground, low and muddy.—While I was there it commenced to rain and most of them had to sling their knapsacks to keep them from getting wet. The water was two inches deep in their tents, and when night came they had to take their blankets and go to a high piece of ground, back of their tents, to sleep. But they don't find any fault, and say it is a good way to get used to a soldier's life.

Among the men in our Regiment deserving praise, is John S. Nelson, of Bristol, N.H., who has charge of our teams and all the transportation of the Brigade. The safe arrival of our teams at Washington, after the defeat of the 21st of July, was mainly due to his efforts and good judgment.

We are still under marching orders, with two days' rations cooked, knapsacks packed, and all ready to start. And as things look now, we shall make a move very soon.—But wherever we go, I will try to keep the Chronicle posted on things concerning Hooker's Brigade. C. E. P.

☞ General McClellan's family are supplied daily with 150,000 loaves of fresh bread, besides crackers and hard bread in proportion. The consumption of flour per diem is 900 barrels.

JOTTINGS BY THE WAY.

PHENIX HOTEL, Concord, Sept. 24.

The ride hither from Portsmouth, Thursday afternoon, was delightful. So long as daylight and twilight lasted, Nature presented enough of the beautiful to charm any one with half an eye for the glories that are every day thrown in our path.—And even after dark, with our quartet of live ones in that double-seat, we had "music" enough to keep us in good tune till Conductor Langley called "Concord"—a name, by the way, not peculiarly apt, considering the inveterate discords which prevail and are expected here. However, we didn't come here to quarrel with anybody, unless they chose to quarrel with us, as the old saying is; and as we have been most handsomely treated by all we met, why, we can't well complain.

The people at the State House are busy enough—altogether too busy, with settling for old contracts and regiments, and fixing up new. The Governor and Council, with their Secretaries, keep at work night and day; and while some are disposed to criticize their mode of doing business, nobody can doubt their patriotic intentions and earnest devotion to their arduous duties.

The Fourth Regiment (at Manchester) will be off in a few days—we think not before the first of next week. The Fifth is nearly full. The Sixth, Seventh and Eighth have been decided upon. Col. John H. George has not fully decided as to enlisting a regiment, agreeably to Gen. Butler's request; but it is regarded as doubtful, on account of domestic affairs requiring his attention at home.

Another Company of Sharpshooters from New Hampshire has been decided upon;—and Mr. W. D. McPherson of Concord appointed Captain. He is a gentleman in appearance, and a crack shot. The test this time is to be a six-inch string, at 100 yards, rest, with globe sights,—considered by Col. Berdan equal to 200 yards with telescope. This Company will probably be supplied with Sharpe rifles, by Government. Fill up the ranks, ye sharp ones.

There are three or four capital tents pitched in front of the State House, mostly as samples of would-be contractors. One has a stove, the centre-pole and funnel being one and the same piece—a good arrangement, but rather complicated and expensive. Another is called the Ventilating Wall Tent, very much resembling the Ellis pattern; being constructed with a circular or straight-sided base of three or four feet, with the usual conical top above. It is a capital tent, and we are glad has been contracted for, for the 6th and 8th Regiments. It is manufactured by Mr. E. A. Sawyer, of Portland; and can hardly fail to give the best satisfaction. The tents for the 5th were also made in Portland. Where are our Portsmouth sail-makers? The 7th (Gen. Abbott's) receive theirs direct from the U. S.

An old tent here, which is used as Capt. Sturtevant's recruiting rendezvous, is a curiosity. "It bears the royal mark "G. R.;" is hand-wove of Irish or Scotch linen, marked with the maker's name, on the right hand side of the entrance—"Turner, Bond St., London," and must have been made at least sixty or seventy years ago. It is one of twelve with which Gen. James Wilson came to Concord, June 28, 1833, when Andrew Jackson, the President, visited the place. It bears the marks of several bullets, which have been carefully patched with inferior linen. During the rain of last week it has proved to be about as good as new, and far superior to some tents now in use, the fabric of which is entirely of cotton."

The Fair of the Merrimac Co. Agricultural Society, is held on their fine grounds near Concord, on Wednesday and Thursday; and notwithstanding the sad state of the country, and the one-idea notion which now pervades all classes, they are having a pretty fair sort of a time. The weather is fair weather, sure—and the managers can't be beat. Mayor Humphries and Nathaniel White of Concord are President and Vice; and Nat Head of Hooksett, Chief Marshal. The show of Cattle is the best we ever saw anywhere—upwards of sixty yoke, all red and handsome, led off in the string, by one too big to mate with any thing short of Towle's mammoth Hampton yoke. The Vegetable show was fine—potatoes, especially, as everywhere this year, fit to make an Irishman's paradise. Horses were there in good numbers. The trot for the county purse of $15, $10, and $5, was contested for by three horses—and won by a gray horse, mile heats, best three in five, in three heats of about 3 minutes—a beautiful and smooth-going mare making the third heat in 2:49, (pretty good time on a slow half-mile track,) and losing the race only by her bolting and bad temper. For side-shows they had a mammoth horse (originally from Belgium,) weighing 2300 pounds. He is well made up, and not excessively fat; is 19 1-2 hands, 8 years old, girts 9 1-2 feet; has fine limbs, feet and head; travels well; and is altogether a whale of a horse—as big as three tolerable-sized ones. There was also a bear which fought two big dogs—and it was "fight dog, fight bear," too, and apparently no make-believe. All three seemed deeply in earnest, and on mischief intent; but obeyed their keeper quickly when ordered to be quiet. One dog was a bull, the other of hound species; and another bear there was hors du combat by a severe wound which the canines had given him. F.

THE REBELLION.

A grand review of cavalry and artillery, probably the largest of the kind ever held in America, took place at Washington on Tuesday.

The War Department has determined to vacate the offices of all Quartermasters, Commissaries, and other officers who fail to respond promptly by filing their bonds and presenting themselves for active service.

The City Council of Louisville has passed a resolution approving Gen. Anderson's appointment of Provost Marshal; and another requesting the citizens to close their business houses at 4 o'clock every afternoon, to allow time for the people to drill.

Gen. Buckner has written a letter to Hon. James Guthrie, proposing that the latter continue the management of portions of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, under the influence of the forces of his (Buckner's) command; and saying that if this is declined, he will transfer the rolling stock to such agents as may be appointed by the counties through which the road passes.

Ben McCulloch and his force of about 4000 disappointed Arkansas and Texas troops were confidently believed at Springfield, Mo., to have left that State, going South.

Doctors Kremer and Nightingale, of Hunterdon county, N. J., were arrested on Tuesday, charged with recruiting men for a treasonable organization called the "Sons of Liberty," with the motto, "Jefferson Davis before Abe Lincoln."

G. B. Lamar, formerly President of the Bank of the Republic, of New York, but now a traitor in Savannah, has written to that city, offering eight dollars apiece for 10,000 muskets, cash down and no questions asked, for which three dollars apiece were asked some months since.

The injunction suppressing the St. Louis Evening News has been removed. The News has always been a strong Union paper.

Major General Butler arrived at Portland Tuesday afternoon, and by invitation of the Mayor, in the evening addressed the largest and most enthusiastic crowd ever packed into the City Hall. He left for Augusta on Wednesday.

The Sabine arrived at Fortress Monroe on Tuesday, and sailed southward on the next day.

A dispatch to the Chicago Tribune says Gens. Sigel, Lane and Hunter had arrived at Lexington anp attacked the rebels under Price. It was believed that Gen. Sigel had Price in the same position that Col. Mulligan was placed in. But Gen. Hunter, on Saturday, was at Rolla, 250 miles from Lexington. This is one of the "important if true" pispatches.

FAST DAY will be kept by the workmen of the Chronicle office, by a suspension of labor to-day;—and therefore we shall not print the Daily paper on Friday morning. A devotional friend suggests the great national Fast at Nineveh, in Jonah's day, when Kings, and nobles, men, women and children and even the dumb animals, fasted,—as an example to be thought of, if not strictly followed;—and raises the question whether in the journals of Nineveh, there were any notices of clam-bakes for the day.

☞ An appeal from the State Treasurer to our capitalists, will be seen in another place. We have not used much of our space to urge this matter upon our readers,—because it seems to us one which will regulate itself. If a man has money to spare, nowhere can he invest it better than in the Government funds; and if he possess any patriotism or public spirit, he will be twice repaid.

PRISONERS IN FORT WARREN.—Orders have been issued from the U. S. Quartermaster's Commissary's Department at Washington, to provide quarters and one month's rations on Gray's (George's?) Island, Boston harbor, for one hundred political prisoners, and a guard of one hundred soldiers, the latter to be detailed from the Massachusetts Volunteers. The prisoners are expected to arrive in a few days.

☞ When the Col. of the 8th Pennsylvania Regiment, at Tallytown, the other day, handed the flag (just presented to him by Gov. Curtin) to Capt. Gallup, Company C, the gallant Captain said: "Tell the Governor that the day after this flag is taken from this regiment, he will have more friends buried than any man ever had before in one day."

☞ The late Richard Sands, the equestrian, left property valued at $200,000, of which he bequeathed $54,800 in cash, including $1000 to Thomas Brooks, "for faithful services as doorkeeper," and $1000 to George Sands, an equestrian. The remainder of the estate goes to the brother of the deceased.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE BONDS.

Our country needs men, and money to pay them! Our brave and gallant loyal men are hurrying to the field of battle to defend the Constitution and the Government against treason and rebellion! They must have arms, food and clothing. Our banks and capitalists must furnish the sinews of war, and we know that they will do it cheerfully and promptly. We must have half a million dollars at once. Will each Bank in the State take its proportion of that amount?

Six, seven and eight years' Bonds, in sums of $500 and $1000, six per cent. semi-annually, Coupons and Bonds payable at Suffolk Bank, Boston, good at the Treasurer's Office, Concord, and at any Bank in New England, are now ready to be issued. The money is needed, and must be had at once, to pay New Hampshire's share of the expenses of the war. Will each Bank and individual receiving this Circular give us the earliest reply possible, stating what amount of Bonds will be taken, and in what sums?

By order of Governor and Council,
PETER SANBORN, Treasurer.
Treasurer's Office, Concord, Sept. 23, '61.

MAINE.—The Bath Times of Tuesday intimates that recruits are offering in that State in greater numbers than any time during the war, and they are of a superior order of muscle.

A Portland letter to the same paper says that, "recruiting goes bravely on, and with such luck, that officers from other States are here, endeavoring to raise infantry and cavalry companies. As a general thing, however, Maine boys prefer to fight in Maine Regiments."

PRICE OF LAND IN LONDON.—The price of land in London may be reckoned at considerably more than £100,000 per acre. Thus, the excise office was sold at the rate of £88,000 per acre; the India house at the rate of £124,000 per acre;—some land, as approaches to New Westminster bridge, at £170,000 per acre,—giving an average of £127,000 per acre.

A certain President of a Theological Institution convened the students at his room one evening, and said to them that he had observed that they were all growing thin and dyspeptical from the neglect of the matron's not providing herself with Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus; the announcement of which caused great confusion. The lady of the house has provided herself with the Gold Medal Saleratus, and the students are each growing quite portly, and are more healthy than ever. Ladies, go and get a paper, and you will never use any other. Depot 112 Liberty Street, New York. All the Merchants have it. 3t

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with but little faith in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ WHEELER.

NATIONAL FAST.

A PROCLAMATION

By the President of the U. S. of America.

Whereas, A Joint Committee of both Houses of Congress has waited on the President of the United States, and requested him to recommend a day of Public Humiliation, Prayer and Fasting, to be observed by the People of the United States with religious solemnities, and the offering of fervent supplications to Almighty God for the safety and welfare of these States, His blessings upon their arms, and a speedy restoration to peace:

And whereas, It is fit and becoming in all people at all times to acknowledge and revere the Supreme Government of God, to bow in humble submission to His chastisements, to confess and deplore their sins and transgressions, in the full conviction that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and to pray with all fervency and contrition for the pardon of their past offences, and for a blessing upon their present and prospective action:

And whereas, When our beloved country, once, by the blessing of God, united, prosperous and happy, is now afflicted with faction and civil war, it is peculiarly fit for us to recognize the hand of God in this visitation, and in sorrowful remembrance of our own faults and crimes as a nation and as individuals, to humble ourselves before Him, and to pray for His mercy—to pray that we may be spared further punishment, though justly deserved; that our army may be blessed and made effectual for the re-establishment of law, order, and peace throughout our country, and that the inestimable boon of civil and religious liberty, earned, under His guidance and blessing, by the labors and sufferings of our fathers, may be restored in all its original excellence:

Therefore, I, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, President of the United States, do appoint the last Thursday in September next as a day of Humiliation, Prayer and Fasting for all the people of the Nation, and I do earnestly recommend to all the people and especially to all Ministers and teachers of religion of all denominations, and to all heads of families—to observe and keep that day according to their several creeds and modes of worship, in all humility, and with all religious solemnity, to the end that the United prayer of the Nation may ascend to the Throne of Grace, and bring down plentiful blessings upon our country.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the United States to be affixed, this 12th day of August, A. D. 1861, and of the Independence of the United States of America the eighty-sixth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

WM. H. SEWARD, Sec. of State.

A PROCLAMATION.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

In accordance with the sentiments of the Council, I cordially concur in the foregoing [President's] Proclamation for a National Fast. The people of this State, therefore, of all religious denominations, are earnestly desired to abstain from their usual labor and avocations on the day appointed; to meet in their accustomed places of religious worship, and humbly and devoutly implore the blessings of God, in this hour of our country's peril. Our free institutions—the glory of our land; that were devised by the wisdom of our forefathers, and purchased by their blood, and that have given us a name among the nations; are threatened with destruction. Principles, as dear as life to every lover of liberty, enlightened civilization and religion, are imperiled. An unholy rebellion has been raised against our noble Government by traitors, who, in obedience to the dictates of unhallowed political ambition, and in blind devotion to an accursed system of oppression, have brought upon our great, happy and prosperous country all the horrors of civil war.

Let the desires of the people, as one man, ascend to Him who alone can give success to the right, that this unhappy war may speedily terminate in putting down rebellion, the overthrow of treason, the triumph of liberty, and the safety and glory of a great and indissolably united people.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Concord, on the third day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-sixth.

NATHANIEL S. BERRY.

By His Excellency the Governor, with advice of the Council.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory nature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of ninety, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invisible compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in 'ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL.' Prepared only by THEODORE DILLET, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This Article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

U. S. LOAN NOTICE.

Pursuant to instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, a book will be opened on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

At the Piscataqua Exchange Bank,

IN THIS CITY

For subscriptions under my superintendence for Treasury Notes, to be issued under the act of July 17, 1861. These notes will be issued in sums of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, and five thousand dollars each, dated 19th August, 1861, payable three years after date to the order of the subscriber or as directed, and bearing interest at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; such interest being at the rate of two cents for each day on every hundred dollars. For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum can be received. Subscriptions of fifty dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coin of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one-third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will remain until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon from the 19th August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest, will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

The Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

Or the New York Musical Review,

FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. Lowell Mason. Dr. Mason's last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new tunes, adapted with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself; and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum.

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON'S new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON'S new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let this fluid move on unobstructed to health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, opposed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and efficacious in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR REV. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALFRED BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best specimens I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their easy cathartic action makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WILKESB, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although not dangerous in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Sweet, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very efficacious to excite the catharticle and expel worm. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawley, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. I feel settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which seem to be chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec. 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These Pills contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

100, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the other they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a trachea feature of the stove.

4th. The fire pot, at such depth of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin pockets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, ESQ., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

Yours, &c.

"EVERYBODY"
WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head nearly bald, I tried your Restorative, purchased of Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROSENTALL.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

Six newspapers have been presented by the Grand Jury in New Jersey,—among them, the Newark Evening Joural, as disloyal sheets.

The rebels have been committing bold depredations in the Southern part of Kentucky, scouring the country, and robbing and capturing Union men. An attack by the Tennesseans is also threatened, for which the Kentuckians are preparing themselves. The Legislature has passed resolutions for raising and equipping 40,000 volunteers.

Wednesday afternoon a party of our men was attacked at Louisville (whither they had gone to reconnoitre and obtain provisions,) by the rebels. The rebel battery was silenced, and our men, having accomplished their object, fell back to their former position, with one man slightly wounded: they took one rebel prisoner.

A flag of truce from the rebel army at Munson's Hill, was brought in by two Colonels and a Major to our troops at Bailey's Cross Roads, asking a suspension of hostilities between pickets, which was acceded to by the commander of the federal forces.

A dispatch says that the enemy's entrenchments on the Virginia side of the Potomac, have been extended until they now reach from Munson's Hill to a point near Alexandria.

Several prominent Kentuckians are in Washington urging the Government to send forward a large number of federal troops to sustain the Union men there.

Mr. Lowe, the balloonist, was fired at by the rebels on Wednesday, while making an ascension. None of the shots took effect.

The State Department has made satisfactory explanations to Lord Lyons in reference to the passport system.

500 of the 4th Ohio Regiment, with one piece of artillery, and the Ringold Cavalry 75 in number, drove the enemy, 700 strong, out of Mechanicsville Gap, on Monday morning, and advancing on Romney, Va., stormed the town, causing the enemy, who numbered about 1400, to retreat to the mountains, with a loss of about 35 killed and a large number wounded. Our loss was 3 killed and 10 wounded.

A portion of the Union forces were in action on Wednesday, at Point of Rocks, Md., with 500 rebels on the Virginia side of the Potomac. The rebels were sheltered on the high point of Catoctin mountain and by the houses at its base. They were driven away by the battery and rifles of our troops. The houses were burnt, and several rebels killed. None of the federals were hurt.

It is reported that there are rebel batteries every two and a half miles from Occoquan to Mathias, and naval officers consider the Potomac as effectually closed.

An effort is making in favor of Hon. Joseph Holt as successor to Gen. Fremont.

The President has received a lengthy reply from Gen. Fremont, relative to the charges against him, which is deemed unsatisfactory.

Gen. Sherman's expedition southward is to sail in three weeks. The principal officers believe its destination to be either Charleston, Mobile or New Orleans.

Federal scouts report that McCulloch, on the 21st, was within 30 miles of Fort Scott, with 18,000 rebels. It is also reported that on the 25th Claib Jackson was advancing on Boonville with 10,000, and Price was marching towards Georgetown with 20,000, the rebel army at Lexington having been divided for that purpose. No batteries were seen on the river banks between Lexington and Boonville. Gen. Sturgiss with 1100 men reached a point about six miles from Lexington on the 18th, but learning that 500 of Price's rebels were in the woods awaiting his approach, he marched to Liberty, and thence to Kansas City. It is reported that Montgomery attacked Osceola on the 20th, and burnt the town by shelling it, repulsing the whole force of the rebels. The report that Gen. Sigel had attacked Gen. Price at Lexington is false.

A dispatch to the Tribune says Sec. Cameron has telegraphed to the Governor of Iowa, forbidding the drafting of troops, and expressing his unbounded confidence in the patriotism of the people.

A son of Henry Clay was captured while on the way to the rebel camp in Kentucky.

A SHAMELESS MOTHER.—A beautiful boy, about two and a half years old, was abandoned in Portland on Wednesday by its mother, who took it to the ladies' apartment in the Grand Trunk Depot, and left it there while she departed in the train.—The Overseers of the Poor took charge of the child.

ANOTHER PATRIOTIC FAMILY.—Mr. Robert Bly, of Epping, has two sons in the 2d N. H. Regt., and one in the 3d,—all three possessing all the qualities for good soldiers. The oldest has already been promoted for meritorious conduct.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— They had a good time at Sandown on Thursday, Sept. 12, in the shape of an old fashioned miltary muster. Five companies—the South Danville company, Capt. David B. Currier; the Sandown company, Capt. Prescott; one from North Danville, Capt. Elkins; one from Fremont, Capt. Tilton; one from Hampstead, Capt. Stickney, —and the Raymond Brass Band were in attendance, and at least a thousand spectators. Regimental officers were appointed, the companies were inspected, and the exercises closed by a speech from Hon. Gideon Webster, of Kingston, which was received with enthusiastic cheering. Men of all parties participated in it, and the most perfect harmony prevailed.

—— The Manchester Mirror says, the Seventh Regiment, now being raised by General Joseph C. Abbott under authority of the United States government, is rapidly filling up, and will probably get into the field ahead of the Sixth. It will be quartered in Concord, and some 400 will be ready to go into camp as soon as the Fourth leaves. The Col. will be an experienced army officer, but he is not yet selected.—Gen. Abbott has been appointed its Lieut. Colonel.

—— The Governor and Council held a meeting on Tuesday and appointed O. W. Lull, of Milford, Lieut. Col., and Morrill B. Smith, of Concord, Major of the 8th Regiment under Col. Fearing; Joseph C. Abbott, of Manchester, Lieut. Col., and Rev. Henry E. Parker, Chaplain of the Second, Major of the 7th Regiment. They also voted to raise four companies of cavalry. Arms and equipments for the Eighth were ordered.

—— The Fourth Regiment is supplied with the blue uniform, which has a more attractive appearance than the old gray suits. It is thoroughly equipped, and like the regiments already in service, is furnished with a complete baggage train.

—— The Coos Republican states that the diphtheria is still making fearful ravages in the small settlements on the Magalloway. One person lost in a few days recently, a wife and five children. Medical aid is in attendance, but seems ineffectual. One half the population is said to have deceased. A woman who was in attendance upon the sick, has returned to Colebrook, since when a case has occurred there.

—— Charles H. Corey, late of the Newton Theological Institution, was ordained as pastor of the Baptist church and society at Seabrook on Wednesday, the 18th inst. The Charge to the Candidate was by Rev. William Lamson, D. D., of Brookline, Mass.; Right Hand of Fellowship and Address to the Church and Society, by Rev. Samuel E. Brown, of South Hampton.

☞ Prince Napoleon is occupying attention of the citizens of Boston. On Wednesday afternoon the Prince and Princess were entertained by a musical festival at Music Hall. The choir of children was under the lead of Carl Zerrahn. There was, beside, a large and admirable orchestra.—After the French and Sardinian national airs by the orchestra, the children sung a choral from Mendelssohn's St. Paul, and afterwards the Hallelujah chorus from the Messiah, winding up with the Old Hundredth Psalm. Each boy and girl carried a small tri-color, which they waved with very pretty effect during the performance of the national airs, and upon the arrival of the Prince and suite in the hall. When they rose to depart, the boys cheered lustily, and the girls waved white handkerchiefs.

Wednesday evening the Prince was complimented with a dinner at the Revere House. Forty-five representatives of Boston's commercial solidity, and literary and professional eminence, composed the party.

Hon. Edward Everett presided, with the Prince upon his right, and Gov. Andrew upon his left. President Felton, of Harvard University, Prof. Agassiz, J. R. Lowell, Charles Sumner, and O. W. Holmes were of the company. Mr. Everett made one of his most remarkable speeches. The Prince replied briefly in French. Dr. O. W. Holmes then read a fine little poem.

The Prince has visited Harvard University, Mount Auburn, the Charlestown Navy Yard, and many other places of interest in the vicinity of Boston.

☞ Capt. William A. Tredick, of New York, who has been in Boston for several days, enlisting men for a New York regiment, shot Lieut. A. D. Craig, of Somerville, Mass., and a young man named Harris Welch, of Charlestown, on Wednesday, in their recruiting office. Craig was associated with Capt. Treadwell. The quarrel began between him and T., and Welch attempted to separate them. Welch was dangerously wounded. No cause has been assigned for the commencement of the affray. Capt. Treadwell was taken to the hospital by the police, to see if Welch would recognize him as the man who shot him.—Treadwell wept like a child when he saw Welch, and said he did not intend to shoot him, as he was one of his best friends.

☞ We are indebted to Hon. Gilman Marston for a copy of the Acts and Resolutions passed during the first session of the 37th Congress.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

CITY OF N. Y., Sept., '61.

Messrs. Editors: — Soldier boys, big drums, little drums, drum-sticks, and shoddy uniforms, still engross the attention of the public, and parade our streets, the condition of the latter, bringing to mind the melody of the antiquated Mrs. Goose — "some in rags, some in tags, none in velvet gowns."

Recruiting goes briskly on, and hundreds of patriots are enrolled each day.

A new Court House is about to be built in the Park, in the rear of the City Hall.—The edifice is to be of marble, three stories, 275 feet long by 144 wide, with two wings 112 feet each, the whole to be enclosed by a wide court yard. The grounds have been surrounded with a high board fence, and include nearly the whole area of the Park fronting on Chambers street, and the construction of the building will necessitate the removal of the bell tower, which since the burning of the City Hall in '57, has supported the enormous fire bell, weighing 9,910 lbs, whose deep tones can be heard five miles distant.

While we, during the past week, have been merged in the endless whirl of city life, a kind friend and old schoolmate, one whose cheerful companionship enlivened a pleasant beach party but a few weeks since, has passed from this turbulent life current, into the calm, moonlit sea of eternity; making one less in a once joyous family circle, leaving another place vacant in our group of friends, adding one more to those schoolmates who have gone onward to commune with their Great Teacher above: and while stern Time is mowing down the hours and the minutes, and the seconds, and gathering them into the receptacle of time past, we still live on — God alone knowing unto whom the summons will come next.

Softly we drop fond friendship's tear in memory of the departed, and ever we will cherish the remembrance of his merry voice, and kind heart, 'till at last we go to meet him, in the land beyond the grave:

"The land where broken ties shall twine,
And fond hearts shall not sever:
Where Love's pure light shall brighter shine
Forever and forever."

Considerable sickness exists in the army at the Gulf, but the men still remain in camp. The report of Jeff. Davis' demise obtains no credence in the South, but he is reported to be rapidly recovering from his recent illness. (With a slight modification, the old saying about a certain class of men, who can't be drowned, applies here!) In closing we would say that our informant has been South, on business affairs solely, and is neither a Southerner, nor a Secessionist.

New York City sent one regiment to the war yesterday, which will be followed by three more to-day, and two others from the interior of the State. The McManus obsequies came off in grand style yesterday, and Herman the Prestidigitateur (what a jaw-breaker!) commenced his series of magic entertainments last eve.

Capt. George S. Phyfe (formerly of your city) attached to the Excelsior Brigade, proposes in a few days to visit Portsmouth and other parts of the State for the purpose of recruiting a company of 150 men from among the sturdy sons of the Granite Hills.

We write this, not to retard the enlistment in your own regiments, but that those on the point of enlisting may have the right of a preference, which might lead them to cast their lot with that of their former estimable friend. More anon from

NEWINGTON.

NEWSPAPER BUSINESS.—The pressure of the times is telling severely upon the newspaper business in the North and South, in the city and country. Several Daily and Weekly newspapers in New York, as well as elsewhere, have been discontinued for want of support, and two of the religious journals have curtailed their dimensions.—New York Observer.

There have been too many papers, altogether—and when the weak ones are discontinued, those which are well established, and the public, will be benefitted thereby.

The Newburyport Herald states that the Democratic papers in Essex county, with the exception of the Haverhill Democrat, desire to ignore politics entirely during the war.

Among our Rebellion items, will be found mention that the Newark Evening Journal, (published by Mr. E. N. Fuller, formerly of the N.H. Gazette,) has been "presented" by a jury for alleged treasonable sentiments.

☞ Rev. Dr. Edson, Rector of St. Ann's Church of Lowell, preached two sermons in "Pawtuckaway Hall," Epping, on Sunday last, to a respectful and attentive audience, and also administered the sacrament to several persons, members of the Episopal Church, residents in Epping. The Hall is new, 70 by 30 feet, 12 feet high, with two retiring rooms, and is used by the "Union Choral Association" of some one hundred members, on Sabbath evenings.—The choir for the service last Sabbath evening was a select one, acquainted with the church service, and aided by one of the two powerful melodeons in the hall. Thus the Episcopalians are a distinct denomination in Epping.

COM.

☞ Macdonald, the owner of Flora Temple, has offered before a U. S. Commissioner a mass of affidavits and other proofs of his loyalty to the Union, and it is thought the little bay mare will not be confiscated just yet.

☞ The Persia passed, on the 16th inst., the steamship Great Eastern, putting back to England in a damaged state. The Great Eastern was to have sailed from Liverpool to New York on the 10th of September; so if she left on that day she had been six days out when met in her crippled condition.

☞ The rebel Government clothing bureau is already supplying the army with early lots of winter clothing, to the extent of its facilities. Eight thousand overcoats have already been supplied to a single division of the army in Western Virginia.

☞ The New-Hampshire Gazette and Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room. Price 3 cents. $1 per year, in advance.

A certain President of a Theological Institution convened the students at his room one evening, and said to them that he had observed that they were all growing thin and dyspeptical from the neglect of the matron's not providing herself with Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus; the announcement of which caused great confusion. The lady of the house has provided herself with the Gold Medal Saleratus, and the students are each growing quite portly, and are more healthy than ever. Ladies, go and get a paper, and you will never use any other. Depot 119 Liberty Street, New York. All the Merchants have it. 3t

All who suffer from coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and the most to be dreaded of all, Consumption, can find sure relief in Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which always cures where other remedies fail.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING of all sorts is promptly done at the Chronicle Office.

Marriage, Visiting or Business Cards Printed or ENGRAVED in the best manner.

Volunteers for the War

Should take a bottle of "THE HAMMOND LINIMENT." It is soothing to apply it when tired, to keep your feet from blistering. Cures Cuts, Bruises and Lameness. The 19th Regiment of Massachusetts has ordered it. Sold by PRESTON and THACHER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,

(Editor of the Old Fellow.)

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WEBSTER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and having taken two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WEBSTER.

☞ It will be seen by Maj. Hackett's advertisement, that all the station buildings, engine house and machine shop of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad are to be sold at auction to-day, Saturday, without reserve. We learn that the corporation will proceed next week to erect a commodious depot on the site of the present station house, together with a brick round house for engines, to be built upon piles. A new turn-table is also to be built, and other improvements made, in contemplation of the increasing business to be done upon the road, after its connection with the thriving city of Manchester.

☞ Henry K. Stevens, U. S. N., Second Lieutenant of the sloop-of-war Portsmouth, which recently arrived at this Naval Station from the coast of Africa, has tendered his resignation. It was not accepted, but as usual in such cases, he was placed under arrest. He was born in Connecticut, but was appointed from Florida.

BOOK-KEEPING, after some sort, is taught in many schools, but understood by very few pupils. Yet it is a very easy thing to keep your accounts, if the first principles are understood. We have before us a practical book, by a practical book-keeper,—viz. Exercises in Book-Keeping by Double Entry,—just published by James F. Shores, Jr., which was prepared at the request of Dr. Treadwell, Chairman of our High School Committee.

This book consists of exercises only, and is not a system. Yet its use, as directed, will enable every intelligent pupil to have a uniform system in his own business in after life.

Every practical book-keeper will see its value on examination.

A CARD.—The officers and soldiers stationed at Fort Constitution, Newcastle, N. H., return their grateful acknowledgement to Rev. ABA BALLARD and family, of Boston, Mass., for the liberal donation of BOOKS sent them last week. This donation has formed the germ for a SOLDIERS' LIBRARY, and contributions will be gladly received from those who feel interested and are disposed to donate for this now small library. W. H. S.

☞ Mr. N. Mason, who has very neatly fitted up the store No. 26 Market Street, as a new Boot and Shoe Store—invites attention to his advertisement, this morning.

☞ Rev. Mr. Lawrence, of Claremont, will preach at the North Church to-morrow.

DOGS.—Dr. Dadd, in this country, and Prof. Dick of England, and other learned veterinarians, agree that "if there be any truth in modern science, the practice of muzzling dogs should be dispensed with entirely, for at least it is a very uncertain safeguard to man, and a very irritating punishment to the animal." Of course dogs cannot sweat through their skin, and "the application of the muzzle prevents the dog from cooling his body by means of keeping his mouth open, and thus being able to protrude his tongue, making it a refrigerator for his body."

We never had any doubt of the unkindness, not to say cruelty, of muzzling the poor dogs—but then, mankind are of more consequence than the canines; and the only way we can see to be just and kind to all, is to keep few or no dogs in the cities at all. So, Messrs. City Marshals, we don't see but you will have to execute the Dog Law,—winter and summer,—for it is equally binding at all seasons of the year.

MINERAL WATER.—Horace Hamblet, Esq., of the Ocean House, Newburyport, a few days since discovered a boiling spring, on the wharf, front of the hotel.—The tide flows over it. It has a peculiar taste. Dr. Jackson, of Boston, who analized it, found it contained sulphate of lime, magnesia, chloride of salt, carbonic acid gas, and all the medicinal properties that render the Saratoga waters valuable, and in about the same proportions. This may prove to be a great and valuable discovery that will repay Mr. Hamblet and call there a host of visitors.

☞ The Medina Tribune states that a whipping affair recently occurred in a village up that way, in which a lady was the heroine. She had been invited to attend a ball by a young man, who took another lady, making a second choice. The slighted young lady was driven in a buggy by her young brother to the scene of the dance, and, just as the faithless young man was handing his second choice into the carriage to go home, she attacked him with a whip, and lashed him soundly, to the great amusement of fifty or more persons.

☞ The wolves, one night last week, killed four or five calves in a pasture about a mile distant from Machias, Me. They also one night recently attacked a cow, which they maimed so badly as to render her worthless. Their depredations among sheep have been general and serious in the flocks in that vicinity.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—U.S. revenue cutters have been sent from San Francisco in pursuit of ship Ashland, of New Orleans, probably loading with guano at George's Island. The revenue officers have seized over $12,000 worth of tobacco belonging to Southern owners.

Troops have been sent to San Bernardino, indicating that Gen. Sumner has intelligence of a want of Unionism in the southern part of the State.

The entire overland force is to be stationed for the present at Los Angelos.

The Yreka Journal says the recent account of the massacre of a party of emigrants was a heartless hoax.

The news from the Oregon Indians is favorable to peace.

☞ Binding grain by machinery has been successfully accomplished in Iowa. The band is of wire. The cost of wire sufficient to bind an average acre of grain is about fifteen cents.

GOOD ARTICLES AT LOW PRICES.—The chances offered now to cash purchasers by the large establishments in Boston are not likely to occur soon again. C. A. Smith, proprietor of one of the most fashionable and extensive merchant tailoring establishments in Boston, offers a stock of goods at No. 1 Old State House, head of State street, which are worth looking at, and worth buying too,—they are sold at so reasonable a rate. 1t d

☞ The price of muslins, within a few days, has risen to double the former amount.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a disordered state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

U. S. LOAN NOTICE.

Pursuant to instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, a book will be opened on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

At the Piscataqua Exchange Bank,
IN THIS CITY

For subscriptions under my superintendence for Treasury Notes, to be issued under the act of July 17, 1861. These notes will be issued in sums of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, and five thousand dollars each, dated 19th August, 1861, payable three years after date to the order of the subscriber or as directed, and bearing interest at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; such interest being at the rate of two cents for each day on every hundred dollars. For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum can be received. Subscriptions of fifty dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coin of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one-third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will remain until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon from the first August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

The Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

JOHN B. GIVENS, No. 94 Elm Street.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We had tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but COSTAR's article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice and Bed Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.

POPULATION OF PORTSMOUTH.

We have at length, from official source, the Census return of the population of Portsmouth in 1860. It is as follows:—

Ward One,	3,661
Ward Two,	3,809
Ward Three,	1,874
Whole number,	9,344

This is about 350 less than the population of Portsmouth in 1860. There was at that time a floating population equal to the deficit, consequent upon railroad business, employees in our ship-yards, etc., which were not here in 1860. If the census were now taken, it would not fall much short of 10,000.

CITY COUNCIL.—On Thursday evening, Sept. 19, in BOARD OF ALDERMEN, the report from the Committee of the Fire Department, to whom was referred the subject of putting the aqueduct pipes into the engine houses, was received. They reported that, in their opinion, a special appropriation would be necessary, as the appropriation for the Fire Department is expended; and the Committee asked to be discharged from further consideration of the subject. The report was adopted.

The petition of the Fire Department for more hose, was referred to the Common Council.

The subject of an additional school-room in District No. 3, was referred to the Committee on School-houses.

The Committee to whom was referred the subject of paying C. W. Bailey for extra services as truant committee, made report. The subject was referred to the same Committee, with instructions to report what services had been rendered.

Voted, That the City Marshal's request, to replenish the bedding in the Bridewell, be complied with.

The subject of ascertaining what City property there might be around the school-houses and other places not in use, was referred to the Committee on Public Building, with the Mayor added, and with power to act.

Voted, That Mr. Thacher's request for a sidewalk be granted.

Petitions that the sidewalks at the lower end of Pleasant street and at Brimstone Hill be repaired or relaid, by the City, were granted.

GYMNASTICS.—Those who are ambitious to acquire physical strength, a clear head, a serene mind, and a good appetite, are reminded of the season for commencing a course of Gymnastics. It will be remembered that a new room for the purpose has recently been opened in Portsmouth. See advertisement.

GUN CARRIAGES.—The expense of the manufacture of these carriages, with all the latest improvements, is from $2000 to $3000 each.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the face of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are necessarily united, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable damp grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, will not be burned out once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Date, Nathaniel Bennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

"EVERYBODY"

WHO USES

HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE

HAIR RESTORATIVE

Is convinced of the fact that

It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the body, and as much safer—as composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald; I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. BOSWYELL.

Sold everywhere—price 50c., and $1 per bottle.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,

THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.

The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It also contains twice as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

MASKING THE TASTE OF COD LIVER OIL.—M. Leperdriel recommends the addition of ten per cent of common salt, as the best means of masking the taste, not only of cod liver oil, but various other kinds of fish oil. The salt may not only conceal the taste of the oil, but also add to its digestibility. Essence of anise-seed further masks the oil, but for most persons the salt suffices. Fishermen would do well to put up the cod fish livers in salt, as are tongues and sounds, so that patients might buy them and prepare their own oil, and thereby be sure to have it free from the adulterations of sweet oil, other kinds of fish oils, and other things too numerous to mention.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.—The present times are not wholly disastrous. Peace has its evils as well as war. Alison, in his history, remarks that "in a long-continued peace there is a relaxation of morals and corruption of manners in the highest degree injurious to society. Effeminacy, luxury and fraud become common." All these evils have been increasing among us with great rapidity, through our mercantile prosperity, within the last few years. This war will exchange our effeminacy to more muscular power and better physical development. By this war we have sent a million men into the great gymnasium, and set them to exercising. We have taken them out of the factories and the workshops, and from the dull monotony of town life, and given them the soldiers' duty, which will change the thin and slender forms to the bronzed and muscular proportions. Many will die in the war and from its hardships, and as many others will date renewed health and strength from it. Physically this will tell in favor of our people for three generations. —Newburyport Herald.

STOCK.—As at this season of the year our farmers begin to look at their stock more particularly, it may not be inappropriate to recall the historical fact that the first horned cattle introduced in New England were those which arrived at Plymouth in 1624, in the ship Charity. They came from the coast of Devonshire, in England, but were of various colors, and probably bad but slight resemblance to the North Devons of the present day. In 1626 twelve cows were sent to Cape Ann, and thirty more in 1629. The next year about one hundred were imported for the "Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay," and were taken to Salem. During the next year or two, large numbers of cows were imported into New Hampshire from Denmark,—large and coarse animals of a uniform light yellow color.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1861.

COMING OVER.—We hear it stated that John W. Dana has recently expressed himself in favor of carrrying on the war with vigor for the suppression of rebellion, saying that circumstances have, during the past two weeks, entirely changed the aspect of the war question. We do not know that this statement is true, but have good reason for believing it. We do know that other members of the late peace party scarcely less eminent, have been converted to the war policy, by the progress of events in Kentucky and Missouri, and we do not see how any man of common sense, who really loves his country, can now plead for peace, except peace shall be based upon the entire submission of the rebels.

The above item from the Portland Advertiser, is encouraging as well as interesting. If the statement about Mr. Dana is founded in truth, then he can undo some of the evil he has done. He strengthened the rebels by his run for Governor. He can now aid the United States by helping the Government and encouraging the administration in putting down the rebellion.

This offers a fit occasion for saying that Ex-President Pierce owes it to his native State of New Hampshire, to the memory of his fathers, and to our loyal citizens,—to come out openly, and declare himself a friend and supporter of the Government of the United States.

If he cannot do this, or if he will not,—so far he helps the rebels;—for any man by refusing or neglecting to be a patriot in speech or action, gives our opponents aid and comfort, and casts his lot with the traitors who aim to destroy liberty from the face of the earth.

☞ The Confiscation Act, of the War Congress, in itself a very proper law, and a very plain one, has been misunderstood, and many vessels seized under the mistake, which are now mostly to be released.

The Secretary of the Treasury has pointed out that as regards ordinary descriptions of property, the government does not undertake to confiscate the estates even of rebels, but simply seizes property which is used in aid of the rebellion, or which is in course of transmission to the rebellious States in defiance of the prohibition of intercourse.

As it now stands, in fact as it has stood all the while, if any loyal citizen of the South has property lying here in any shape, it is safe; if any disloyal citizen has property here, he has his choice,—to let it lie, to the manifest advantage of our people, or by attempting its removal, to make it over at once to the government of the United States.

It is a misnomer to call the act of August 6th an act of "confiscation" as regards slaves. The slave is "a person claimed to be held to labor or service under the law of any State;" and it is declared that when he is permitted, by the person making this claim, to be employed in any military or naval service, the claim shall be forfeited. The claim is not forfeited to the government, nor does it pass over to any other person; but the fact of this prohibited employment is made "a full and sufficient answer to such claim." It really frees the contraband negro, without saying so.

DULL MEETINGS. — Burleigh criticises the New York daily prayer meetings, quite sharply, in a late letter to the Boston Journal. He says:—

One thing is quite observable in all these daily prayer meetings. The same men speak and pray, and though "strangers are invited," they get but little chance. One man in Fulton street prays almost every day, and his high flown and extraordinary language suggests that he breakfasts on a leaf or two of a dictionary, and people always shudder when he comes up to his feet. Those who speak and pray the most, do so the longest—ten, and even fifteen minutes, are consumed in a prayer, while the rule allows but five minutes. It causes a smile when the leader has consumed 25 or 30 minutes in opening the service, and in all his exercises has transgressed each rule of the meeting, to hear him at the close of his remarks, call on the brethren to be short and not to neglect the rules. It is observable that when men have the least to say, they consume the most time; and when they are least in the spirit of prayer, they use the most words.

CHARGE OF NAVAL CAPTAINS.—The Navy Department having relieved Capts. Stringham, Pendergast, Nicholson, Hill, Chauncey and Mercer, who were in charge of portions of the blockading squadron, it has excited much surprise to find that the new commanders are all natives of Southern or border States. The experience of the Navy Department with its commanders at Pensacola and Norfolk, ought to be sufficient to educate the Secretary to the exercise of proper caution in this respect, and there are probably the strongest reasons to trust the loyalty of the appointees.—It is said they have been selected because of their personal fitness and familiarity with the coast of the States in rebellion. Capts. Goldsborough of Maryland, Dupont of Delaware, Missroon of South Carolina, Smith of Missouri, Powell of Virginia, and Drayton of South Carolina, are ordered to this service.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The 4th Regiment left Manchester on Friday; its destination, it is supposed, is Washington. The long regimental baggage train left Concord for Manchester on Thursday.

——The camp of the 5th Regiment, in Concord, is called Camp Jackson, and will be for the present under command of Maj. Cook. Lt. Col. Conner, who was educated at West Point, will soon commence the drill of all commissioned officers and first sergeants. Col. Cross has issued a model general order, forbidding officers or soldiers to leave the lines without written permission from the commanding officer, and banishing intoxicating liquors. It is said that nearly enlistments enough are reported to fill the Regiment, which is to drill as light infantry, and all will be in camp this week. Col. Cross and Hon. E. H. Rollins left for Washington, on Saturday, to procure, if possible, Springfield rifles for the regiment.

——The hosiery mills at Laconia have orders from Government which will keep them at work day and night, until next April. One of the mills turns out two hundred dozen pairs per day, and will shortly add largely to this amount. This business provides employment for a large number of people, in making up the work after the web has been prepared by machinery.

——Chas. W. Brewster, Esq., of the Journal, has forwarded to Concord a curiosity, to be placed in the museum of the N. H. Historical Society, bearing this inscription: "A brick, from the Manor House, or Masons' Hall, built at Odierne's Point in 1623—the first house erected in New Hampshire. Procured from the spot and presented to the N. H. Historical Society by C. W. Brewster, in 1861."

——While workmen were digging the cellar for Parker's store, in Laconia, the other day, a frog was dug out of a well which had been covered for thirty years.

——Wm. W. Robinson, leader of Exeter Cornet Band, having obtained the requisite papers, is to enlist a band to accompany the 6th N. H. Regiment to the seat of war.

——A camp meeting was held in Hillsboro' by the Methodists in that vicinity, beginning on Monday, the 9th inst., and closing on the Saturday following. There was a good attendance.

—— The 3d Regiment was presented with a handsome stand of colors in Washington, on Wednesday, by a delegation of citizens from Hempstead, L. I., where the regiment made a temporary stay while on its way to Washington.

NAVAL.—The Mohican, a 994-ton screw steam-sloop, of the second class, built at the Portsmouth Navy Yard in 1858, arrived at Boston, on Friday, from her first cruise.—She sailed 19th Jan., 1859, and has consequently been absent about twenty-one months, during which time she captured the slaver Eric with 900 slaves on board. The vessel and engines are in good condition, and after taking coals and provisions she can be employed on the blockade.

The bark W. G. Anderson, at the Charlestown Navy Yard, went into commission on Saturday. The ship Ino, barks W. G. Anderson, Ethan Allen and steamer Curlew, will sail by the middle of the week.—This will leave only one vessel fitting out at the Charlestown yard—the Kingfisher. A number of large surf boats are being built for the purpose of landing troops on the Southern coast when needed.

Capt. George Long of Nantucket has been appointed Sailing Master in the navy. Capt. Long was on board of the gunboat No. 156 in 1809, and 1815 he was on board the U. S. brig Anloson. He was taken three times in the war of 1812, the first time by two English frigates, and carried to the West Indies; he was after that taken by the British brig Nimrod, and the third time by the English frigate Belvidere.

DECORUM.—The Bath Times favors congregational singing, and urges the congregation to rise and stand in that service. It says:—

In the Episcopal and in the New Jerusalem churches, the congregations rise and remain standing during all the devotional services except prayer, when they kneel.—A person in one of those churches would be marked as a clown at once should he remain frozen to his seat while the song of praise was ascending. And why should it not be so in churches where congregational singing is in vogue? Especially in those churches where the congregation remain sitting in prayer time, why should they not cheerfully rise during the sacred song, and thus show that they are part and parcel of the worshiping congregation, and not mere lay-figures and wall-flowers, as immobile as the seats upon which they repose?

In the Episcopal and New Jerusalem churches, the Liturgy is the great aid to decorum, for it gives the people something to do, which prevents them from appearing to be mere idle spectators.

☞ The U. S. steamer Brooklyn has arrived at Philadelphia, from the mouth of the Mississippi for repairs. She reports capturing the barque Meaco, from Rio Janeiro for New Orleans. A prize crew was put on board of her and she sailed for Philadelphia.

It is stated that a New Hampshire secession editor has been sending to the South, begging for cold victuals.—Boston Post.

THE REBELLION.

A note from the Adjutant General at St. Louis to Col. Blair, by order of Gen. Fremont, contains the following: "In consequence of the telegram from your brother, Postmaster General Blair, followed by a letter asking your release, from public reasons, you are hereby released from arrest, and directed to resume your sword and join your regiment for duty.

Gen. Fremont, in his dispatch relative to the surrender of Lexington, Mo., says:—"I am taking the field myself and hope to destroy the enemy either before or after the junction of the forces under McCulloch.—Please notify the President immediately."

Commodore Goldsborough will not permit flags of truce from the rebels, to come near the fleet at Fortress Monroe.

Special dispatches from Washington, state that a large rebel force is concentrating at the mouth of the Occoquan River, probably to prevent a flank movement of the Federal forces against Manassas. There is great activity in both camps.

The official report of Gen. Reynolds in regard to his late fight with the rebels under Gen. Lee, at Cheat Mountains, is published, and confirms previous accounts that the Union forces obtained a decided victory over the rebels.

Steamers Atlantic and Baltic were chartered at New York on Friday, by the U. S. Government, at $3000 per day for both.

Eighteen hundred regulars from Utah, under command of Col. St. George Cooke, arrived at Fort Leavenworth a few days ago

On Saturday last nine steamers were chartered at St. Louis by Gen. Fremont.—These, added to others already engaged, make a fleet of fourteen or fifteen steamers. The St. Louis Democrat says: "All we know of the destination of this formidable fleet is, that the boats have turned their noses up stream, and are undoubtedly bound for the Missouri river.

A portion of Gen. Franklin's division went out Friday morning on a foraging expedition, but the enemy would not accept the wager of battle.

The Kentucky Unionists ask for arms and ammunition, and they will take care of the rebels in their State.

The World's dispatch makes the following statement; The President forwarded an order releasing Frank Blair from arrest. Gen. Fremont wrote that he had no time to mature and present his charges against Col. Blair, when Mr. Lincoln at once took the above action.

The right bank of the Potomac begins to bristle with rebel batteries. They are planted now at Freestone Point, Occoquan Creek, Aquia Creek and Mathias Point.—Some are indeed formidable, and one is formidable, and one is provided with rifled guns, which threw hot shot clear across the river.

Vessels can no longer pass up and down the Potomac, without undergoing a destructive fire from the rebel batteries, and, virtually, navigation is closed.

The Government will take immediete measures to re-open it.

The rebels declare their intention to destroy the war steamship Pensacola, if she attempts to leave the Washington Navy Yard for sea.

Several persons are confined in private houses on Pennsylvania avenue, by order of the Government

The Fourth N. H. Regiment landed at Jersey City, Saturday, and left for Washington. The dispatch says they were armed with Enfield rifles; if so, they must have obtained them at New York. It was hoped, when they started, that they would be able to do so.

☞ The New Orleans papers publish a dispatch from Pensacola, Sept. 15, stating that the previous night, "a gunboat with fifteen Federals and a howitzer, crossed from Fort Pickens to the Navy Yard, and set fire to the guardboat, with the intention of burning the yard. The alarm was given in time to save the yard, and the Federals left, firing grape and cannister, wounding one. They were piloted by marines, who deserted four days since.

LATE AND IMPORTANT NEWS FROM ENGLAND.—Advices by the last steamer, just received here, prove conclusively that the English Government are determined to open cotton fields wherever the cultivation of that staple is at all practicable. They have, at last, made up their minds to the fact that this war is to go on until the rebellion is conquered,—that no peace will be tolerated except upon the basis of surrender and submission to the Constitution and the laws; and that, therefore, the blockade will be made more efficient than any that has ever been known. This may be called the end of the cotton monopoly in the Southern and slaveholding States. My informant, an American gentleman, now resident in Paris, of high distinction, assures me that, in five years, the end of the cotton monopoly in the Southern States will have been reached.—Philadelphia Press.

The N. Y. Herald's dispatch, of Saturday, says that Washington was full of rumors of battles on the Potomac, both by land and water.

☞ Hon. Wm. Appleton, of Boston, has sent in a resignation to Gov. Andrew, of his position as Representative to Congress.

DEPARTURE OF PRINCE NAPOLEON.—The Prince Napoleon set sail from Boston on Thursday morning in his yacht "Jerome Napoleon," for St. John, N. B. The yacht dipped her colors in compliment to the English steamer Europa, lying at East Boston, and the salute was returned. The Prince, after making a stop of a day or two at St. John, will return directly to France.

☞ Sergeant Harris Welch, who was shot in the back, in Boston, at a recruiting office, on Wednesda , by Capt. Wm. A. Treadwell, still lies in a critical condition at the Hospital. He entirely exonerates Capt. Treadwell from intention to shoot him, it is said, and those who know the Captain are inclined to relieve him from the responsibility of the encounter.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy union exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more stated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. R. IRWIN,
(Editor of the Odd Fellow.)

THE U. S. FLAG SHIP CONSTELLATION, Capt. Dornin, arrived at this naval station on Saturday, Sept. 28th, bearing the flag of Flag Officer Wm. Inman, commanding the U. S. African squadron.

The "Constellation" left Loanda on the 11th of August, and has been two years, two months and ten days on her cruise—having sailed from Boston on the 19th of July, 1859.

The "Constellation" has been 406 days at sea, has sailed 42,971 miles; and while on her station, the squadron has captured and sent home thirteen vessels—from five of which 8,594 slaves were taken and delivered to the agent of the United States, at Monrovia, Liberia.

☞ The National Fast Day, last Thursday, was better kept, and more generally observed, in this city, than any other which we remember: and judging from the newspapers elsewhere, it was generally observed throughout New England, and over the free States. Most of our churches were open, and a great many patriotic and valuable sermons were delivered; in some, only prayer and praise with scripture lessons were attended to. We suppose there has not been so quiet a fast, as to the streets, for many a year.

☞ Our readers will be glad of the chance to attend the Parlor Entertainment which is to be given at the Temple this (Monday) evening, by Messrs. Scott and Russell. It is sometime since we have had a concert in our city which offered such a fine selection of music; and all who appreciate good music will of course be there.

We understand they are to be assisted by Mr. J. M. Turner, the well known musical composer, and musical editor of the Waverly Magazine. Mr. Scott will sing, in character, the Marsellaise Hymn, also all the old and new national songs will be rendered in a style seldom equalled. We wish them a good house, as they are performers worthy of patronage.

THE BELL RINGERS.—It will be seen by advertisement, that the Peak family, the original Bell Ringers, are to give a concert on Tuesday evening. This announcement will be hailed with pleasure by the many who appreciate their peculiar and excellent entertainments, and rejoice in their success—the reward of years of incessant practice and labor. They have performed in Boston for the last four weeks, and with the greatest success. The Traveller says that "to an observing musician, it is interesting to note the remarkable precision with which they render the forte, and piano, crescendo, and diminuendo passages—all, in fact, that constitute expression in music. The full and fashionable audiences with which they have been favored, testify to the interest with which their fascinating performances are received by the community."

☞ The friends of Carpenter A. J. Hough, U. S. N., of this city, presented him with an elegant Sword and Belt on Thursday evening. He left home on Saturday, for the U. S. Ship Lancaster, at Panama, to which he is ordered.

☞ Mr. J. Rienzi Jenness, of the firm of Job Jenness & Son, Ocean House, Rye Beach, leaves New York in the steamer of this week, for California—where he is to engage in the hotel business—for which his long experience well qualifies him.

☞ A detachment of Marines was sent to Charlestown, Mass., on Thursday, from the Portsmouth Navy Yard. A large quantity of powder was sent last week, to the U. S. powder magazine at Chelsea, Mass.

☞ Ships Express, Orizimbo, and Alice Ball, seized at Eastport, have been discharged by order of the Secretary of the Treasury, and the libels against them discontinued.

☞ Wanted to complete files, a copy or two of the Daily Chronicle, Tuesday, Sept. 24.

☞ There is a destructive break in the high embankment of the old portion of the Erie Canal at Holley, Orleans couty, N. Y. The whole embankment is swept away. The bottom of the canal has also gone out to the depth of 80 feet.

☞ Paymaster Gallegher having given satisfactory security to the Government for the settlement of his accounts, embracing a long cruise in the West Indies service, at the Naval Academy and at the Washington Navy Yard, has been released from arrest.

LATEST.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE CHRONICLE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A collision between the two armies on the Potomac, it is generally conceded, cannot be postponed after the coming week.

Gen. Franklin's division, while on a foraging expedition to-day, captured seventy loads of hay and grain near Fairfax Seminary. This movement was considered a fair offer for general battle, but the rebels did not seem inclined to accept.

Gen. McClellan is well satisfied with his army, as regards discipline, order and health.

A company to-day visited the Mount Vernon estate of the late John A. Washington, and brought away 800 bushels wheat, 500 bushels of oats, and 75 barrels of fish.

WYANDOTTE, Kansas, 24th.—The Lieutenant and acting Governor has issued an order commanding every man in the State, between the ages of 18 and 45, capable of bearing arms, to immediately enroll and be in readiness for marching orders.

LEAVENWORTH, Mo., 28th.—Reliable reports say Gen. Lane made a forced march on Osceola, and captured a large supply train left by Gens. Price and Rains, together with $100,000.

Lane is now supposed to be on his way north, to join Gen. Sturgis. It is reported that a strong column of rebels are marching northward, their probable destination being St. Joseph.

All the organized companies of Kansas militia are ordered to rendezvous in this city immediately.

Gen. Price's forces, it is said, have been increased to 45,000. They had devastated the country for a circuit of over 20 miles. Ben McCulloch is probably moving toward Jefferson City. Col. Mulligan is not wounded, as reported.

☞ The druggist establishment of Messrs. Hay & Co., in Portland, narrowly escaped from destruction by fire on Friday evening. Mr. H. H. Hay, while writing at the desk, discovered a dense smoke arising from the cellar, and on investigating the cause, found that a quantity of phosphorus, packed in tin cans, had ignited. These cans, after the phosphorus is put into them, are filled with water in order to prevent a combustion of the substance. The rust had eaten holes in one of th m, by means of which the water escaped, and the air was admitted, causing ignition of the phosphorus. The burning material was quickly disposed of by immersion in water. It was a narrow escape.

☞ Three gun boats building at Mound City, near Cairo, for operations on the western rivers, and nearly completed, have been named the George B. McClellan, N. P. Banks and Joseph Holt — the latter name being chosen by the workmen.

☞ The wife of Mr. Wm. Cutter, of Hartford, Conn., while in a partially deranged state, caused by severe illness, a few nights since arose from her bed, at the side of which her husband had just fallen asleep from long watching, and leaned over a drop gas light till her breast, shoulders and one side of her face were so terribly burned, that she died in a few hours.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical debility, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by AMERICANISM.—This war will impart to us a higher patriotism, and a sounder nationality. We shall no longer be a conglomeration of nationalities, but the national flag will be far above all local symbols, and the constitution above all local governments; and whoever fights for these will no longer be Angle Saxon, Teuton, Celt, or Scandinavian; but we all—Yankee, German, Irish, Norwegian and Dane, shall be sifted down to thorough Americans.—Newburyport Herald.

SHILLING SONG BOOK, ORIOLA, GOLDEN WREATH, and other popular Music Books, for sale by JOSEPH H. FOSTER.

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

Or the New York Musical Review,

FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAFH, or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON's last similar work, published in 1856, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 56,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work. It, in fact, is a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, containing 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of this country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum.

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON's new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON's new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 33 in. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the times of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attended to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air betwen these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a truelive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and conveying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Deanett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas S. Cate, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

VOL. 19. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. TUESDAY, OCT. 1, 1861. NO. 51.

Morning Chronicle.

NEGRO REGIMENTS.—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Inquirer says there are eight full regiments of colored men, of a thousand men each, in Canada, and four more in Pennsylvania, whose services have been offered to the Government. These 12,000 men have not been accepted, but they have not been refused. Private assurances have been given to them that their services may be needed, and they have been encouraged to keep up their organization.

We met Rev. John Pierpont in town, dressed in the modest uniform of Chaplain, his hair, white as snow, falling below his rakish military cap, giving a strange appearance of "wintry age and youth," but the old man's form was as straight and his step as firm as though seventy-five years had not passed over his head.—Boston Eve. Gaz.

☞ It is stated that George Leary, Esq., of Staten Island, is owner of an extensive tract of land upon which the late battle of Bull Run was fought. As soon as the war is over, certain parties, with the consent of Mr. Leary, intend building an immense hotel there to accommodate the curious who will flock thither to inspect the battle field.

☞ In the Kanawha valley of Virginia, where are now the contending armies of Rosecrans and Lee, are situated inexhaustible beds of salt. This commodity is now very scarce in the South, and the possession of that valley becomes a prime necessity with the rebels.

☞ A teacher out west got himself into trouble the other day. A small boy came to him and complained that one of the girls had struck him. The teacher told him he ought to "return a kiss for a blow," and the little fellow attempted to make the return in school time. Hence, a rumpus among the parents.

A chain pump always forcibly reminds us of the efforts of some people to be benevolent. So long as you pull at the crank, the stream flows; but the instant you let up, away goes the water, and to recover it, a great many turns of the crank are necessary. —Brunswick Telegraph.

☞ The surveyorship in New-York is said to pay the holder, in dullest years, from $30,000 to $40,000 per annum, but this year of condemnation and confiscation will increase the sum to nearly a million.

☞ The local authorities of one of the Rhine provinces of France recently offered a premium of a penny a dozen for all field mice killed and produced; and very soon a hecatomb of 50,000 was piled up—the result of six days' work.

A captain of a rifle company was guilty of an unheard of barbarity on a cold day last winter. He marched his men to the very brink of the canal, and then coolly commanded them to "fall in."

☞ Michael T. Beecher, of Boston, was instantly killed by a locomotive, while walking on the track of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, near Cambridge. He was 65 years of age, and left a wife and two children.

☞ A gentleman of Concord, who has just returned from Washington, states that the army encamped about that city numbers, in the belief of good judges, nearly 225,000.

☞ An Iowa letter says:—"Every orchard here is loaded down with apples. We shall revel in them this winter: 25 to 30 cents per bushel. Corn, 16 cents a bushel; eggs, one cent per dozen; flour two dollars per hundred pounds. There is no market for anything."

☞ The Santa Fe Gazette of Aug. 17, says that Kit Carson is in command of the First Regiment of volunteers at Fort Union, and that much satisfaction is felt at their general appearance and efficiency.

☞ Within a radius of six miles from Charing Cross, London, there are 2,637 miles of streets. Since 1849 the number of houses has increased more than 60,000, and the streets 900 miles.

☞ A meeting was held in Portland on Saturday evening, to form an anti-tobacco society. Lovers of the weed, and all others, were invited to attend.

☞ The Hon. Geo. F. Shepley, one of the most prominent democrats in the State, is to be Colonel of the 12th Regiment of Maine Volunteers.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1861.

CONQUER, OR BE CONQUERED?

The question now is, whether the rebellion against the best government on earth shall be subdued, whether the free States shall be conquered and held in a state of vassalage to the Southern oligarchy,—or whether the government, the Constitution, even our national existence and liberties, shall be defended and preserved? All other questions are now submerged under the momentous issue to be decided by arms. The Southern leaders waged the war, and appealed to the sword to decide the issue, and it must be decided by the sword. To this momentous question all the loyal people of the Union will give one united response, and we trust are ready to make such sacrifices as the present and future exigencies may require.

The rights and liberties we now enjoy, have made us a great, powerful and prosperous nation, and the idea is not to be entertained for a moment that those sacred rights and liberties, which were baptized in blood, will be surrendered by the free population of twenty millions in our free States; but it is evident that in order to perpetuate them to the generations which will follow in the track of time, they must now be re-baptized in blood.

If they were worth the sacrifices our fathers made to obtain them, they are now worth still greater sacrifices to defend, enjoy and perpetuate them: for without them, and a free constitutional government, and wise laws in pursuance thereof, every intelligent person knows that life, property, and all we hold most dear, would be insecure. To be convinced of this truth, we need only look to the condition of the people under all arbitrary and despotic governments in the different quarters of the earth.

This unnatural, cruel, and unjust civil war, is forced upon us by the Southern oligarchy, in order to establish a different kind of government over us, upon the ruins of the mildest and best government which human wisdom ever cherished; and the new government, despotic in its features, is to be adapted to a state of slavery.

It is said by some of the few traitors among us, that the war might have been averted. But how? By yielding to the requirements and demands of the oligarchy, and electing that traitorous Breckinridge to the highest station in the Republic! The delegates of the Democratic party, in their national convention, manfully refused to put upon their necks the yoke of vassalage and degradation; and the party, with the exception of the advocates of slavery, is now firm and united with all other parties in the defense of the government and our national existence.

A crisis has now arisen in our national affairs, which but few, if any, could have anticipated. By making preparations for war for some years past, the Southern rulers have obtained some temporary advantages. But these should stimulate the united North to make more vigorous efforts.—The success of their army, in several instances, may have a tendency to protract the war; but their final defeat may be considered as certain as any future event can be.

To come to this conclusion, we need only look to the vast difference between the rebel and loyal States in respect to wealth, population, products, physical energies, and the material for war. And the free States have the command of the navy, the right arm of our defense, which will soon make some practical demonstrations on the seaboard. The blockade of the ports of entry will soon involve the rebel States on the coast in much distress. There will be no sale of their hundred millions, in value, of cotton; the English are receiving a supply from other parts of the world. There will be no sale of their other staples; therefore the price of slaves (their value has been estimated at over fifteen hundred millions) will rapidly depreciate. They cannot raise sufficient money, the sinews of war, to support their armies for another year; but holding the common people in subjection, they may, perhaps, compel them to serve without pay. They have raised a larger military force under some able and experienced generals, than we have supposed to be in their power.

Under the present exigencies, what is the duty and the interest of the twenty millions in our free States? It is certain that they must conquer, or be conquered. Inspired by the spirit of patriotism, three or four hundred thousand of our citizens have volunteered in the defense of the cause of their country. They have evinced their valor in the battles already fought; but battles more decisive may soon occur.

Sound policy requires that a more numerous and powerful army should be raised without delay, in order to strike a decisive blow—to crush the rebellion at once, and restore the blessings of peace. One million (that would be one person out of twenty) would constitute an invincible army. It will no longer answer to wait for volunteers. The Federal and State governments must immediately resort to the drafting system to supply all deficiencies in numbers. The government, as the agent of the people, may safely rely upon their patriotism.

NORTH.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——Fast Day was observed in Dover, by a mass meeting of all parties in favor of putting down the rebellion. It was an earnest, loyal and patriotic meeting, and indicated that old party lines will soon be broken up, and that our leading men will stand on one platform. Mayor Bickford, of that city, presided. The speakers were Senator Hale, Hon. John L. Lyman, Hon. Walter Harriman, Col. A. O. Brewster, and others.

——John F. Tasker, of Manchester, who was appointed to the naval school at Annapolis, by Hon. Mason W. Tappan, has been examined by the Board of Officers at Newport, (to which place the Naval Academy is removed,) and has received his commission as acting midshipman in the Navy.

—— Potatoes are sold at a shilling a bushel in Lisbon.

——Col. John H. George, who has been invited by Gen. Butler to raise a regiment in this State for special duty, positively declines the position.

—— During Thursday night, a man named Augustus Thorndike stole a pair of oxen belonging to the town of Henniker.—"Picket guards" were sent out as far as Concord, and the cattle were found in the yard of Andrew Jackson Glover, and Thorndike in Glover's house, near Camp Jackson. He took the oxen from the poor farm and drove them to Concord, and being weary, called upon Mr. G. to keep him over night, which Mr. G. consented to do, supposing he was the owner of the oxen.—Thorndike has but just completed a term at Warden Foss's Institution, and he remarked to the officer, after his arrest, that his chances for another term there were brilliant.

——David Norton, of Candia, has all of his sons, Wm. C., David T., Rich'd E., and Henry C.—in the Union army. Mr. Norton served in the war of 1812, and was on duty at Marblehead when the ship Constitution was chased into port by two British 74 gun ships. His father, Mr. Simon Norton, who was born at Chester, in 1760, enlisted when fifteen years of age, and served throughout the Revolutionary war. He was in the battles at Bunker Hill and Bennington, and went South under Gen. Washington. In 1775 and 1776 he was in Breed's Regiment, under Capt. Emerson of Candia. Henry C., the youngest son, 17 years old, was in the battle of Bull Run under Col. Marston, of the N. H. Second, and was there wounded by a rifle ball. The ball tore away his hat-band, and glancing along the skull several inches, lodged there, and was not extracted till he reached Washington—he walking the whole distance. The next morning the brave young soldier was ready for duty. Neither Mr. Norton nor his father ever received a pension. Such patriotism is worthy of record.

——Mrs. Mary Ann Stickney, of Concord, entered, last week, upon her ninetieth year. Her mind is clear, and she takes great interest in the occurrences of the times. She also derives much satisfaction in the company of young people, and to several misses who were at her dwelling on Monday evening last, she stated a few facts which will amuse people of this generation. She said that her first calico dress was $1.50 a yard, and she earned it in the following way:—Her brothers were seafaring people, and carried a considerable quantity of corn, with which to feed the fowls on board. This corn she shelled, and in addition knit fourteen pairs of long stockings for the sailors. She said there was so little work in ladies' dresses of those times, that a dressmaker could cut and baste five in a day, and never received more than fifty cents for a day's work. All their woollen dresses were of domestic manufacture; and one winter her mother made her daughters' dresses, which were colored with hemlock bark and otter. As the wool was dyed in the warp, the dresses were striped brown and yellow. They were considered quite handsome, and the neighbors came to obtain patterns. Other dresses were made in imitation, and they became quite the fashion in Exeter.

—— A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Epping, without distinction of party, was held in the Congregational Meeting House, at the Corner, last Friday evening. Charles W. Norris, Esq., presided, and patriotic speeches were made by Rev. J. H. Stearns, of Epping; Rev. Mr. Lamphear, and Alva Wood, Esq., of Exeter; and Lieut. W. H. Pearson, who is recruiting for the army. Epping has sent to the war about thirty of her citizens, and more are ready to go. Capt. F. E. Bean has lately organized a company of citizen soldiery; they drill weekly, and are expecting to attend some of the fall reviews now in prospect.

☞ The latest advices from California are to the 14th ult. The election returns, which are nearly complete, show a Union vote of about 83,000, against a secession vote of 34,000. Two counties in the southern part of the State, gave a majority for the Breckinridge candidate.

☞ It is reported that that Mr. Russell is so much offended by Mr. Seward's state memorandum that he will not remain much longer in this country.

THE REBELLION.

The rebel forces have evacuated Munson's Hill and other of their advanced posts in front of Washington, and these positions have been occupied by the Federal troops. While on the march from Chain Bridge, above Washington, towards Fall's Church, a Philadelphia regiment by mistake fired into another body of Union troops, killing and wounding a considerable number.

The conduct of the Federal troops while occupying the grounds vacated by the enemy, resulted in the burning of property to the amount of from $30,000 to $40,000, including houses with their contents, but which were untenanted. No distinction was made as to the political character of their owners. These acts were strongly condemned by Gen. McClellan.

A special correspondent thinks the rebels are preparing to cross the Potomac, but it seems probable that by their feint of retiring, they are trying to draw our forces into an ambuscade.

The thanks of the Kentucky General Assembly have been voted to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, for aid in arresting the invasion of Kentucky.

Troops have been going up the river from Louisville, Ky., in large numbers during the past week, expecting to meet, and hoping to subdue, the rebel General Price. A small number of the deposed Jackson Legislature met at Lexington, Mo., and passed an ordinance of secession.

The rebel privateer Judith was captured and burned by a boat expedition from the U. S. steamship Colorado, near Pensacola, on the 14th inst. The Colorado's men suffered a loss of 3 killed and 15 wounded.

Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania has issued a proclamation forbidding the enlistment of volunteers in that State for regiments in other States.

Col. Mulligan's regiment has reached St. Louis.

Maj. Gen. B. F. Butler left Boston Saturday evening for Washington.

The Military Board for the examination of the qualifications of volunteer officers is still in session. About forty officers have passed a successful examination, and a few have been rejected.

Gen. McClellan has issued an order complimenting very highly the condition of the army as regards its discipline, good order and health.

The rebel farmers along the lines are the parties mostly engaged in shooting our pickets, and many of them have been arrested.

A correspondent of the Manchester Union, says "Gen. Sherman's brigade is now full and consists of the New Hampshire 3d, Maine 8th, and New York 46th and 48th regiments—Cols. Fellows, Strickland, More, Rosa and Perry—Gen. Viele commanding. They are all encamped with the New Hampshire 3d, about a mile east of the Capital. Our sojourn in Washington, it is now thought, will be brief, a fortnight longer being the time fixed upon by those who are best at guessing. At the end of that time we shall probably go back to Long Island, where our teams and tents are still remaining."

NAVAL.—It is expected that the new sloop-of-war Housatonic will be launched at Charlestown on Saturday next.

Com. J. P. Gillis has been ordered to assume command of the gunboat Seminole, now doing duty in the Potomac, and Lieut. D. L. Braine has been placed in command of the Monticello.

The gunboats Rhode Island, Lieutenant Trenchard, and Connecticut, Com. Woodhull, arrived at New York Sept. 28th from Fort Pickens.

The frigate Potomac, Capt. Powell, arrived at Key West Sept. 22d.

☞ The Boston Courier states that the Constellation, while on the Coast of Africa, outsailed every vessel she fell in with, and has beaten H. M. steamer Archer while she was under steam and canvas. The C. frequently left Loando on a cruise, with the Portsmouth in company, but the latter was never able to keep up. After the Saratoga arrived, with her bottom smooth, &c., the C. being foul, the C. easily ran away from her, leaving her hull down in five hours' sailing.

BRECKINRIDGE.—The Cincinnati Gazette says Breckinridge is about forty or fifty miles above Richmond, Ky., in the mountains, where it is said he has a force of 2800 men under constant drill.

Another report says he was last seen going through Mount Sterling, Kentucky, in a buggy—closely muffled. Some of the State Guards were on his heels, hoping to come up with him.

VERMONT ITEMS.—Patrick Bropley, an aged citizen of Dorset, was killed on Tuesday of last week by falling from a load of grain. He struck on his head, dislocating his neck.

Rev. J. D. Cargill, formerly pastor of the Universalist society of Woodstock, has enlisted as a private in the Richmond Company, Fifth Regiment.

☞ Gen. Butler says he has 3000 men enlisted for his division, in Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont.

☞ The privateer Somter was off the harbor of Cayenne, on the 15th Aug., and sent a boat ashore, but was refused admittance, on account of not having a bill of health. The captain would not submit to five days' quarantine, and left on the 16th.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

Local.

☞ Rev. Mr. Peirce, chaplain of one of the New York regiments which was engaged in the battle at Bull Run, gave a stirring patriotic address on Sunday evening, in the Middle street Baptist Church, to a crowded house.

His account of the battle and rout, were graphic and life-like; and his appeals to the patriot and christian to aid in carrying on the "holy war," were full of eloquent truth and sincerity. He defended the government in its most active and stringent measures; and thought the terrible loss in the battle had been productive of great good in discovering and revealing the traitors all over the land, who began at that time to whisper and mutter about peace and compromise with the rebels. They should be gagged, he said, till the war was over.

As to the habeas corpus excitement, he supposed the case of a ship at sea in a gale of wind—about half the crew mutinous—and one of the friendly sailors, with an auger in his hand, asks leave of the captain to bore a few holes in the lower timbers, to see if they are sound,—to which the captain replies by knocking the man down! The audience made the application,—that it served him right.

The speaker urged prompt, vigorous and persistent effort of all good people to put down the rebellion—at whatever cost of treasure or life.

☞ Dep. U. S. Marshal Adams leaves here to-day, for Fort Lafayette, with two resigned officers formerly in the naval service, who have arrived in the U. S. ships Portsmouth and Constellation, at this naval station, during the past week.

☞ The roof of the depot of the Eastern railroad in this city, caught fire on Monday afternoon, probably from a spark from an engine, but the fire being discovered it was extinguished with a few buckets of water.

☞ Hon. Frank Fuller, and Mr. I. R. Thompson of this city, arrived at Great Salt Lake City, Utah, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 10th, by the Eastern Mail Stage.—They were accompanied by S. R. Fox, Esq. of Wisconsin, recently appointed Surveyor General of Utah.

☞ It will be seen that the Peak Family are to give one of their "ringing" Concerts, this evening. Not only do they keep at the peak of their profession as Bell-Ringers, &c.; but in these times they show the flag of their country at the peak, to the best advantage, by the patriotic, national turn they give their entertainment.

It is stated that the central portion of Osceola, Mo., was burnt by the Union troops under Gen. Lane, because the rebels had fired on the troops from windows. Gen. Price's official report of the battle at Lexington says they (the rebels) took about 3500 prisoners, a large amount of property, the great seal of the State, and the public records. All the federal officers, but Col. Mulligan, have been released on parole. Our troops had no cartridges, grape, shot or shell left at the time of the surrender, but lost two or three hundred kegs of powder. The rebels are casting all kinds of balls at Lexington; the foundry is running day and night. It is reported that 10,000 rebels were sent from Lexington, Thursday, to attack Gen. Lane, who is said to be on the other side of the river.

The rebels, under Zollicoffer, have taken Manchester, Clay Co., Ky. The rebel force in Kentucky under Humphrey Marshall has disbanded and gone home.

An expedition from the blockading squadron at New Orleans, Sept. 19, proceeded to Pass a l'Outre, and destroyed the telegraph line which communicated with the city, and by which information was given of the movements of the squadron.—A large part of the cable and the telegraph instruments were obtained and carried on board the U. S. steamer Richmond, Capt. Pope.

☞ Volume 13 of the New American Cyclopædia, comprising numbers 37, 38 and 39, is just published. This valuable work is already too well-known and we trust appreciated, to require a lengthy notice of its merits. Among the living characters of whom biographies are given in this volume, are Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody, Hiram Powers, Wendell Phillips, John Pierpont, Henry J. Raymond, and Pope Pius IX.—Among the contributors are Prof. T. Parsons, Rev. F. H. Hedge, W. Gilmore Simns, Edmond Quincy, Wm. L. Symonds, and many others, whose previous communications have contributed much to the success of this work.

Mr. J. H. Foster receives subscriptions for the work and supplies the volumes as soon as issued by Messrs. Appleton & Co., New York.

PATRIOTIC LECTURE.

REV. S. E. PIERCE, who was in the battle at Bull Run, and Chaplain of the Y. Y. 71st Regiment—will by request deliver a discourse on the War, at the Temple, on Wednesday Evening, Oct. 2d, at half-past 7. All are invited to attend.

☞ Cheseborough's Kerosene Oil Works at Red Hook, Brooklyn, were burnt Friday night. Loss $30,000. The fire is said to have originated from the escape of vapor from a still, which became ignited, and in less than five minutes the flames had spread throughout the building.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the large joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus serving to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and persevering-ly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole systems invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; whom, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their testimonials should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

U. S. LOAN NOTICE.

Pursuant to instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, a book will be opened on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

At the Piscataqua Exchange Bank,

IN THIS CITY,

For subscriptions under my superintendence for Treasury Notes, to be issued under the act of July 17, 1861. These notes will be issued in sums of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, and five thousand dollars each, dated 19th August, 1861, payable three years after date to the order of the subscriber or as directed, and bearing interest at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; such interest being at the rate of two cents for each day on every hundred dollars. For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum can be received. Subscriptions of fifty dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coin of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one-third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon; to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will remain until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon from the 19th August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

The Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, and will linn and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus enabling females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to assist in heating upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 19 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on MAXIMS OF WISDOM.—Some of Rarey's sayings are maxims of wisdom. For instance:—"Nature never lies. The horse is honest. The mind of a horse governs a horse, as the mind of a man governs a man. If you wish, therefore, to get control of a horse's body, first learn to direct his mind. The gentle touch is more powerful than blows. Women are better drivers than men, because they have a gentler touch.—Firmness and kindness are all the magic there is in my method. Fear is an enemy in the mind of his driver is instantly known to the horse."

A California letter thus speaks of the fruit in that prolific State: "Our fruit season is at its flood. Peaches have been a drug. Superb ones at seventy-five cents a basket. Plums, glorious. Pears, plenty as potatoes. Figs delicious, and almost nothing. Melons lying loose about the streets. Grapes darken the sidewalks. The dearest fruit is apples."

He who thinks he can do without others, is mistaken; but he who thinks others cannot do without him, is still more mistaken.

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

Aid for the speedy cure of the following complaints.

Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

OAKLAND, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co. GENTS: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, it has followed them it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it coursed inward and disturbed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and care with one sore, which was pilloried and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and many physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was induced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent for Sarsaparilla and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully. Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by the same agent; says he cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhea or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes; "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhea by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes, "A dangerous ovarian tumor on one of the females in my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physicians thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 25th August, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Tertiary and Secondary Diseases. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another case was attended by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. He has yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla: the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

DR. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM.

Jules Y. Gotchell, of St. Louis, writes: "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Espy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough for you."

Scirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the necessities of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy to their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the doubtful fatality of those disorders, and as they know, too, the efficacy of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtue that it did here when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

HOUSE FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT,

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking or roasting.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the other they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The front door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without degrading his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

THE GREAT EASTERN.—Mr. Howard Paul, the comedian and dramatist, who came passenger in the Persia, furnishes the following particulars concerning the recent disaster to the Great Eastern:—

We met the Great Eastern Monday, Sept. 16, at 11 o'clock, A. M., 112 miles from Queenstown. She was rolling very badly, had lost both of her paddle wheels; the whole of her boats (with the exception of two) on her port side were stove in or disabled, and the rudder head being carried away, she was steering for home with her rudder chains.

Large ropes were stretched across from bulwark to bulwark for the passengers to cling to, and the rolling was so fearful that at one moment the great ship revealed the whole of her decks at a most distressing angle, and the next the bilge was plainly visible. On discovering the plight of the vessel Capt. Judkins hoisted a signal—"Do you require aid?" which was only replied to by a large board being displayed on the paddle-box; but the characters thereon could not be deciphered. The Great Eastern still kept on her course, working with her screw, and for twenty minutes the Persia followed her in order to get an answer to her signal.

The passengers of the Great Eastern, (about 400) were scattered over the decks, all straining anxiously forward to catch a view of the Persia. The ladies waved their handkerchiefs, the men their hats, and, notwithstanding the extraordinary roll of the vessel, the utmost enthusiasm seemed to be manifested by her passengers. Up to this time no answer had been given to the signal of the Persia, and as she dipped her ensign and turned her head away, another board was elevated from the paddle-box of the Great Eastern, but even with aid of glasses the characters could not be distinguished.

During this time the Great Eastern had not slackened her speed; when the Persia got some distance from her, she hoisted the signal "Come within hail;" but Capt. Judkins said he had followed her for half an hour, asked if she required aid, and received no reply in the usual manner, and he could lose no further time by again putting back. She must have experienced a tremendous gale to have met with the disasters that had overtaken her.

FIRE AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—At Fort Kent, Me., 14th inst., the house, barn and out buildings of Peter Clare were destroyed by fire. The Aroostook Pioneer states that after the fire Mr. Clare went down into his well to remove some rubbish, when he was overcome by noxious gases and fell insensible. Another person who went to his assistance fell before getting half way down, and striking his head upon a rock, was killed instantly. Both were got out after a good deal of exertion, and Mr. Clare was resuscitated with difficulty.

☞ On Wednesday night last Charles, eleven years of age, son of Mr. Charles Gardner, of Gloucester, Mass., arose in his sleep and walked unconsciously from his room to the entry, where he fell over the balusters, striking his head against the post at the foot of the stairway, and from thence falling to the floor, badly fracturing his skull, and injuring him so that his recovery is despaired of.

MEDICAL SCHOOL OF MAINE.—Dr. W. C. Robinson of Portland has been elected Lecturer on Materia Medica and Therapeutics in the Medical Department of Bowdoin College, to fill the vacancy made by the removal of Prof. Dana to the chair of Theory and Practice of Medicine. The condition of this institution has been improved by a liberal grant from the State; and an elegant and commodious college building is now in the process of erection, to be dedicated at the opening of the next course of lectures.

☞ The Lynn Bay State (Democrat) nobly says:—

"We will join hands with Butler and Wilson, with Cushing, Andrew, Hallet, and Sumner, with anybody and everybody, however much we may have, heretofore, differed on political questions or party policy; and do nothing whereby the rebels can lay the flattering unction to their souls that the North is divided. The North must be united, that the Union may be preserved."

THE YANKEE CHARACTER.—Jeffrey, the celebrated British Reviewer, once remarked that it was his firm belief that if a premium of a thousand dollars were offered for the best translation of a Greek Bible, it would be taken by a Yankee, who, till the offer was made, had never seen a word of Greek in his life; that he would commence learning the language, and would bear off the premium.

☞ The Yarmouth (Mass.) Register says farmers represent in that vicinity the yield of potatoes is not so large by a third, as it was last year, and that the rot is so extensive on some ground that the value of the seed will hardly be realized. Corn promises well, and the harvest of rye and oats has been satisfactory.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1861.

SOUTH SIDE'S VIEW.

Rev. Nehemiah Adams, D. D., of Boston, is widely known as the author of South Side Views of Slavery. In his sermon on the National Fast day, he speaks, as we expect him to speak, in a mild way, about sectional agitation, and the dangers and difficulties of sudden or forcible emancipation. But he also says some other things, worth copying; and we find room for two or three brief extracts, as follows:—

Those have never seemed to go deep enough into human nature, who impute the action of these ten or twelve States to disappointed political ambition. The great original of all this trouble, is the conscientious opposition of the people of the free States to the relation of ownership in man. It is this repugnance and opposition which make it difficult for us to see how we can do otherwise than repel and alienate each other, for two generations at least, if in the meantime we do not both perish.

Mr. Adams, here, states about half of the case. It is very true that many of the people in the free States have a conscientious repugnance to chattel slavery—and so they had fifty years ago,—but at that time, outside South Carolina, there was, in all the States, a general impression that slavery was a temporary evil, to be removed,—and not a benefit, to be made paramount and perpetual in the country. There were individuals, even in South Carolina, then, and long since, who wished slavery to cease.

But the Calhoun school, who tried to nullify the revenue laws, who controlled the post office, who annexed Texas to strengthen slavery, and who broke up the democratic party for the same purpose,—they wish to base government on negro slavery, and are making war upon us to-day, that they may rule us by means of their negro slaves; and they aim to rule us, the working white men of the North, by the same despotic and aristocratic domination that they exercise upon the black workingmen of the South.

What Mr. Adams says of the battle, in the following sentences, is worthy of attention.

And now we must do battle, probably, till either the relation of the South to the black man is forcibly changed, or the North generally concludes that Christian consciences at the South are as enlightened as ours.—This is truly a war for the Union, and many believe that it will be successfully a war for Christian union. This war will make us charitable; lead us to know each other better; fear each other with a wholesome fear; respect each other; and we may yet be proud of each other before the world.

We have no doubt that Christian consciences at the South, are as good as any here or elsewhere. But for the "christian conscience" of Brooks and Butler, of Mason the perjurer and Floyd the thief, of Cobb and Breckinridge, and the repudiators and traitors generally, the democrats of the North to-day have but small respect.

With Mr. Adams, we think it highly probable that "we must do battle till the relation of the South to the black man is forcibly changed."

No writer we think has stated this matter more plainly. The cotton aristocracy seek to rule us on the negro driver plan, and they make war and turn pirates and thieves and incendiaries, in order to do it.

We stand on the defensive!—it is well if we can do so successfully! But the enemy presses—and why should we not strike back?

Suppose we invade South Carolina, Charleston harbor, perhaps, or some smaller places on the coast, where troops could land, seize cotton, free negroes and make confusion generally.

It might not be exactly according to the act of confiscation,—but a military necessity may call for it,—and moral justice would say Amen.

Mr. Adams says:—"The desire for reunion is growing intense, and there is getting to be as impatient a feeling toward Northern disunionists as toward Southern. The noble stand which our Administration maintains on this subject, puts strength and courage into every loyal heart. If in the providence of God the relation of the negro to the white race here, becomes changed by this war, consistently with his good and that of all concerned, who, South and North, will not say Amen? But deal violently, and 'that which is crushed breaketh forth into a viper.' O that God would in mercy raise up some who shall turn us into the ways of peace! We shall soon forget that we have quarrelled, if we agree in good season. * * * *

"But why should I be musing after this manner, when the war news already arrived may change the whole current of our thoughts? 'There is a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing.' I will adopt the recent sentiment of a Kentucky Union legislator: 'If the alternative is forced upon me to conquer or be conquered, I prefer to conquer.' He expressed the sentiment of his noble State and of our Administration."

☞ Rev. Willard Spaulding, of Salem, Mass., in a patriotic sermon on Fast Day, stated that seventy-five young men had gone to the war from his society, (the Universalist,)—and he urged the young men present to join them in the ranks of the army.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1861.

Messrs. Editors,—There is a marriage in "high life" coming, which bids fair to rival the famous Diamond Wedding some time since. The parties directly interested, are a gentleman late in the carpet trade on Broadway, and the divorced wife of a wealthy government contractor; the points of indirect interest being a residence in "London Terrace," and several hundred thousand dollars.

The cards for the ceremony, which will take place on Tuesday next, Oct. 1st, were issued about two weeks since, and are most artistically arranged,—two "carte personelles," with a "church" card and the "At Home" bit of pasteboard.

The bride's dress is furnished by Stewart, and will cost, exclusive of any jewel or ornament, $10,000. It is to be of "point lace" with a bertha, the number of yards required to cover the lady, being nearly as fabulous as the price.

After the wedding there will be a grand supper, for which special invitations have been issued to several hundred friends.—Who would'n't marry $200,000?

Fast day was more generally observed in this city than any similar day for several years. Stores were closed, and our business streets donned their Sabbath-day attire,—so also did the belles, who whipped along the avenues and sparkled in the parks.

One of a party of three we visited the "Central," where full 20,000 people were congregated, enjoying Nature improved and diversified. Tho' we have many times rambled through the walks and over the lawns, rested in picturesque summer-houses nestling in the shadows of towering pines, and green leaved firs, and explored dark, deep caves subterranean, yet on each visit we wander to new scenes by winding paths, before unknown. We found a little pond into which meandered a crystal rivulet, murmuring a merry parting song as it left its rocky bed. Farther on we encountered a vine clad rustic cottage with retiring and toilet apartments for gentlemen, replete with every convenience. Then, our afternoon expired, we joined the procession of beauty, rolling in chariots, and on foot, till we reached the entrance, and thence proceeded by rail to the heart of the city behind two car nags, who had apparently been born on a Fast day, lived on Fast days ever since, and were going to die on Fast day provided the President named one at a sufficiently early date. NEWINGTON.

NAVAL.—At the Charlestown Navy Yard the steam sloop-of-war Mohican is to be got ready for sea with all dispatch, and she will be fully prepared in about ten days. The new oath of allegiance was on Saturday administered to the officers and crew, not one of whom hesitated to renew his oath of fealty to the Federal Government.—There are now 2731 men employed in the yard, which number will not be materially increased. As the ships now fitting out are being nearly completed, the necessity for mechanics will be diminished.

The most contradictory opinions prevail in regard to the withdrawal of Capt. S. H. Stringham from active service. A gentleman usually well informed on naval matters, states that Capt. Paulding, who has been at Washington the past few months, for the purpose of giving counsel to the department, is to go to New York to relieve Capt. Breeze, and Capt. Stringham will remain in Washington to aid in arranging the contemplated naval expeditions to the Southern coast.

Accounts from the mouth of the Mississippi to Sept. 20, state that as soon as sand bags are received from Tortugas, the crew of the U. S. steamer Richmond will commence erecting a battery, to mount 13 guns, at the junction of the S. S. E. Pass and Pass a l'Outre, which will command the passage of that part of the river.

U. S. ship Preble, Commander French, was at anchor off the Chandeleur Islands, Gulf of Mexico, Sept. 16. The steamer Massachusetts was also there. The crews had landed and thrown up batteries on the island, put guns ashore and relighted the Light.

The vessel destroyed in the harbor of Pensacola by the expedition from the steamer Colorado was the steamer Lady Davis, the flag vessel of Com. Renshaw of the C. S. N. She was formerly the U. S. steamer Fire Fly of the Coast Survey. A 10 inch Columbiad was spiked at the Navy Yard at the same time.

U. S. sloop of war Marion, from Portsmouth, N. H., arrived off the Chandeleur Island, Sept. 16. Her captain, Ball, died suddenly between Key West and Pensacola, and Lieut. Bryant was detached from the Richmond to take command.

☞ The New Orleans Crescent boasts of the business of the city, and says that within the last two weeks there have been seven or eight large dealers there from Richmond, buying supplies for their houses, and establishing trade relations with the merchants of New Orleans. The stock of cotton on the 16th ult. was 10,401 bales. Sugar sold at 8 1-2 to 9c.; molasses, 32c.; flour, forty dollars per bbl.; bacon, 18 to 21c. per lb; lard, 23 to 25c.; hay, fifty dollars per ton.

THE REBELLION.

With a view to check outrages by our troops at Falls Church, the commanding officers have issued verbal orders to shoot down any man who may be caught in the incendiary act.

The advance of our army is slow and cautious. It is believed that the rebels are concentrating between Aquia Creek and Manassas, with their right wing on the Potomac.

It is reported that two Maryland regiments have seceded from Beauregard's command.

Dispatches from the West indicate great activity on the part of the rebels. The opinion seems to be that unless Fremont can bring 50,000 men into the field, his defeat is almost certain. The victory at Lexington has added 25,000 men to the secession army. News is brought of rebel depredations in all parts of the West.

Later reports state that Price is retreating from Lexington, Mo., with a fair prospect of being cut off by Gen. Fremont.

Gen. Pillow is reported to be marching on Paducah, Ky., with a strong force. This place has been fortified by the Union troops under Gen. Grant, and a bridge of boats is just completed, connecting the town with the Illinois side of the Ohio. If attacked, Gen. Grant will be able to make a good defence.

James B. Clay has been admitted to bail in $20,000 to appear at the January term.

Rochester, or Green River, Ky., has been taken possession of by rebel troops to the number of 4000, including a Mississippi regiment.

A dispatch from Washington states that from facts obtained there, it appears that on Wednesday Gen. Fremont released Col. Blair from arrest, using language in the order tantamount to a defiance to the Col. to present his charges formally. On Thursday, Col. B. did present them, in response to the defiance. Thereupon Gen. F. immediately arrested Col. B. and sent him to Jefferson barracks. On Friday night, the telegraph was allowed to communicate the fact that Col. B. had been freed from arrest the previous Wednesday, but the offensive paragraph in the order of release was suppressed, and the fact of Col. B.'s second arrest was withheld. The army regulations allow no officer to be arrested for a longer period than eight days without charges being preferred. Gen. F. disregarded the regulations in this case. The great fact in relation to this case, is, that Gen. Scott on Monday ordered the unconditional discharge of Col. Blair.

The telegraph states that a number of volunteers left Hamilton, Canada, on Monday, to join Col. Rankin's regiment of cavalry at Detroit. It is rumored that a bounty is paid and free passage to Detroit given the men.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says it was determined on Friday, at a council of war held at the headquarters of Gen. Scott, that an advance should be made, and within four hours afterward the enemy prepared for flight. This may be a coincidence, but it is more likely that information of our intended movement was carried directly to the rebel camp. Rebel spies abound at Washington still.

A powerful squadron is blockading Freestone Point and Occoquan Creek, and a number of steamers are near Aquia Creek.

It is believed that a large part of the rebel force in Virginia have been sent to Kentucky by railroad via Nashville.

It is stated by way of Cincinnati that Gen. Thomas, at "Camp Dick Robinson," telegraphed to Gen. Anderson at Louisville, that the rebels are at Loudon, Ky., about fifty miles southward of him, approaching in force. Anderson telegraphed for reinforcements.

All reports from Lexington, Mo., corroborate the opinion that the rebels intend to keep their main force there, but it is stated that several small bodies of rebel troops have left there within a few days for the north and west, but it is not known for what purpose.

The rebels have not lately sent any of their troops to the Upper Potomac but have merely retired further into Virginia. Their lines extend from Occoquan and Manassas, to Fairfax Court House, Manassas evidently being their basis of operations. A large force of Union telegraph and bridge builders were working, Tuesday, on the Virginia side of the Potomac. Our army is in readiness for an immediate march.—There were no signs of any moves of the rebels, Tuesday.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

Local.

☞ We trust that before another week has passed, arrangements will be fully completed for holding a grand Union Meeting in this city. The present seems a very favorable time for holding such a meeting, and we feel assured its result would be decidedly beneficial. America calls upon each one of her true and loyal sons for aid, and earnest, patriotic words may advance her interests where arms need not be used. In this day of our nation's great trial, no instrumentality should be neglected, which can change an opponent or lukewarm friend into an earnest and devoted supporter of the Government.

By such a meeting, the people may become more fully informed of the real questions at issue, and of the real objects in view. There may yet be some liability to misapprehension on this point, and at a time when it is so necessary that all should be cordial and earnest in their labors for the maintenance of the Union and of the Government, it is well to do all that is possible to remove even the slightest obstacle to the attainment of such a result.

Open, free discussion is the life and soul of the federal strength; depending upon the people for support, the government must make common cause with the people, and it calls upon each and every citizen to take an intelligible interest in the progress of events.

A Union Meeting will have the effect of giving a new impetus to enlistments, of hastening the taking up of the national loan, of strengthening and extending the patriotic feelings of the people. All these objects are worthy of consideration. No man can tell how long civil war will rage in our land, and we ought to be prepared for the worst aspect of the case.

Such preparations can best be made through the instrumentality of public discussion in which the causes and the objects of the war shall be made manifest. These causes and objects more fully understood, the people will not stoop to impose conditions on the Government, but will support the Government until its day of perfect triumph, whether that day be near or remote.

THE NEW STATE LOAN.—We learn that the bids for the new State loan of one million dollars, ranged from 98 to 101 1-2 per cent. All below par were rejected, amounting to $66,500. At par the bids covered $598,000: between par and 100 5-100, covered $577,000; above 100 5-100, $16,000.

☞ Deputy U. S. Marshal Adams left this city for Boston, Tuesday morning, in company with ex-Deputy Marshal Hackett, having in charge Lieut. Henry K. Stevens, late of the U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth, and Lieuts. Benj. P. Loyall and W. R. Butts, late of U. S. corvette Constellation. These officers are Virginians, and have refused to take the required oath of allegiance, but have not resigned. They were taken to Fort Lafayette, by order of the Secretary of the Navy, in charge of U. S. Marshal Ela of New Hampshire.

The above officers all have relatives in Virginia, against whom they do not wish to be compelled to fight, as they might be required to do if they took oath of allegiance. Butts has brothers in the Southern army, and had just been promoted to a Lieutenancy which he forfeits. They all have but limited ideas of the present condition of affairs here, owing to their long absence on the coast of Africa.

☞ We have news from the City of Mexico to Sept. 2d, and from Caraccas, Venezuela, to the 7th. From the former we learn that Comonfort had arrived in the interior, and was well received by the people. His position, however, is extremely perilous. From Caraccas we hear that Dr. Gual, acting President, had refused to resign, and had been imprisoned, while the country generally seemed more disturbed than ever.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says no early or important movement is to be made on either side. It is believed that Gen. McClellan has, by his skillful dispositions, accomplished the great object of the campaign in this quarter, that is, to hold the large Confederate army in check and thus render it ineffectual for any purpose, while naval operations are to be conducted on the southern coast.

☞ The New York Times, in an article on privateering, remarks that the number of these pirates has been greatly exaggerated. This is certainly a fair inference from facts that are now patent. Since the Jeff. Davis was wrecked, and the Sumter got a hint that United States vessels were after her, we have heard nothing of any captures at sea by the privateers. The capture of Fort Hatteras, and the destruction of the fort at Ocracoke, with the presence of our vessels in that neighborhood, has added to the causes of the disappearance of these ocean brigands.

☞ The reported letting out of contracts for building iron clad steamers for the naval service, is premature.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather, thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be safely inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are anxious that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in 'ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL.'" Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

U. S. LOAN NOTICE.

Pursuant to instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, a book will be opened on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

At the Piscataqua Exchange Bank,
IN THIS CITY,

For subscriptions under my superintendence for Treasury Notes, to be issued under the act of July 17, 1861. These notes will be issued in sums of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, and five thousand dollars each, dated 19th August, 1861, payable three years after date to the order of the subscriber or as directed, and bearing interest at the rate of 7 3-10 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; such interest being at the rate of two cents for each day on every hundred dollars. For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum can be received. Subscriptions of fifty dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coin of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one-third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will remain until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon since the 19th August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

The Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

A DEMOCRATIC OPINION.—The Philadelphia Press, in recurring to the noble union stand taken by Democratic leaders, both of the Douglas and Breckinridge branches, comes to the following general conclusion, which we commend to the Democratic masses of this State:—

"It is the traders in politics alone that insist upon maintaining party nominations and organizations. Those who demand that the Democrats should put up separate tickets are simply preparing to take advantage of any disaster that may befall our armies, in order to demoralize the cause and give aid and comfort to the common enemy."

George Thompson, the "Greenhorn" of yellow covered literature, ended his earthly career on Thursday night by hanging himself in his cell at the House of Correction, where he was serving a sentence of six months as a common drunkard.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is
STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the latest improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal fire. Or, if it be to be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined at will, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, during the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a portmanteau RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CUPBOARD, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Cooking is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being constricted to it from both sides of the fire box, and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the daft steamer drop, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last, and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Dash Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, who, praising the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as being and discarding a true Stewart, had not one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY
THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,
Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these places, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and the jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

STOVES.

1861. MAGEE'S PATENT COOKING STOVE. 1861.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

MAGEE'S
For Wood or Coal,
Operating on the same principle as the celebrated
MAGEE PARLOR STOVE

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

THE MAGEE PARLOR
VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING
STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

We have on hond many other kinds of COOK STOVES, which are well known in this vicinity, among which are

THE GOOD SAMARITAN,
BOSTON AND MAINE,
TRIUMPH, CLIPPER, EMPIRE STATE,
KITCHEN QUEEN, DAYLIGHT,
WHITE MOUNTAIN, &c.,
For Wood or Coal.

We also offer for sale, the COUNT, SPARTAN, CORAL, FAVORITE, TRIUMPH, LEADER, &c., with a variety of SHEET IRON STOVES, with or without ovens; CYLINDER AND BOX STOVES, of all sizes and prices, and a general assortment of

HOUSE-KEEPING ARTICLES,

All of which will be sold at prices to suit the times.

PURE LIQUORS AND WINES
FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no travelling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

VOL. 19. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. THURSDAY, OCT. 3, 1861. NO. 53.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The Skowhegan (Me.) Farmer says that "Frank Smith, 16 years of age, met with a singular and nearly fatal accident on Saturday, 14th ult. He was sent to catch a horse which was running in the highway, and to turn it into the pasture. Three hours afterwards, he was found in the pasture, senseless, the horse standing over him, very sweaty—the halter round the neck of the horse, and fastened to the boy's wrist. The appearances indicated that the boy had been dragged all over the pasture and a neighboring potato field. He remained senseless for several days."

☞ Southern troubles accumulate. The last news is that the price of whiskey is going up. In the vicinity of Fairfax it is held as high as $1.50 per pint. Chewing tobacco, too, is growing scarce and dear.

☞ The Richmond Enquirer of Sept. 7, says great inconvenience has been felt by the stoppage of the supply of Northwestern bacon, and expresses sad doubts concerning the article of pork.

A namesake of Alexander Smith, the poet of the "Life Drama," admired that work so much, that although unacquainted with the young writer, he sent him a present amounting to $20,000. Alexander has just completed another poem, and is doubtless very anxious about the impression it will make upon his munificent kinsman.

☞ A rival to Punch is published in London, called Fun. John Leech is engaged for it, so the old Charivari had better harikari itself and expire gracefully.

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,
Or the New York Musical Review,
FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH; or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON'S last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON'S new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. Mason's new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1861.

WHAT KIND OF PEACE?—The Portland Argus truly says:

President Lincoln in his proclamation for Fast did not hesitate to exhort the people to pray for "a speedy restoration of peace," and Vice President Hamlin, at the recent Union meeting in Bangor, not only avowed himself a "peace man," but declared his readiness to make peace "with loyal men," and added, "any time when they will allow me I am ready to act."

Then, after copying a good piece of Mr. Hamlin's speech, the Argus remarks:

We are exceedingly gratified to see that Mr. Hamlin is at last ready to act with, and in aid of the loyal men of the slave States.

What kind of a peace man Mr. Hamlin is, at last, may be seen by a little extract from his speech, where he says,

I want to make a peace with your Johnsons and your Holts and men of that class—with men that are loyal to the country, and not with rebels who have muskets in their hands.

It is well known that Johnson and Holt are in favor of the most vigorous warfare to put down the rebellion, and so make peace.

Both thry and Mr. Hamlin are very far from the half-and half policy of the mis called peace men, who really aid the rebels as far as they dare, and who "should, (as a speaker lately said here,) be branded one cheek traitor, and on the other coward!"

MASSACHUSETTS is for the Union, and for a vigorous support of the National and State administrations in their efforts to crush the rebellion.

A State Convention, which was called by the Republican State Committee, assembled at Worcester on Tuesday, and is called by the Boston Herald the "Union, Republican, Anti-Slavery" convention.

Gov. Andrew was nominated for reelection by acclamation; Edward Dickinson (of the Bell-Everett party) was nominated for Lieut. Governor; and Josiah G. Abbott (Democrat) for Secretary of State. The convention passed strong Union resolutions,—among them the following:

Resolved, That no rights secured by the Constitution to loyal citizens or States of the Union, in any section, ought to be infringed; and that the rebels in arms against the government can have no rights inconsistent with those of loyal citizens or States which the government is bound to respect; that the spirit of the Constitution is not less important than the letter; its own existence and the protection of free institutions more necessary than that of any hostile interest.

Mr. Sumner made a speech in favor of Union and the war, and against slavery;—and Rev. James Freeman Clark offered some anti-slavery resolutions, which were not adopted.

The convention was very full—and its ticket will do doubt prevail, probably by a large majority.

☞ By latest news from England, it appears that Mr. Russell, in his last letter to the London Times, eulogizes the army of the Potomac, and says it will soon justify the expectations concerning it. He treats the Hatteras affair as important. The Times, however, editorially says it does not build much upon it, but regards the expedition down the Mississippi as far more important, and its success as far less certain.—The Times avers that the South has demonstrated her ability to resist subjection, and says it is to be lamented that so plain a fact should not have suggested a suspension of the profitless strife.

The Times, and the rebels too, as well as ourselves, had better not halloo till they get out of the woods.

"Let him that girdeth on his harness net boast himself as he that putteth it off."

The London Post says a new phase to the American quarrel has been raised by Gen. Fremont—his proclamation rendering all hope of conciliation and compromise impossible.

THE COTTON SUPPLY.—A letter in a late London Times says that East India cotton is regarded with increasing favor. It is said that some spinners have discovered that while Surat cotton makes beautiful cloth, it takes dye much better than American.

The Times, in some speculations on the cotton question, adduces evidence that so far from American cotton being the arbiter of England's destinies, her emancipation from all need of it is simply a question of eight or nine millions sterling.

It is a settled point, already, that cotton is not king in England, and will never again be in America,—though the great Wigfall asserted it so strongly.

There is a large business in cotton at Liverpool for export to America. The Edinburg has a large quantity, and the three succeeding steamers are also engaged.

☞ The cry about the Potomac being closed is said to be raised because the one effect of it is to double the heavy cost of transporting the immense quantities of forage, provisions, munitions, &c., which the Government is calling hence to Washington.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The people of Lyndeboro', without distinction of party, got up an overwhelmingly successful meeting in that quiet town on Wednesday of last week. The meeting commenced at half-past ten in the forenoon, and adjourned at 4 P. M. A splendid collation, prepared by the ladies, and spread upon beautifully decorated tables on the common, was partaken of at noon by six hundred people. The New Boston Brass Band furnished music, and the Lyndeboro' Artillery was out in full numbers and uniform, their cannon belching forth patriotic thunder. The speakers were C. H. Burns, Esq., of Wilton, Walter Harriman, Esq., of Manchester, and others.

——The dwelling house of Nathaniel Hubbard, with his barns and other outbuildings, in Tamworth, were all entirely consumed by fire last Sunday evening, together with their contents, except the light and most easily removed furniture. Loss from $4000 to $5000. The fire was caused by depositing ashes in an out-building a day or two previous. The entire productions, for the present year, of the best farm in Carroll county, were all consumed.

——The earth superstructure of the Mt. Washington carriage road was washed off for several miles by the unprecedentedly severe storm of Friday last, but the road still remains solid and secure.

——Of the 126 horses required for the Manchester Battery, 107 have already been purchased. The Mirror says "their average weight is from 1000 to 1100 lbs.; they are all bays, blacks, browns or chestnuts; and no whites; they are all sound, kind, free from bunches, smooth, with well proportioned limbs; on the whole they are a lot of horses that make a fine appearance. There are some pairs that are splendidly matched. When on duty, as they now are six hours a day at Camp Sullivan, they are a sight worth seeing by a horseman, who will particularly appreciate them when he learns that though so large, they were bought at a considerably less figure than were those that have gone with our regiments."

——Lydia A. Sanborn, 27 years of age, employed as "room girl" in the weaving room of the Langdon Mills, Manchester, while leaving the yard on Monday evening, accidentally fell into the canal and was drowned.

——Several of the prisoners indicted at the late term of Hillsboro' county Court, held at Amherst, were let off by the advice of the County Solicitor, on condition that they should enlist. Most of them have complied with the condition.

——James Thompson, a Scotchman, formerly of the 7th Dragoon Guard, English army, proposes to raise a Scotch company for the 7th Regiment. Mr. Thompson served in the Crimea, and is a good officer.

——A black chenango potato, raised by Mr. T. J. Taylor, in North Hampton, weighs 3 lbs. and 3 oz.

——Seven privates of the Third N. H. Regiment were baptized on Sunday, in the centre of a hollow square formed by the regiment.

☞ Advices from Washington state that Foster and some other individuals who aver that they have been elected members of Congress from North Carolina, are impostors, and have not been near that State since last March or April. The Philadelphia Inquirer says one of these is an impudent fellow, hailing from Murfreesboro', N. C., who attempted to get hold of the pay and mileage of a member of Congress last winter, and whose case was so summarily disposed of by the Election Committee.

The encampment where Scott (the Vermont soldier who was condemned to death for being found asleep on his post at Picket Guard, but was pardoned in compliance with the petition of all the officers,) was confined, is about eight miles from Washington, and from Washington to the encampment there is a temporary telegraph. President Lincoln telegraphed the officer in charge of the execution, to stay the time, it being fixed for early in the morning. Not hearing from his message, the President fearing it had not reached its destination, or that through some mistake the poor fellow might be executed, went himself, after 10 o'clock at night, to camp to personally see that all was right; but his message had reached its destination.

NAVAL.—At the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the gunboats Alabama and Unadilla were put in commission on Tuesday. The Augusta also went in commission on Saturday, and together with the Unadilla hauled out to the buoy. The James Adger remains off the battery, waiting for the Ottawa, Alabama, Augusta and Unadilla. As soon as these boats are ready for sea, they will sail on a secret expedition. A guard of marines has been detailed for the Alabama. The Augusta is commanded by Capt. E. G. Parrott, of this city.

☞ The works of the Taunton (Mass.) Oil Cloth Co., with stock and manufactured goods, were entirely consumed by fire on Tuesday. Loss from $12,000 to $15,000; partly insured.

THE REBELLION.

Capt. Coppinger, an English officer, late in the Papal service, has been commissioned Captain in the Volunteer service, on the recommendation of the Pope.

Howell, alias Fennik, who stabbed Walker, the correspondent of the N. Y. Express, has escaped into Virginia, through the aid of "Secesh" friends in Maryland. Walker is recovering.

A powerful squadron is blockading Freestone Point and Occoquan Creek, while Aquia Creek and lower down are watched by a number of United States steamers. No firing from the rebel batteries has occurred since last Thursday.

The steamer R. B. Forbes has taken on her powder and armament, and is again ready for sea.

It is thought that the recent precipitate retreat of the rebel army was occasioned by a fear of a flank movement by the Federal army from the direction of Lewinsville.

The war expenditures are now stated, upon Government authority, to be eight and a half millions a week.

The Kentucky Senate has passed resolutions, requestiug Breckinridge and Powell to resign their seats as Senators in Congress, as they do not represent the will of the people of Kentucky; and if they do not comply, the Senate of the United States is requested to investigate their condition, and if they are found to be in opposition to the Federal Government, to expel them from their seats. A dispatch from Frankfort says that Gen. W. O. Butler has addressed the secessionists of Owen and other counties, counselling them to disperse and obey the laws. He is their leader and commands great influence.

Three thousand muskets have been sent to Gen. Anderson, Kentucky.

Sixty rebels from Lexington, Mo., have plundered the Lunatic Asylum at Fulton, of 500 blankets, all the bed clothes, and a number of socks, giving as an excuse that the Asylum belonged to the State, and they had a right to the property.

Latest advices from Fort Pickens state that the blockade at Pensacola is now rigidly enforced.

Balloon ascensions are so satisfactory in results, that four new ones are to be constructed by request of Gen. McClellan.

A discharged prisoner from Richmond states that 900 prisoners have been taken to New Orleans. Congressman Ely has been sent to Charleston.

Mr. Davis, late policeman at Charleston, was sent to Nashville for a prisoner, and managed to get into Kentucky, and thence to Washington. He left Charleston Sept. 18th, at which time there were 500 men on Sullivan's Island and 1000 at Fort Sumter. Batteries were being erected for the protection of the city at all points. There is considerable sympathy among the Irish in Charleston for Corcoran, but they dared not exhibit it. Only three vessels had run the blockade.

The New York Times' dispatch states that the reported naval expeditions have alarmed the extreme Southern States.—The Governor of South Carolina has demanded the return of his regiments, and some have gone.

Contradictory assertions relative to Garibaldi's coming to America continued in Europe up to the latest accounts, Sept. 21. It was inferred from the Moniteur that his coming would suit French policy.

The Savannah Republican of Sept. 17th says a soldier from Fort Pulaski reports that the engagement between the federal fleet and the fort at Port Loyal commenced on Monday afternoon, and continued all of Tuesday.

Gen. Banks is reported to have been reinforced by 30,000 men, during the last three or four days.

☞ The American Board of Foreign Missions met at Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday. The annual sermon was preached by Dr. Storrs of Brooklyn. The total amount of expenditures for the past year have been $370,000, and there is a deficit of less than $28,000.

☞ New Haven, Conn., is infested by midnight incendiaries, who make their diabolical attempts upon occupied dwelling houses. At two residences last visited, the designs of the villains were fortunately frustrated, although persistent attempts were made to burn them.

☞ Rev. Frederick Frothingham, of the Park street (2d Unitarian) Church, Portland, has received a call to one of the Professorships in the Meadville, Penn., Theological Seminary.

☞ Rio Janeiro dates of Aug. 14 state that barque Abigail McFarland and brig Virginia, both of Richmond, Va., were there, waiting the termination of the war.

☞ In the Supreme Judicial Court at Alfred, Me., on Monday, Moses Atwood Safford, Esq., of Kittery, was admitted to practice in all the Courts of that State.

☞ The New York Sun was sold Tuesday afternoon at auction for $35,000.

Why Longer Suffer?—Those who are so fortunate as to have escaped Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, can hardly conceive the suffering that these diseases cause. The wonder is, that the afflicted continue to suffer, when that infallibio remedy, the Oxygenated Bitters, is within their reach. 6t

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.
Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.
The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that
"Combination and a form indeed"
of medicine, known as
Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,
whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.
Strong Testimony
From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.
SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.
Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.
Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.
Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

☞ The Peak Family's Concert on Tuesday evening, in the Temple, was greeted, as it deserved to be, with a crowded house. Their bell ringing, as we knew it would be, was admirable; the selection of songs and juvenile pieces was in good taste, and the performance accurate; and the playing in good keeping with the selections. The costumes of the children, in various characters, were correct and chaste; and the deportment of the whole troupe, on the stage, was easy, unconstrained and graceful. We have rarely witnessed entertainments of this kind so agreeable and pleasant as this.

THE GREAT EASTERN.—This vessel left England on Tuesday. All went well until 4 o'clock on Thursday, when the tackle of one of the forward boats became unhooked. The captain endeavored to steady the ship while this was rectified, but found to his surprise that the ship would not mind her helm. Soon after, commenced a chaos of breakages which lasted without intermission for three days. Everything breakable was broken—furniture, fittings, services, glasses, pianos, &c. About 6 o'clock, two rolls of sheet lead, weighing some 700 lbs. each, in the engine room, commenced rolling about with every oscillation of the vessel, with fearful force. These were secured, when a tremendous grinding was heard under the paddle boxes. The paddles had become twisted, and the floats were grinding against the sides of the ship. The paddles were stopped, and thenceforward the scene is described as fearful in the extreme. The ship rolled so violently that the boats were washed away. The cabin had shipped a great deal of water, and the ship stores were floating about in utter confusion. Some of the chandeliers came down, and a large mirror was smashed into a thousand fragments.

Twenty-five fractures occurred from concussions, and cuts and bruises were innumerable. The baker received injuries of a terrible character, and one of the most striking incidents of the affair was this poor man crawling in agony to extinguish some portion of the bakery gear which caught fire.

Friday morning the ship was drifting, an unmanageable log in the trough of the sea. It was soon discovered that the pin upon which the rudder turned, had broken off three feet above where it entered the stern of the ship. It was of wrought iron, ten inches in diameter. Much time was occupied in rigging up temporary steering gear, but on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the ship got under way, proceeding at the rate of nine knots an hour with the screw alone.

On Tuesday, at 4 o'clock, she arrived off Cork, and a small steamer coming to her assistance, she soon reached the harbor.

A meeting was held in the saloon on Thursday, and resolutions of a pious and congratulatory kind were passed, complimenting Capt. Walker, officers and crew, for their indefatigable exertions. Severe comments, however, were made on the condition of the ship, the strength of her paddles and the way she was ballasted. As soon as the rudder is sufficiently repaired, the ship will proceed to Liverpool.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is taken either as internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their health generally greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy for their SUFFERINGS ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Fine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

U. S. LOAN NOTICE.

Pursuant to instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury, a book will be opened on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER,

At the Piscataquis Exchange Bank,

IN THIS CITY,

For subscriptions under my superintendence for Treasury Notes, to be issued under the act of July 17, 1861. These notes will be issued in sums of fifty dollars, one hundred dollars, five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, and five thousand dollars each, dated 19th August, 1861, payable three years after date to the order of the subscriber or as directed, and bearing interest at the rate of 7-3-10 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; such interest being at the rate of two cents for each day on every hundred dollars. For the convenience of the holder, each note will have coupons attached expressing the several amounts of semi-annual interest, which coupons may be detached and presented for payment separately from the notes.

Subscriptions for such Treasury Notes will be received during fifteen days from the day of opening the books as aforesaid. No subscription for less than fifty dollars nor for any fraction of that sum can be received. Subscriptions of fifty dollars or one hundred dollars must be paid in lawful coin of the United States at the time of subscribing. Subscriptions of more than one hundred dollars may be paid at once; or, if preferred, one tenth at the time of subscribing and one third of the whole amount on every twentieth day thereafter until the whole shall be paid. No payment of less than fifty dollars can be accepted, that being the smallest sum for which Treasury notes can be issued.

Certificates will be granted in duplicate to subscribers for the amounts so paid, the original of which the subscriber will transmit by mail to the Secretary of the Treasury, when Treasury Notes, as aforesaid, will be issued thereon to such subscriber or his order, carrying interest as expressed in such certificate; but in cases where only a part of the amount is paid for at the time of subscribing, Treasury Notes will be issued only for the payments made subsequently to the first, which will continue until the whole amount subscribed by such person shall be paid, when Treasury Notes will be issued for such first payment also. On payment of each deferred instalment, the subscriber will pay, in addition thereto, a sum equal to the interest accrued thereon from the 19th August to the date of payment, and on final payments like interest on the amount paid on subscription, which payments of interest will be reimbursed to the subscriber in the payment of the first coupon.

The Treasury Notes issued upon such certificates by the Treasury will be sent to the subscribers by mail, or such other mode as may be indicated by them when they transmit their original certificates. The duplicate certificates may be retained by them for their own security.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY
THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,
Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 2ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom: every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between there plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a bearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, ESQ., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Bennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Medal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is
STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and burn, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUPLEX OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire-box, and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which both kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas-burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the places constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested
FOR TWENTY YEARS,
and yet found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the stove, long Stewarts, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart:—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

For Wood or Coal,
Operating on the same principle as the celebrated
MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR
VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING
STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,
Or the New York Musical Review,
FOR NOTHING!
We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, or THE CHOIR BOOK," a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON'S last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in the first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.
We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c.,&c. Subscription, $1 per annum
In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for some ten copies of Dr. Mason's new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON'S new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1861.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our terms for Subscription, Advertising and Job Work, except where accounts are open, are invariably and exclusively, cash in advance of doing the work.

Subscribers to the old N. H. Gazette, who wish the paper continued to them, will please notify us, at the Chronicle Counting Room. Those who had paid in advance, may receive our paper for the amount due them, by leaving their order with us, or with the late publisher.—While we never wish to send a Daily or Weekly paper which we print, where it is not wanted or will not be paid for, we are very desirous to send them where they are wanted and paid for.

The Advertisements in the old Gazette have been continued in our paper, and we shall be pleased to retain them at the same rates. We shall also send a copy of our Weekly paper regularly to those who have advertisements in it—for which there will be no extra charge; and altho' the Gazette may not be especially interesting to those who read the Daily Chronicle, yet the Weekly will be found of some value to send to friends abroad.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—Subscribers who find a pen-and-ink mark about this paragraph, are thereby informed that their subscription has expired; and they may forward more money if they wish the paper continued.

BLACK LIST.—Although we have large and excellent lists of cash-paying patrons, yet a few bogus "customers" do occasionally creep into our credit and get on our books. We are preparing a Black List of such chronic delinquents, and shall print it in a few days, after giving all concerned a fair notice and chance to settle up and keep their names out of print.

RAILROAD MEETING.

C. & P. RAILROAD.—The annual meeting of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, was held at the Court House in this city, on Thursday,—Stephen Kenrick, Esq., the President of the corporation, presiding.—The Clerk, Maj. William H. Hackett, read the call for the meeting, after which the President presented the annual report of the Directors to the shareholders, which was read by the Clerk, and copies of which were furnished for the stockholders' perusal. The report is a business-like document, showing the receipts and expenses of the road, refers to the increase of the capital stock, the extension of the road from Candia to Manchester, and the "Spring" about which so much has been said at former meetings of the corporation. It also informs us that a new contract has been made for operation of the road with the Concord Railroad corporation, to continue for ninety-nine years, by which the stockholders in this road will receive seven per cent. dividend upon their stock, in semi-annual payments. The extension of the road to tide water is also referred to, as well as the contemplated improvements now going on at the station ground in this city. The Directors say, in conclusion:

"In view of the general depressed condition of this kind of investment, caused by the present disastrous state of our country, we can but congratulate you upon the condition of your property. Your stock is at par, with a prospect of a regular dividend almost beyond a doubt; and when it is borne in mind that this is a seven per cent stock, upon which the tax is paid to the State Treasurer, and no tax is assessed to the stockholder, it will be seen that your property must maintain a high position in the market, and become a desirable permanent investment."

The Report was accepted without debate; after which the meeting proceeded to the choice of Directors, and the following named gentlemen were appointed a committee to receive, sort and count the votes, viz.:—Hon. Frederick Smyth, Manchester; Joseph C. Plumer, Esq., Epping; Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, Portsmouth.

Col. Chas. L. Frost, of New York, made a speech relative to the much-talked-of Spring, and its importance to the city of Portsmouth, its value, &c.: and was followed by Chas. Robinson, Esq., of this city, who gave some reminiscences of his experience in getting the new aqueduct bill before the Legislative Committee.

The committee on votes for Directors, reported, through Hon. F. Smyth, that the whole number of votes cast were 1859, of which Stephen Kenrick had 1859; Chas. L. Frost, 1636; Samuel P. Dow, 1859; E. A. Straw, 1859; Jos. Blake, 1859; Chas. H. Peaslee, 223; and Messrs. Kenrick, Frost, Dow, Straw and Blake were declared elected Directors for the year ensuing.

On motion of Mr. J. C. Plumer, of Epping, it was voted that the annual Report, with notice of the meeting, be sent to each shareholder in advance of the meeting, after which the meeting dissolved.

PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD.—The Kearsarge is nearly ready to leave the dock;—the side-wheel steamers are nearly timbered out. The floors the whole length, and the sides where the engines and boilers come, are filled in solid and caulked. The frames are to be strapped with heavy iron straps, laid diagonally, and each vessel is to have nine keelsons and riders of hard pine, 12 by 15 inches. Much nice work is required after the frames are up. The Ossipee is far advanced, and is fast getting into the painters' hands.

The U. S. ship Constellation went out of commission on Tuesday, and her crew were discharged. She has been stripped, and her stores have been discharged. She will go into the dock as soon as the Kearsarge comes out.

☞"On and after" Monday next, the C. & P. Railroad will run but one train each way per day, as usual of late years in winter; and Marden's passenger and express wagon will take the course again.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The Mirror says business in Manchester is now looking better than it has for four months past. The bag and duck mill will commence next week to run nights as well as days. The Manchester Mills, which were entirely stopped during July and part of August, are now in full blast, on full time, except half of one mill. The print works are now in complete operation, doing the same as in former years, and getting out most splendid styles of prints. All kinds of manufacturing there is on the increase.

——The 7th Regiment is progressing rapidly. Gen. Abbott has received a dispatch from Washington, stating that Lieut. Putnam, U. S. A., will accept the position of Colonel, and will report himself at once. Mr. Parker, the Chaplain of the 2d, owing to circumstances which have arisen recently, declines to accept the Majorship, and Maj. Dan'l Smith, of Dover, has been appointed. Mr. Smith held the position of Major in the old 25th Regiment in the palmy days of the N. H. Militia. His father, Maj. Winthrop Smith, of Durham, his grand and great grand fathers were also Majors, and some of them in the service.—Andrew Young, of Dover, has been appointed Quartermaster, and Dr. W. W. Brown, of Manchester, Surgeon. The Regiment will go into camp in a few days. Nearly six hundred men were enlisted for it on Wednesday.

——Francis Mills Gove, of Whitefield, has been appointed by Hon. Thos. M. Edwards, Midshipman in the Naval School from his Congressional District.

——Dr. Hubbard, Surgeon of the 2d Regiment, returned home Wednesday morning, looking hale and hearty. He has been promoted to surgeon of a Brigade, and will return next Monday.

——Last Thursday afternoon, Edward Batchelder, a lad of 15 years, son of Mr. Josiah Batchelder, of Exeter, was badly wounded by the accidental discharge of his gun. As he was carelessly drawing it towards him by the muzzle, it was by some means discharged, and its contents entered the lower part of his arm, near the wrist, passing out at the elbow, and making a shocking wound. It is hoped, however, that the arm may be saved, though in a crippled condition. On the same afternoon, Jewett Swasey, a young man of 20 years, received a severe kick in the face from a horse he was harnessing. He was bit below the right eye, just low enough to prevent the loss of the eye, and high enough to escape the cheek bone, but inflicting a bad flesh wound.

——The ladies of Exeter engaged in the benevolent work of providing articles for the sick and wounded soldiers in our army hospitals, got up a promenade concert on Tuesday evening, which was a very pleasant affair, and was attended by a large number of people. The Exeter Cornet Band, with their usual liberality, furnished the music gratuitously, and all agreed that it was of an excellent quality. The hall was neatly decorated with flags and flowers, and the refreshment table was well furnished.—The participants got the full value of their money, besides having the satisfaction of knowing that every cent of it was to be expended for a patriotic object. The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to $210.

——Lieut. Col. Louis Bell, of the 4th Regiment, while sailing on Massabesic Pond, in Chester, on Saturday, with his wife and her three sisters, suddenly found himself and party capsized out of the boat by a squall of wind. Col. Bell succeeded in placing the ladies on the boat, which he righted with great difficulty, and swam and pushed its shivering load to the shore at Johnson's beach. The four ladies were daughters of Rev. Dr. Bouton, of Concord.

——A Dover correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

Geo. W. Towle, Esq., of Portsmouth, rumor assigns to the Colonelcy of the 9th Regiment, in which case that regiment will rendezvous there.

The Legislature will probably have an extra session soon, to take action upon the acceptance of the percentage of the government loan, the law allowing each State 15 per cent for collection.

——It is contemplated to have a grand Muster of the 7th Regiment N. H. Militia, on Wednesday, 9th inst. Great exertions have been and are still being made to raise new companies for the occasion, and a regular old-fashioned muster may be expected. The ground selected for the occasion is near the residence of Col. Saml. Winslow, in So. Kingston.

THE REBELLION.

Five or six vessels of the Potomac flotilla are lying near the Maryland shore, within view of the rebel battery at Freestone Point. The remainder are off Aquia Creek, where the pirate George Page has recently made repeated unsuccessful attempts to emerge. The Potomac is corainly not now closed by the enemy, and the merchants are daily receiving goods by way of the river.

The reconnoissances by our troops turn out of good advantage to the Commissary's Department. That of Wednesday last, foots up 200 tons of hay, 40 head of cattle several flocks of sheep, and great quantities of corn and oats.

Gen. Sickles' reconnoissance of the Virginia side of the Potomac, has led him to the conclusion, that the rebel batteries are intended for defence against an attack by water, and not at all designed to close the navigation of the river.

At our last accounts from the army in Western Virginia, Gen. Rosecrans was still at Cross Lanes; Reynolds was watching Lee at Cheat Mountain; Wise and Floyd had fled before Cox, to Lewisburg.

Michael Price, one of the first advocates of secession in Virginia, recently in the army opposed to Gen. Rosecrans, it is stated, has become disgusted with the cause, and returned home. He exercised great influence in getting the State out of the Union. On Thursday he dined at the house of an old friend, and remarked that the rebels might as well fight against the devil or the North Star as Rosecrans, for, said he, just as we thought we had got him, he was all around us. He says also that Rosecrans is more than a match for all the rebel forces west of the mountains.

The Government are unable to furnish blankets so fast as they are required. The Quartermaster General, M. C. Meigs, appeals to the people to supply the want.—He says: "The supply in the country is exhausted. Men spring to arms faster than the mills can manufacture; and large quantities ordered from abroad have not yet arrived. To relieve pressing necessities, contributions are invited from the surplus stores of families. To such as have blankets which they can spare, but cannot afford to give, the full market value of suitable blankets, delivered at the offices of the U. S. Quartermasters, will be paid."

It is reported the Government will recall Gen. Sumner from California, with all the regular troops now there, and authorize the raising of thirty thousand volunteers in California for the defence of the frontier, &c. He has upwards of 5000 regulars under his command.

LATEST.

Thursday evening's Extra Traveller gives the following important dispatches:—

Gen. Fremont has not been ordered to report at Washington for trial by court martial, as reported. He is at Jefferson City, Mo., actively employed.

Gen. Mansfield has been appointed to the command at Fortress Monroe, but Gen. Wool has been assigned to no other post.

A mob surrounded the Calvary Church in San Francisco, Sunday morning, Sept. 22d, hissing and hooting Rev. Dr. Scott, as he entered, because of his position in regard to the duties of the church on the Union question. No personal violence was committed. He has resigned, has sold his house and will remove at once to Europe.

Our troops, Thursday, were very active across the Potomac; it was thought Gen. McClellan intends to drive in their pickets, but not give them battle yet.

It is said the rebels intend an immediate on Paducuh, Ky.

The rebels in Chapmanville, Western Virginia, were completely routed by our troops, 100 of them killed and a large number taken prisoners. This is the most effective blow yet given to the rebels in that part of the Valley.

It is reported a battle was going on at Sewall Mountain, Va., between Gen. Cox and Floyd and Wise, the rebels getting the worst of it and falling back on their entrenchments at Lewisburg.

A letter from New Orleans, received at St. Louis, (no date,) says a fleet of 70 vessels, large and small, was then coming up the Balize, to attack the city.

☞On the day of the National Fast, a fine flag, presented by the ladies to the Home Guards, was raised at Spruce Creek, Kittery, on the spot where the Congregational Church formerly stood. Rev. G. M. Payne and Rev. H. A. Fobes were present, and heartily united with the people in rendering the occasion one of interest and profit.

☞The liquor dealers of New York held a State Convention at Syracuse, on Tuesday, and measures were taken to protect the rights and interests of liquor dealers from unjust, unequal and odious legislation.

☞Mr. Wm. H. Thompson, of this city, Assistant Paymaster, has been ordered to the U. S. steam sloop-of-war Mohican at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

HON. CHRISTOPHER S. TOPPAN, formerly Mayor of Portsmouth, and one of our energetic and successful merchants and financiers, died on Wednesday, Oct. 3, at Gorham, N. H., whither he had gone on account of ill health. His age was about 61 years. He was a native of this city, and was a descendant of the Hon. Christopher Toppan of Hampton, who died there in 1819, and of the Rev. Christopher Toppan, of Newbury, Mass. He inherited a good share of their sagacity, energy, and public spirit. His death will be generally felt as a public loss.

His benefactions to the poor of this city, especially that which secures to those at the City Farm the annuity of their Thanksgiving Dinner; his late gift to the town of Hampton; his care of the Odd Fellows' funds; and his numerous minor charities and long-continued unostentatious liberality, give him rank and remembrance among the liberal economists who have made their home among us, and made our place the better.

Mr. Toppan, besides being Mayor of the city, to which office he would have been re-elected had he not declined,—has always evinced much interest in our city affairs, particularly in the Public Schools. He is, we believe, the first of the ex-Mayors of the city who has died. His death was very sudden and unexpected. He had spent the evening with friends, and after arranging to visit the Glen House next day, he retired, apparently as well as usual—but when his wife went to him, soon after, he was dying. We believe he once had a light paralytic stroke, and recently his feelings have been keenly affected by the state of the country. He leaves a considerable estate, which we are told is devised by will.

☞We are indebted to Superintendent Norton, of the City Farm, for a mess of second-crop green peas, raised on the same lot of ground this season. They were well filled, tender and delicious; and if Mr. Norton does all his farming up in the double-strike fashion like this, he will amply prove the wisdom both of his appointment and his husbandry.

☞While many papers are stopping or languishing, all about the country—our readers will notice that the Chronicle is crowded with advertisements; while our subscription-lists are constantly increasing, and our orders for job-printing are also large. We think we are not unmindful of these tangible evidences of appreciation of our efforts to serve our patrons and the public.

☞The first number of the New Hampshire Gazette was printed Oct. 7th, 1756—consequently, the present issue concludes its 106th year and volume. Not to flatter ourselves, perhaps we may be allowed to say, that its prospects for another century, have not been so good for a long while before, as now.

☞The York County Agricultural Society hold their annual Cattle Show and Fair at Saco and Biddeford, 8th, 9th and 10th Oct. inst.

TOPPIN MAXWELL'S OLD HOUSE is among the things that were. The old buildings that were clustered round the track of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, at its terminus in this city, were sold at auction last Saturday, to make room for a new station house and other conveniences: and the purchasers are busily at work, removing some and demolishing others.

Fifty years ago or more, Toppin Maxwell began a tannery near where the railway station now is, and put up a small building for a part of his work. As his business and his means increased, he added, piece by piece and patch by patch, till he had a large building, including tanpits, curry shop, bedroom, kitchen and parlor.

His successors in the tannery altered and patched the building again,—and the railroad men and machinists who succeeded them, have made additions, alterations, and erasures, till on its demolition, it was a great mass of pieces of timber, bolts, bricks, and rubbish of all sorts.

The displacement of these old firetrap buildings, by new structures, will be a great improvement to the neighborhood.

NAVAL.—Frigate St. Lawrence, steamer Roanoke and sloop-or-war Dale have sailed from Fort Monroe, destination unknown:

Steamer Harriet Lane sailed from Philadelphia 2d.

Why Longer Suffer?—Those who are so fortunate as to have escaped Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, can hardly conceive the suffering that these diseases cause. The wonder is, that the afflicted continue to suffer, when that infallibie remedy, the Oxygenated Bitters, is within their reach. 6t

We have heard of people asking for bread and receiving a stone. We should consider ourselves much worse treated, after asking for Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, to have some other kind palmed off on to us. We state this that our readers may enjoy the same pleasure we have—viz.; to eat a better Biscuit than was ever made with any other Saleratus or soda. Most of the Merchants have it for sale. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. See that the name of Herrick Allen is on the wrapper and no mistake can occur. 3t

FAITHFUL MINISTERS OF HEALTH.—In examining the vessels at various wharves, we find among the curiosities of our commerce the brig Miranda, just in from Truxillo with a cargo of Honduras Sarsaparilla for Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., of Lowell. So particular is this firm as to the articles used in compounding their various remedies that they have this drug, like some others they use, gathered for them by a skilful agent of their own, in the tropical regions of its growth. He informs us that there are many species of this plant, but two of which are really valuable in medicine; the qualities of these are also affected by the time of gathering, mode of curing, etc., operations which, in that region of unreliable workmen, impose a heavy labor upon him. One of the inert varieties of Sarsaparilla grows wild in our own forests, while several others, nearly worthless, abound in Central and South America. The intelligent agent assured us that the virtues of this drug had never been fully told, and that the reason of the low esteem in which many hold it is mainly due to the importation of such immense quantities of the worthless varieties. His accounts of his trips to Honduras and his business excursions along the Gulf of Dulce and the rivers of Montagua and Santiago and among the adjacent mountains were of intense interest. We can but commend and honor his employers for the faithfulness and energy with which they execute their trust as ministers to the public health, and we suspect that this course is at least one of the reasons why their medicines are held in such extraordinary favor throughout the civilized world.—New York City News.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, none have been more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingreients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling of lists in that

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass:

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that neither trying medicine nor recovering, as had also my friends. At a stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief in it, never in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost miraculous. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more cheered my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

I know has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

☞ Rev. Mr. Peirce, chaplain of the N. Y. Volunteers, gave a lecture on the War, to a crowded audience, on Wednesday evening, at the Temple: and hundreds of people went away, who could not get into the building.

The Mayor presided, and Rev. Mr. Patterson offered the opening prayer. The orator exhibited a diagram of the battle ground of Bull Run, and gave a variety of incidents of that terrible contest: and then went on to discuss the exigency of the country, its resources to meet it, its numbers, arms, and patriotic endeavors; and in a very eloquent manner urged the duty of all good citizens to join in putting down the rebellion.

The services were very interesting, and were enlivened by the singing of patriotic songs to the tunes of the Star Spangled Banner, America, and the Marseilaise. The meeting doubtlers had a good effect.

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one affected by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & CO.—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald. I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one free bd bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or by the removal of a simple plate; in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. The permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, lends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to MESSRS. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineha Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
In the Market,
after all said,
is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward invisible coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving fumes of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it is removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 15 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the arrangement of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no additional of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed to the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN projected for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "baking arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cover burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 3 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and not found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861 is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if need, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and disparaging the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewarts, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart:—which he will say

"HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE MAGEE PARLOR

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. PARTIZANSHIP. — "Bayard," the spicy theatrical critic of Wilkes' Spirit, introduces his last paper with the following reference to partizan preaching and "acting:"

People may deprecate as strenuously as they please the exhibition of politics in the pulpit and in the theatre; but it will avail little or nothing. Americans are politicians and partizans by nature; they run to politics as naturally as ducks to water; with his first breeches, Young America takes sides in elections, and hurras for this or that candidate with as much zeal, and more sincerity, than if he knew what he was doing.—Politics, for good or evil, shades every phase of social life; intrudes into his business and mingles with his pleasures; p rmeates his social existence, like the surrounding air, and becomes incorporated into his very marrow. Hence, whatever he may say for the public, your true American not only tolerates, but really delights in a political sermon or a political play. He will go farther to hear Beecher on the party issues of the day than he would to hear St. Paul on the Atonement.

The Pulpit, as yet, has the advantage of the Stage, in being able—protected by the sacredness of its surroundings—to teach not only political but partizan lessons. How long it will be so, may be a point of doubt; but, thus far, we have had but few absolutely rowdy demonstrations of a political nature in the church. But the Theatre has no such immunity. It will not do to play the partizan here. With every blow from the right hand, one of equal force must be dealt from the left. If one party gets a line of censure, the other must take the same dose. If praise be awarded to one, it must be also lavished upon the other. The scale of neutrality must hang in even balance, or woe be to your house. How long it will be so, may be doubtful; but, thus far, we have had few absolute rowdy demonstrations of a political nature in the theatre. But here, as in less favored countries, whatever restrictions may be placed upon partyism, patriotism has a wide license. If we cannot hurra for Lincoln or the other fellow, we can go to the extremest yell on Columbia and the Star Spangled Banner; we can snub the British Lion, call Napoleon a frog-eater, and make ninnies of ourselves to any extent, provided we do it under the wings of the great American eagle.

With this preface, I enter a mild protest against the entire brood of political plays, and all the dog-cheap clap-trap which depends upon a few hackneyed phrases of national boasting, to bring down the hi-hi of the gallery. The thing has been done to death, worn completely out, and is stale in all its parts. It lowers the standard of the drama, and brings the stage to the level of the party rostrum.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1861.

JUDGE TANEY REVIEWED.

In the North American Review for October 1861, the article entitled Habeas Corpus and Martial Law, is a very thorough discussion of Judge Taney's decision in the Merryman case. The reviewer condemns the decision as unsound, and considers the disregard of the writ by the military power in time of war, perfectly constitutional.

It comes out, very curiously, in the article, that Chief Justice Taney was one of the signers of a secession petition, and of course himself a friend of treason, if not technically a traitor.

The reviewer says, p. 512:

If Mr. Chief Justice Taney's position in Merryman's case are correct, then General Butler and all of the Massachusetts Eighth and New York Seventh, were mere trespassers, severally liable to actions of trespass in favor of the railroad company and the inhabitants upon whose land they came; and in such actions the sheriff would probably have been ordered to arrest the bodies of the defendants, if it could have been done. Bail could hardly have been procured, and instead of arriving in Washington for the defence of the capital, the sheriff would have filled the jail of the county, and hired extra prisons in which to incarcerate them. If we are not misinformed, the Chief Justice of the State was one of the signers of a petition to that true and tried patriot, Governor Hicks, to call the Legislature together for the purpose of securing the secession of Maryland: and he would perhaps have presided at the trial, and with a Baltimore or any other Secession mob for a jury, the result may be imagined. In the meantime the Secessionists of that State would have mustered in force; those of Virginia and the other rebellious States would have been encouraged thereby to assail Washington on the other side, whereupon it must have fallen into the hands of the rebels, and the dismemberment of the Union have been surely accomplished.

Every honest man among us, who may have been deceived with the idea that Judge Taney's dicta are entitled to any respect in consequence of his character, may be undeceived now, when his treachery is unmasked, and he is seen to be, though a Judge sworn to defend the laws,—yet hand and glove with traitors, rebels, thieves and robbers.

Surely Congress should pass an act to reorganize the United States Courts,—and while they cannot remove judges without impeaching them, they can easily place them on a list somewhat retired from business,—as the Constitution gives Congress power to arrange the terms of the Courts, and with few exceptions to determine how, and where, and what, business shall be brought before them.

CHANGES IN MAINE.—The Portland Advertiser stated a few days ago that John W. Dana, late candidate for Governor, had expressed himself in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, and now the same paper learns that Hon. Moses McDonald has been converted by the events of the past few weeks, and coincides with his late candidate for governor in opinion. So they come in, and it is only a question of time, when the North will be unanimous for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution by force.

For the Chronicle.

It is understood that several army officers have been engaged in returning fugitive slaves to their masters.—Boston Jour.

Mean and servile must be the soul that could do so cowardly an act. Such men, instead of being commissioned to lead freemen to the battle of freedom, would be in vastly more appropriate employment to be making canvas shoes for Jeff. Davis' barefooted regiments. All such men should be sent at once away from the camps of freemen, lest their polluted souls should taint the atmosphere that freemen breathe.—Should any craven souls ever again be guilty of so mean an act, we hope that the public may be favored with their names, rank and places of residence,—so that they may hereafter be rightly estimated among other animals employed in similar service. XXX.

DROWNED.—Joseph F. Eldridge of Chatham, Mass., belonging to the fishing schooner Fillmore, Capt. Cahoon, of Harwick, Mass., was drowned in Portland harbor about 9 o'clock, Wednesday evening. He was passing from the wharf to the vessel, in a boat, by sculling, when the oar slipped from its place, causing him to lose his balance and fall overboard. A companion attempted to paddle the boat to him with one of the thwarts, there being no other oar on board. He also gave an alarm, and boats put off from different vessels, but Eldridge had sunk for the last time before any of them reached him. His age was 23 years.

PROMPT ACTION OF THE BOSTON BANKS.—The banks in Boston have deposited to the credit of the United States their proportion of the second fifty million loan, in conformity to the arrangement entered into between Secretary Chase and the banks of New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

☞ Letters received in this city on Friday morning, announced the arrival of Dr. Frank Fuller, recently appointed Secretary of Utah Territory, and party, at Great Salt Lake City. They left St. Louis, on the 29th of August, after witnessing the funeral obsequies of Gen. Lyons, and arrived at St. Joseph the same evening. The party was enlivened in an omnibus, on the way to the hotel, by being told that there were rebel troops in the outskirts of the city, and the people were anticipating that they would come in at night and take possession of the town. This was not done, however, until after they had left the place. The next morning, however, a body of rebel cavalry rode through the town, and finding the coast clear, came back during the forenoon with colors flying and demanded that the Stars and Stripes upon the hotel where the party were stopping, should be hauled down. But they did not come down, the proprietor of the house declaring that he would not take his flag down nor permit any one else to do so, so long as he lived.—"And there are several of the same sort left in Missouri yet."

At nine o'clock on the morning of the 31st of August, they started on their trip across the plains. The party consisted of four gentlemen,—Dr. Fuller and Mr. I. R. Thompson, of this city; S. R. Fox, Surveyor-General of the territory, and one other.

The latter had arrived at St. Joseph on the 30th, having intended to remain there two or three days: but saw and heard enough while getting there, to cause him to leave as soon as he could. The train on the Hannibal and St. Joseph R. R., on which he came, was fired into by the rebels, who discharged three distinct volleys, killing the news-boy and wounding several others. The conductor wore a small cap, and two balls passed through it—one on each side of his head. All the windows were broken, and the cars were badly injured. The writer continues:—"the man who told me this was a democrat; had been against the war and for compromising before, but Friday was the end of compromise with him."

The trip across the Plains was somewhat tiresome and disagreeable: the fare was not particularly inviting, not being well-cooked—the regular dish consisted of no potatoes and bacon—some of the latter having been "laid in" eight years ago.

The trip across the Plains was somewhat tiresome and disagreeable; the fare was not particularly inviting, not being well cooked. The regular dish consisted of no potatoes, and bacon, some of the latter having been 'laid in' eight years ago.

The coach was drawn by four mules and two horses. The road was very dusty, and at times passed down very steep declivities. At one point the rocks were so near together, that there was just room enough for the coach to pass between them; and at others it was necessary to hasten forward as rapidly as possible, to prevent sliding down the hill side-ways.

At ten minutes past six on the afternoon of Sept. 10, they first caught a glimpse of Salt Lake City, and soon after arrived there, well and in good spirits. The weather favored them the greater portion of the time, it having rained only one day.

A DIVORCE DILEMMA.—The Supreme Court for York county, Me., has been in session for the September term two weeks. The Saco Democrat gives the following account of one of the divorce cases:

"There have been three divorces decreed during the term thus far, and in connection with one of said decrees there now seems to arise some 'funny' questions. It seems that a certain party in South Berwick, anxious to get rid of his 'spouse,' pressed a hearing upon his libel, and obtained a decree during the third day of the term. On the fifth day of the term the said 'spouse' made her appearance before the Court, and stated that her anxious husband and his friends persuaded her that the case would not be called up till the second week in the term, consequently she returned home, although she had a defence to said libel, &c., &c. The Court, upon these representations, ordered the decree of divorce to be stricken from the docket. Now the funny part of it is, that said divorced husband went home on the day of the decree,—obtained as before stated,—and forthwith proceeded to Salmon Falls and married another lady. What his new wife will say, or how they will proceed when they learn that there is in fact no decree of divorce from the first wife, remains to be seen."

PLENTY OF SPECIE.—The banks and sub-treasury of Boston, now hold nine and a half million dollars in coin; the like institutions in New York, hold fifty-five and a half millions; and there is a large amount in the banks and mint at Philadelphia. What is received from California sticks this side of the Atlantic, and there is a constant influx from Europe.

☞ Hon. N. B. Baker, Adjutant General of Iowa, and formerly Governor of New Hampshire, in a letter correcting some misrepresentations respecting himself, says:

"I go for sustaining the Administration the National Government and the Flag of the Union, and no matter what party may be in power, it will make no difference in the amount of exertion I shall put forth."

THE REBELLION.

We have a report from Washington, that a new military department, to consist of the New England States, has been created, with Gen. Butler in command. It is to be called the Department of New England.

Washington dispatches say Gen. Shields declines the commission of Brigadier General, offered him by the U. S. Government, on the ground that he has removed to Mexico. In the news from California, however, it is stated that the commission for Gen. Shields had just been received there, and that the Gen. was absent in Mexico on a wedding tour.

The Union troops in Western Virginia are still successful in their encounters with the rebels, and have driven them entirely from the Kanawha Valley.

A large number of chartered ocean steamers are fitting out at New York for the transportation of troops to some unknown destination. Six or eight gunboats are also in readiness to sail from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and it is reported that several vessels are waiting sailing orders from Hampton Roads.

The blockading ships on the coast of North Carolina have been very successful in intercepting smugglers from the British Provinces. An arrival from Hatteras Inlet, brings accounts of the capture of six vessels—two by the Susquehanna, and four by the gunboat Cambridge.

Gen. Price has moved southward from Lexington, Mo., to effect a junction with Ben McCulloch, when he will give battle to Gen. Fremont, confident of success and of following up the victory by the capture of St. Louis. Price's own force is estimated at 40,000 by the man who makes the above report, but the story is discredited by another, who left Lexington at the same time.

Samuel B. and Wm. D. Gregory, of the navy, were honorably reinstated to their positions, Thursday, and will command vessels fitting out at New York.

The number of volunteers entering the service from all the loyal States, is now about 50,000 per week.

Gen. Wool addressed the mutineers at Rip Raps on their way to Tortugas. He told them that had Gen. McClellen shot them on the spot for rebellion in the face of the enemy he would have been perfectly justified. He, however, had a proposition to make to them, All who were willing to place themselves in his hands should step forward three paces; those who refused should proceed to Tortugas. The entire 150 stepped forward with cheers. They were immediately taken to Newport News, and mustered into N. Y. regiments.

A Cairo dispatch states that a large number of troops were embarking for an important expedition; destination unknown.

Ben McCulloch has issued a proclamation calling on the citizens of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Arkansas, for fifteen regiments for service in Missouri.

The evacuation of Lexington, Mo., by the rebels, is confirmed. They left on Monday afternoon, their rear guard being fired upon with shells by Sturgis, who just then appeared on the opposite side of the shore. Several of the rebels were wounded. Price, receiving information that Sigel was advancing with 40,000 men, moved westward towards Independence. Price's effective force is about 25,000 men, in addition to which he has had about 14,000 irregular troops, whose principal occupation was foraging.

A very doubtful dispatch from Washington to the New York Herald says that General McCook has arrived from Kentucky. He states that a misunderstanding had arisen between Generals Anderson and Mitchell. It is understood that a conference between Gen. McCook and the President has resulted in the appointment of the former to the command of the Department of Kentucky. It is said this selection will not only be agreeable to both Generals Anderson and Mitchell, but satisfactory to Kentuckians.

The following dispatch explain itself:

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.

To Brig. Gen. Curtis, St. Louis:—Gen. Fremont is not ordered to Washington, or from the field, nor is there any court martial concerning him.

(Signed) WM. H. SEWARD.

Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of tobacco, belonging to August Belmont of New York, has been confiscated at Richmond.

There are over 12,000 rebel soldiers in hospital at Richmond.

The abandonment of Ship Island by the rebels, and its occupation by federal troops, is confirmed.

Gen. Wool was to leave Fortress Monroe Thursday night for Washington, General Mansfield having arrived to relieve him.

The pirate Sumter left Surinam, Sept. 5th, for the coast of Brazil, closely followed by the U. S. frigate Powhattan.

☞ The Prince of Wales is now traveling in Prussia, where he is as much of a lion as he was in this country.

☞ Thursday, Nov. 28th, has been appointed Thanksgiving Day in New York.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

NAVAL.—A naval court of inquiry, consisting of Capts. Geo. W. Storer, Wm. S. Walker and Geo. F. Pearson, met at the Navy Yard on Wednesday. The court is ordered relative to certain charges against Commander John Colhoun, of the U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth, recently arrived at this station. William H. Hackett, Esq., is Judge Advocate.

☞ Having been unable to visit the Navy Yard for a few days past, we copied on Friday morning an item from the Portland Advertiser, to which it had been contributed by "a friend,"—supposing, from the editor's remarks, him to be some person employed upon the yard, and tolerably well-posted in affairs there. From what we have since learned, however, we are convinced that the statement must have been founded upon incidents which occurred at a Navy Yard in Kittery or some other portion of Maine, as nothing of the kind has yet been done at the Portsmouth Navy Yard; that is, the ship Constellation has not yet gone out of commission, nor have her stores been taken out, nor her crew discharged.

☞ In consequence of the pressure of public business, the Secretary of War will hereafter leave all letters marked private unopened. So says a Washington dispatch. And it is also reported that the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who was to be in New York a day or two since, wrote to his wife here, that he was too inexorably engaged to see her, should she go there. Verily, the Cabinet are shouldering a load for Atlas himself.

The wives of the Postmaster General and the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, are sisters, daughters of the late Judge Woodbury; and both their families are now in this city.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Rev. Edward C. Miles, of Stratham, will preach at the North Church to-morrow.

Rev. Dr. Geo. R. Noyes, of Cambridge, Mass., will preach at the Unitarian Church.

☞ The Maine 10th Regiment is expected to pass through this city to-day, en route for Washington.

☞ The Boston Transcript states tha the safety of the Great Eastern was, in the opinion of the passengers, owing entirely to the skill and persevering efforts of Mr. Hamilton Towle, an engineer of Exeter, who, after all other attempts had failed, prepared a steerage apparatus to meet the emergency. The English people are loud in praise of the ingenious Yankee mechanic.

☞ The 20th Regimental Band of Massachusetts is spoken of as one of the best which has gone to the war, even among the many good ones from that State. Charles H. Tompson, of South Berwick, is leader; and J. F. Gibbs, of Waterville, band master,—both Maine boys, and both good players. Gibbs was formerly leader of the Waterville Band, and Tompson of the South Berwick and Portsmouth Bands.—The Band numbers twenty-six men, and the master and leader rank as 2d lieutenants; they are therefore commissioned officers, and can at any time resign and receive their discharge. The Band is made up from various sources,—some from the Chester Band and some from Hall's Band, both of Boston.

James Buchanan has written a letter to a Union meeting in Penn. He appeals to his countrymen to join the volunteers in the field." This is the moment for action—prompt, energetic and united action, and not for the discussion of peace propositions. Our recent reverses, so far from producing despondency in the minds of a loyal and powerful people, will only animate them to more mighty exertions in sustaining a war which became inevitable by the assault on Fort Sumter."

I. O. OF O. F.

The members of Piscataqua Lodge I. O. of O. F., No. 6, are requested to meet at their Hall on MONDAY AFTERNOON, Oct. 7, at half-past 1 o'clock, to attend the funeral of our deceased brother, C. S. TOFFAN.

The members of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. of O. F., are respectfully invited to attend and join with the members of the Piscataqua Lodge on this occasion. Per order.

To Owners and Keepers of Dogs.

CITY MARSHAL'S OFFICE, Portsmouth, June 14, 1861.

Having received directions from the Board of Mayor and Aldermen to strictly enforce Ordinance No. 39, which is as follows:

Be it Ordained, &c. SEC. 1. If any owner or keeper of any dog shall suffer such dog to be at large within the limits of Portsmouth, without a wire muzzle, well secured, he shall forfeit and pay therefor a fine of two dollars for each offence, to the use of the city, to be recovered before the Police Court upon due complaint, which it is hereby made the duty of the City Marshal, to make or cause to be made.

SEC. 2. And it is hereby made the duty of the City Marshal and the Assistant Marshals to kill or cause to be killed, any dog found within the limits of this city, and not on the premises of the owner or keeper thereof.

SEC. 3. Any person may lawfully kill any dog, found within the limits of this city, going at large in violation of the provisions of this ordinance.

The same will be enforced as directed, on and after Monday, June 24, 1861.

June17 OREN BRAGDON, City Marshal.

☞ "On and after" Monday next, the C. & P. Railroad will run but one train each way per day, as usual of late years in winter; and Marden's passenger and express wagon will take the course again.

☞ The New-Hampshire Gazette and Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room. Price 3 cents. $1 per year, in advance.

☞ See advertisement of J. W. Channing, "the great Cancer and Humor Doctor," in another column.

Barnum lays it down as a rule, in his work on "The Art of Making Money," that the "proper time to advertise judiciously, is when other folks don't."

Why Longer Suffer?—Those who are so fortunate as to have escaped Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, can hardly conceive the suffering that these diseases cause. The wonder is, that the afflicted continue to suffer, when that infallible remedy, the Oxygenated Bitters, is within their reach. 6t

We have heard of people asking for bread and receiving a stone. We should consider ourselves much worse treated, after asking for Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, to have some other kind palmed off on us. We state this that our readers may enjoy the same pleasure we have—viz.; to get a better Biscuit than was ever made with any other saleratus or soda. Most of the Merchants have it for sale. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. See that the name of Herrick Allen is on the wrapper and no mistake can occur. 3t

QUININE TONIC BITTERS.—The word "bitters" is of somewhat general application, and is sometimes used to describe something which, for one reason or another, it is desired to avoid calling by its true name. Mr. Charles H. Atwood, however, prepares an article under the name of "Quinine Tonic Bitters," to which the name properly applies. The value of his preparation is certified by names in which the public repose the greatest confidence. It is composed of vegetable ingredients, producing effects that otherwise could only be acquired by agents of a stronger and more dangerous nature, and is strongly recommended for cases in which a strength giving stimulant is required. It may be taken with water, sweetened or not, according to taste; or it may be used with wine or spirit, when they are prescribed or found advantageous. We are assured that the greatest care is taken by Mr. Atwood in the selection of the materials of which this medicine is composed, in order to obtain those of the best quality. His "Bitters" are certainly worthy the attention of those who require the use of an article of this kind.—Boston Adv. 1t

ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulder, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Morning Chronicle.

THE REBEL LEADERS.—With the death of Davis, rebellion would lose its head and heart. No other man is capable of playing the despot on so grand a scale. None, certainly, who could perform it to the perilous extreme required for the compactness of a cause which is itself unsound, or who has popularity or public confidence enough to dare attempt it. Davis is a great chieftain. Cool, courtly, plausible and talented, he conceals under a woman's gentleness and the professions of a Christian, a will of adamant and the unscrupulousness of a devil. Experienced, both as a soldier and statesman, he can initiate the policy for either his Cabinet or his Generals; and being equal, if not superior, to any of them in details, he can safely direct and watch the execution of the plans he sets on foot. Too lofty to descend to the vulgarity of temper, it is no task for him to be affable in his discourse, and gentle in his manners.

Thus, through the profound philosophy of pride, he seems one of the meekest and most estimable of men, and insensibly wins the love of all his partizans who are permitted to approach him. He needs all these qualities for the enormous task he has assumed. The smothered loyalty which bubbled for a vent at every footstep of his path, could not have been kept down by an ordinary tyrant, while the ability which enabled him to concentrate a country half unwilling, so that it should outnumber on every battle-field a country five times as powerful in men and means, deserves the name of "genius."

The idea that Alexander H. Stephens could adequately supply his place is idly taken. Weak and irresolute, though shining, he belongs to that class of statesmen whom, though they never stamped a measure upon their country's policy, everybody by concession agrees to consider great.—When they speak for great parties, they insensibly become assimilated with the importance of the faction which they represent, and look bold and resolute by standing in the front of the clamor; but let them attempt to stem the tide without their vast supports, and they whiffle and go down after most inglorious resistance.

This man, Stephens, consulting his judgment, and possibly his heart, directed all the energies of his nature, and all the resources of his oratory to defend the Union cause within the borders of a State, where, if he had been really a great man, he would have been omnipotent.—We all saw his battle, admired the address and apparent boldness with which he deployed the argument; but we also saw, when he was in the triumph of his demonstrations, and in the finest feather, Davis lay his hand upon him, stop his talking, and turning his head with a giant's steady grasp, shove him gently into his ranks. And there he has been, sitting at Satan's footstool, ever since, ready to be used whenever wanted. This is not the man to fill the clothes of Davis, or to wield his sceptre.

Neither the truculent Toombs, the specious Hunter, or the brutal Beauregard.—Least of all the last, who, though a soldier, can stoop to lie publicly in proclamations, and though wearing the assumption of a knight, tells a weeping woman, who, with extended hands and tearful cheek, begs of his "noble nature," in the name of charity and Christ, the few remaining morsels of her brother's body, that he died in a false cause, was flung in a pit, and she must await the conclusion of the war. This beast, who cannot be either a gentleman or a soldier, is fit for nothing but the gallows and God's after-justice.—George Wilkes.

Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"

Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROSWELL.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a lifetime, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal.

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through entirely without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN made for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with an increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 10 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and yet found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

For Wood or Coal.

Operating on the same principle as the celebrated

MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR

VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING

STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept as it is the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

We have on hand many other kinds of COOK STOVES, which are well known in this vicinity, among which are

"EVERYBODY"
WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE
Is convinced of the fact that
It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair.
Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.

"ANYBODY"
Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.

☞ Read this letter:
ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.
Messrs. W. E. Hagan & Co.,—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four till bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROSSYRALL.
Sold everywhere—price 50c., and $1 per bottle.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. McClellan, in an order referring to the late depredations committed by the Union troops, denounces them as atrocious, and feels convinced that they have been the work of a few bad men. He orders that in future the penalty of death shall be enforced upon all parties found guilty of such outrages.

Howard, it is rumored, will decline the secession nomination for Governor, in Maryland, and the Unionists assert that there will be a clear track for them.

Brig. Gen. Sherman is to be promoted to be Major General, and will take command of the Department of Kentucky. The delicate state of Gen. Anderson's health alone renders this arrangement necessary.

Secretary Seward, in a letter to Gov. Washburn, of Maine, says:

"Application has been made to the President for the release of Robert Elliott, a political prisoner in custody at Fort Lafayette. The evidence in his case shows that he had not only conceived the purpose of treasonable co-operation, in the State of Maine, with the insurrectionary citizens arrayed in arms in other States for the overthrow of the Government and the Union, but that he had even gone to the extreme length of getting up an unlawful force to operate in Maine against the lawful action of the State and of the Federal Government. * * * He cannot be released; on the contrary, your vigilance in ferreting out the conspiracy, and in arresting it by denouncing it to the Government and the country, is deemed worthy of especial commendation. If any of the other offenders are still persisting in their treasonable course, you will, I am sure, not fail to give information to this Government."

A dispatch to New York from Washington says the President has declared that Gen. Wool is not to supersede Gen. Fremont; and that if he (Wool) goes to Missouri, it is to examine the military situation of affairs and report.

The actually available force under Fremont on the 2d of August, including Sigel's command of 4000, was 6759 in the entire Department. Of these, Lyon had 2320, the balance, 4439, being the total strength of Fremont's available force at the time Cairo, Bird's Point and Paducah were menaced by accumulating rebel forces. This will show how difficult it would have been for him to reinforce Gen. Lyon.

On the morning of Oct. 3, a portion of Gen. Reynold's brigade, with cavalry and artillery, in all 5000, left Cheat Mountain to make a reconnoissance in force in front of the enemy's position on Greenbriar river, 12 miles distant. They reached there about 8 o'clock, and the rebel pickets, having fired an ineffectual volley, retreated.—One of our batteries then opened fire, to which the enemy responded from the bushes, until they were routed. Another of our batteries then moved forward, taking position 300 yards nearer, and opened a brisk fire. The firing on both sides was almost incessant for an hour, our artillery doing much execution, judging from the lamentable shrieks of the wounded. The enemy's fire did but little injury, their guns being too much elevated. While observations were being made of the enemy's fortifications, occupying three more hours, an irregular fire was kept up, occupying the enemy's attention. Although this partook more of the character of a regular engagement than any previous battle in Western Virginia, our loss was only 10 killed and 11 wounded. We captured 13 prisoners, and also a lot of cattle and horses. The reconnoissance was entirely successful, affording information relative to the strength of the enemy which could not be obtained from scouts.

The reported removal of Gen. Fremont created intense indignation among the Unionists and rejoicing among the rebels, at St. Louis. The recruiting office of an Irish regiment was closed, and a meeting for the formation of a company of Home Guards, adjourned without action. There was great excitement, amounting almost to mutiny, at the Benton Barracks. A mass meeting was to be held on Saturday for an expression of opinion relative to the removal of Gen. Fremont.

The unexpected evacuation of Lexington, Mo., by the rebels, is accounted for as follows:—Gen. Harris' division, (rebel,) 6000 strong, crossed the river on Saturday, and when about six miles from Lexington, met the federal force which is said to have been under Gen. Sturgis. Harris was driven back with the loss of his transportation train and equipage. He reached the river about midnight, closely followed by Sturgis, and immediately began to transport his men across in ferry boats, under the galling fire of federal musketry. Many rebels swam the river, in their impatience to get across, and spread exaggerated reports of Sturgis' strength throughout the city. One ferry boat was reported sunk, and that a large number of rebels had been killed and wounded. On Sunday evening Price began to evacuate the city, and troops were constantly departing until 5 o'clock on Monday morning, when the last regiment left.—Information from official sources discloses the fact that on Tuesday last Gen. Sturgis, with the commands of Montgomery and Jennison, numbering 7500, was at Kansas City, keeping close watch of Price's movements.

A dispatch from Louisville Oct. 4, says:

"The city is much excited to-day by three rumors, which are deemed apocryphal—the capture of New Orleans, the killing of John C. Breckinridge, and the arrest of Humphrey Marshall. The first came by way of St. Louis."

Three rebel tugs put out from Hatteras Inlet, and captured the propeller Fanny. They secured two rifled cannon, 25 Indiana volunteers and a large quantity of stores.

Passengers from Fortress Monroe state Magruder has demanded the evacuation of Newport News in twelve hours.

Another N. Y. Herald dispatch states that information has been received that British steamer Bermuda, from Liverpool, had succeeded in running the blockade at Savannah, with a large cargo of arms, ammunition, provisions, clothing, etc.

S. Grant, army contractor at Santa Fe, writes that Forts Buchanan and Breckinridge were destroyed by Lieut. Moore, to prevent their falling into the hands of the rebels. Fort McLane was abandoned.—Fort Fillmore was treacherously surrendered. The rebels and Indians are devastating the country.

Vohich Church, sixteen miles beyond Alexandria was occupied by our troops, Friday morning, a body of rebel cavalry leaving just in season to receive the fire of our front files, but carrying off their wounded

Gen. McClellan formed a plan to capture the 6000 or 8000 rebels in the vicinity of Munson's Hill by a night attack with 25,000 men, and arranged certain signals, confiding his plans but to a few prominent officers. The rebels discovered his signals, however, and escaped.

Capt. Souper, at New York from Havana, reports two schooners under British colors, but belonging to the South, and another, of New Orleans, under Mexican colors, all loading at that port with muskets, lead and ammunition.

Gen. Fremont will not be superseded nor court martialed while his troops are in the face of the enemy.

Richmond papers say the sick rebels have been removed from Manassas to Richmond, in anticipation of a battle; and that Jeff. Davis, in a speech to the troops at Fairfax Court House on Wednesday, promised that they should soon be in Baltimore.

Private intelligence at Washington is conclusive that the British steamer from Hartley Pool, Eng., evaded the blockade at Savannah.

Col. Mulligan was taken South with Price.

NAVAL.—Capt. Dennis Condry, formerly a well-known ship-master from Newburyport, has been appointed a volunteer lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. Henry Bartlett of Newburyport has been appointed a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, and ordered to the Washington Navy Yard. Mr. Samuel Huse, formerly of Newburyport, has received an appointment as sailing master of the steamer James Adger, now at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

A new Navy Register has just been published, showing the changes which have taken place by deaths, resignations or dismissals up to August 31, 1861.

The gunboat New Era left St. Louis a few days ago for Missouri river, drawing three and a half feet of water, and will navigate the Missouri with ease. It has 300 men on board armed with rifles, every man being a splendid marksman. The vessel is shot and shell proof; the engines, boilers and wheels are protected by heavy irons, and the sharp-shooters and gunners and all others on board will be in no danger whatever, from bullets from shore. Her fine Dahlgren guns—64-pounders—are all in place under bomb-proof decks.

There yet remains in the Navy, in the three grades of captain, commander and lieutenant, 158 loyal men, who were either born in or appointed from Southern States. The following table shows the number of officers now in the Navy:—

	Act. list.	Ret'd list.		Act. list.	Ret'd list.

Eighteen captains, 7 commanders, and 11 lieutenants on the active list are at present unemployed, and 2 captains, 5 commanders, and 12 lieutenants on the retired list are on duty. Three officers of the navy, Lieuts. J. L. Wordens of New York, Kantz of Ohio, and G. L. Selden of Virginia, are prisoners in the hands of the rebels.

The marine corps consists of one colonel commandant, 4 general staff officers, 1 lieutenant colonel, 4 majors, 19 first lieutenants, and 12 second lieutenants.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The citizens of Weare and vicinity held their Annual Fair on Tuesday and Wednesday, with quite good success.—Franklin Pierce was present, and was called on to talk, although speech-making was not the order of the day. The Mirror says he contrived to make a speech with the remarkable reticence of not saying one word on the condition of the country. Of course the country will get along much the same, but was there ever another man, much less an ex-President, who, in a time like this, could remain dumb on a matter of his country's safety?

—— Dr. Nelson, who is authorized to raise a company of cavalry in this State, opened the books in Manchester, on Wednesday, and enlisted twenty men.—He has every prospect of rapid and entire success. They are to be furnished with superior horses, Burnside's carbines, Colt's revolvers, and sabres. An officer from the regular army will command the Regiment.

—— The annual meeting of the N. H. Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist Church at Lake Village, Oct. 16, 17, commencing at 10 o'clock, A. M.

—— On Friday there were in the camp of the 5th Regt. at Concord about 625 men, and the balance will soon be ordered thither. A dispatch from Col. Cross states that he has been successful in the object of his journey to Washington, and the regiment will be furnished with the Springfield rifle, the best fire-arm in the service.

—— The existence of civil war does not seem to have materially changed the condition of any of the banks of circulation in this State. The following are the footings from their quarterly statements made on the first of September, 1860, and 1861.

Amt of capital,	$4,591,000	$5,031,000
Amt. of bills in circulation,	3,353,359	2,892,797
Value of real estate,	79,304	75,250
Amt. of debts due them,	3,612,944	3,129,932
Specie on hand,	262,382	362,277
Amt. of deposits,	1,361,101	1,317,285
Amt. of their deposits in other banks,	683,152	682,941

—— Concord suffered by another disastrous fire on Thursday night. The buildings destroyed were the residence and out buildings of Dr. Charles P. Gage, (his house being an excellent one, built of brick, and compartively new,) the office of Gage & Hildreth; a marble-working establishment, a barn in which the fire originated, and the Merrimac House; for the latter seemed to be left in such a condition as to preclude any idea of repairing. Most of the contents of these were removed, but of necessity in a greatly disordered and damaged condition.

—— Col. William C. Prescott, late of Salem, and President of the Hamilton Insurance Company, has received the appointment of Deputy Surveyor of the Port of Boston. His many friends in this State will be glad to learn that he is so well placed.

—— The Statesman says, a Lieut. Colonel of one of the N. H. Regiments called on Gen. Mansfield, whom he found writing, and, taking off his hat, said: "General, I wish to make some inquiries about the issuing of soldiers' passes." Without looking up, the General brusquely asked, "Where do you want to go?" "No where." "Whom do you want to pass?" "No body."—"What do you want then?" "Simply the information I asked." Then, looking up, the General saw the shoulder straps of the inquirer, and gave the information sought, with a grace which would have been as easy after less fuss.

—— The citizens of Keene held a "rousing" meeting in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, to take leave of Capt. Long and company, now of the Fifth Regiment. A Sword and pistols, obtained by subscription among a few gentlemen, were presented to Capt. Long, and cheering speeches were made. But the ladies did not like the idea of leaving the Lieutenants—"handsome young officers"—to accept from the State the common regulation sword with the other equipments, while their Captain sports a handsome blade as a present from his friends. Accordingly they raised the funds to buy those articles and presented them. Who wouldn't be a soldier?

—— Gen. James Wilson, of Keene, is using all possible haste to close up his business in this State, preparatory to an early departure for California.

—— The Claremont Eagle says:—"We have it from as good authority as the Governor and Council, that a careful investigation into the official accounts and doings of Gen. Abbott, while holding the office of Adjutant General in this State, results in his entire and thorough vindication from charges flippantly made during the session of the Legislature, affecting both his fidelity and his integrity. As the Governor strongly expresses it: 'He comes out of the investigation without the smell of fire about his garments.' Those who knew Gen. Abbott never could have doubted the result."

—— At the fair in Amesbury, last week, to which contributions were made from the neighboring towns in New Hampshire, a fine exhibition of Stock was made by Hon. John M. Weare of Scabrook. Mr. J. C. Eaton, of Seabrook, exhibited two Hens, one fifteen and the other twenty-one years old.

—— Mr. John Sullivan, Jr., son of Hon. John Sullivan of Exeter, who went with the 24 N. H. Regiment as hospital nurse, is among the medical cadets who have just been appointed—the only one from this State.

—— Mr. Aaron Eaton of South Hampton, is now ninety-one years of age, and is in the enjoyment of vigorous health.

——The venerable Mr. James C. Pickering, of Newington, entered upon his 91st year on the 30th Sept. He is the last survivor of twelve children, eleven of whom followed their father, Ephraim, to his grave, in January, 1803. [The Journal says he "has always been a subscriber to that paper, and paying regularly for it, has no doubt added to his peace of mind, and who knows but a consequent continuance of life."—To which we will add, that his son has always been a subscriber to the Weekly Chronicle, and paying regularly for it, perhaps may intend thereby, to live longer than his father.]

☞ Thanks to Mr. W. W. Hanscom, recently from California, overland, for late San Francisco papers. Mr. Hanscom, in answer to our inquiries, also gave us graphic and amusing statements, concerning his interminable stage-ride—(or rather wagon-ride, for large, open Concord wagons are used,)—behind a thousand horses and ponies, four or six being used for a team. He rode thus, continually, eighteen days and nights; and says this stage-riding is far less tiresome than the same number of hours in the cars.

☞ The leading democrats are coming forward earnestly in support of the war. The Maine papers say that John W. Dana, the late Peace candidate for Governor, and Moses McDonald, who has been the prince of bunkers in that State, are among the recent converts. There is no reason why the democrats should lack confidence in the military management on the field, for nearly every commander of eminence belongs to their party. Generals Wool, Harney, McClellan, Dix, McCunn, Butler, Rosecranz, with scores of less note, are democrats; while there are but two prominent Generals—Fremont and Banks, who are Republicans, and they were Democrats originally.

☞ The Biddeford Journal says that letters from officers and others of the 4th Maine Regiment state that three hundred rebel soldiers came into their camp last Friday in a body, and gave themselves up. They were almost famished and nearly naked. Their greatest anxiety seemed to be to get something to eat. This statement comes in several letters, and its reliability is not to be questioned.

A steamer has arrived at Jefferson City, Mo., with the wounded from Lexington. About 100 rebels remained in Lexington, Tuesday morning. One Prescott, who was in Col. Mulligan's fortifications during the seige, conlradicts the report that Gen. Sturgis had arrived there. He says he heard Price tell Rains and Parsons that now was the time to fight, if they intended to, and heard them discussing the propriety of falling back and fortifying Rose Hill, in Johnson Co.

It was thought that Gen. Fremont would leave Jefferson City on Saturday; his army are enthusiastic, confident and burning to meet the enemy.

☞ Wm. H. Russell, the correspondent of the London Times, while on his late hunting expedition in Illinois, was arrested in the town of Wilmington for shooting game on the Lord's Day, in violation of the law, and fined fifty dollars, one-half of which goes to the State School Fund.

☞ The Gun Boat being built by Mr. Jackman, of Newburyport, will probably be launched this week.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in the

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering. But at this critical time, I was advised to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, although with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours,

BENJ. WHEELER.

ROWING.—In these dull times for amusements, but few of our people avail themselves of the opportunity offered, of witnessing a scene at once picturesque and exciting—which if advertised in the papers would attract hundreds of our citizens daily to our wharves at sunset.

At the tap of the bell at the Navy Yard, the workmen emerge from the various buildings as if by magic, and soon a hundred boats of all descriptions, shapes and lengths, from the diminutive "punt" to the large whaleboat, are seen shooting out from the wharves of the Navy Yard. Trials of speed by the rival boats are of course a natural consequence. On Thursday quite an exciting race occurred—which is worthy of mention in your columns—between the boats "Zouave," "Shakespeare" and "Nameless." The Zouave was manned by the caulkers, the Shakespeare by the riggers, and the Nameless by the carpenters. Being in line, at the word "give way," they dashed on, and for a time the result "hung trembling in the balance," but soon the Zouave shot ahead, of its opponents, and maintained the lead to the end—winning by six or eight lengths.

The race was witnessed by a number of persons on the wharves, the crew of the Constellation, and those in the boats on the river at the time.

The "Zouave" is a fine twelve oared whaleboat—so are the other two—lately purchased at New Bedford. She is owned and commanded by Samuel W. French, Esq., Master Caulker at the Navy Yard. If there is to be another impromptu regatta—"may we be there to see." DOT.

☞ The alarm of fire on Sunday evening was false, for all we could learn.

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Sambucl Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction 1y

AT THE TEMPLE.—This evening the great moral temperance drama will be played for the first time. The managers respectfully inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that it is their intention to produce with a fine cast, and great care, G. E. Locke's great moral lesson, entitled TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR-ROOM. This piece has met with a success unequalled, except perchance by the celebrated "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The moral of the piece is excellent; the characters truly drawn to life—who that sees it could fail to weep over the death-bed of Little Mary, the angel child, or not shudder at the awful delirium of the poor inebriate. As a lesson to youth it is without a parallel. All must be wiser and better who witness it.

This Thrilling Drama has been taken, scene by scene, from T. S. Arthur's celebrated Story, bearing the same title. The representations of "TEN NIGHTS IN A BAR-ROOM," have been witnessed by over 100,000 persons—heads of families, members of churches, all interested in the propagation of the great Doctrines of Temperance, have borne testimony to the excellent effect produced by the life-like delineations of folly, misery, madness and crime! caused by the brutal, disgusting and demoralizing vice of drunkenness. A beautiful, new appropriate set of scenery will added to the production of this Great Play. 1tD

☞ The gun-boat Kearsarge was taken out of the floating dry dock, at the Navy Yard, on Saturday afternoon, and hauled under the shears. The sloop-of-war Portsmouth will probably go into the dry dock in a few days.

STREET BEGGARS are becoming numerous and great nuisances, and ought not to be tolerated. There is no necessity for anybody to beg on the streets in this city. If they belong here, the charitable societies, City Missionary, or Overseers of the Poor will provide for them: and if they are strangers, the police will give them lodgings and food. But it often happens that beggars at private houses are impostors, some of them looking around to see what can be stolen, and others desirous of money only to purchase rum. Oftentimes when bread is given them it is thrown away in the streets; and to give them money is worse than throwing it away. Nobody needing aid will suffer in this city, if they apply for it at the proper places; and nobody should encourage street begging unless he would encourage vice.

THE U. S. LOAN.—We learn that the Subscription Agent of the U. S. loan at the Piscataqua Exchange Bank in this city, is authorized to continue to receive subscriptions to the loan, notwithstanding the fifteen days in which the subscription was to be made, having expired. Those who could not get their funds to invest there in season for the time first alloted for subscription, will therefore still have the opportunity of taking what they may desire in the loan.

☞ Speaking of vigorous old age, we observed the venerable Mr. Benjamin Akerman, of this city, about 85 years old, passing along our streets, Saturday, thro' the storm, with a roll of leather under his arm, we presume to "work up" at his shop,—where he yet handles the lapstone, and gives raps, which, if they don't call personages from the spirit-land, are sufficiently vigorous to send any one there to explore "the unknown hereafter,"—if aimed at them. Mr. Akerman is yet in the enjoyment of a good degree of health,—deafness being his chief inconvenience.

☞ The weather of Thursday and Friday was such as to make the heart glad; it was a true touch of the Indian Summer quality. On Thursday, the wind was fresh from the West in the forenoon, but subsided somewhat towards evening. The days were warm, and windows were open nearly all day. Flies were as troublesome as at any time during the season, and mosquitoes still lived. But, Saturday, a change came over us; the rains descended, and "Good morning,—cold day,"—was the cry.

☞ The Concord & Portsmouth Railroad runs but one train each way, from to-day—and that leaves Portsmouth at 10 minutes past 4,—not at 20, as formerly. If you want to get to Exeter in the morning, take Marden's express, or let him take you.

☞ We are in want of a Daily Chronicle of Feb. 10 and Sept. 11, 1860, and are willing to pay well for them, besides being much obliged to any friend who can furnish them, or either of them.

☞ Postmaster General Blair left Washington on Friday afternoon, for this city, intending to return immediately with his family.

☞ Mr. Henry C. Webster, of this city, has been appointed Master's Mate, U. S. N., and ordered to Washington Navy Yard.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in excruciating pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and anodyne plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as effectual, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist.

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

From the Journal
ACT OF THE CITY COUNCIL ON THE DEATH OF EX-MAYOR TOPPAN.

On Thursday evening, Oct. 3d, a joint committee of the City Council, to whom was referred the subject of the decease of Ex-Mayor Toppan, reported the following series of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth, That we have learned with deep sorrow and regret the death of our esteemed fellow citizen, the Hon. CHRISTOPHER S. TOPPAN, Ex-Mayor of this City.

Resolved, That we sincerely deplore the loss of the deceased; a loss to his family, and to his fellow citizens and that we tender our heartfelt sympathies to his distressed family in their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That the City Government attend his funeral, and that an invitation be extended to the Ex-Mayors of the City to unite with them. Also, that the flags of the City be displayed at half mast on the day.

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to communicate a copy of these resolutions to the afflicted family of the deceased.

BEWARE OF SWINDLERS.

A company of Vagabonds, consisting of M AINSLEY SCOTT, the "unequalled basso," (who says he is the son of James Scott of the Lowell Vox Populi) — WM. HENRI RUSSELL, "the unrivalled," &c. (who is unrivalled in lying except by the father of lies)—and a third, who, ashamed of his own name assumed that of one of the most respectable pianists in Boston, advertised a Grand Musical Soiree at the Temple in this city on Monday evening last. They so nearly imitated the gulse of gentlemen, that they were able to contract debts in various way—making no small bluster in a pompous way. They flooded the city with several thousand bills, and displayed posters large as bed blankets. They secured an audience which was ample to pay all expenses, and sneaked away in the same fast express morning, through the western exit of the depot, leaving the bills unpaid.

The public are hereby cautioned against being imposed upon by this set of rascals, who are better fitted for the State Prison than for Soirees from which the actors intend to escape "Scott free." Papers throughout New England will of course notice the above, and stop the career of these swindlers.

Portsmouth, N. H. Oct. 3, 1861.

EXTENSION OF THE ROCKINGHAM HOUSE.—The business of this house the past season has been overflowing. Not more than two-thirds of the applicants have been able to obtain accommodations. We see that the enterprising proprietor, Maj. Coburn, is making arrangements for an enlargement of his premises. The house was built about seventy years ago by Judge Woodbury Langdon, as a private residence. As at the seat of his brother, Gov. John Langdon, in front on both sides of the house "porter's lodges" were erected, in English style. These are the only cases in which these accompanyments of a residence have been introduced here, and we have been informed that they are the only cases in New England. These lodges have heretofore been more for ornament than for use. Maj. C. is about making an enlargement of both of them to two stories, and a corresponding extension in width and depth, so as to give two rooms on each floor—the second story being on a level with the lower floor of the main house; and doors will open to them from the ladies' parlor on the one side and the gentlemen's parlor on the other. This will not probably damage the beautiful symmetry of the structure, as the roof will be flat.

We understand that Dr. Oliver's family will soon become boarders at the house, and that the western wing has been engaged by him for his office, parlor, etc.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and it strikes its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons

From a Partnership Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1858.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellence equalizes surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR SIR, AYER: I cannot answer you what complaint I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that is ever from with a purgative medicine. I have great opportunity to see an effectual cathartic in my daily contact with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PRESLEY, Clerk of Supreme Court.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1855.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D., Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, which gives in small doses all bilious dysentery and diarrhœas. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in Boston. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1857.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, Fits, etc.

From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the medical profession. I find that compliant, which, although bad enough in itself, is the prepositor of others that are worse. I believe my firmness to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Rev. E. Stuart, Physician and Rabbi, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawker, of the Methodist Episc. Church.

PLEASANT HILL, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my liver and brought on sores excoriating alternate pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were marvellous. Indeed, by persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SUTARE CHANNEL, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec. 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that has afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its improper exhibition. We obtain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable damp grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at center and of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and zinc jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, ESQ., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1860.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it is removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared for next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DIRECT OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current is utilized for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes are carried on, "to a nicety," and fully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and now found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

SAMBUCUS TREE, OF PORTUGAL,

The Great Remedy for Kidney Affections, Rheumatism, Chronic Complaints.
Excellent Wine for Females.

Every Family should use the SAMBUCI WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities as a gentle Stimulant, Diuretic and Sudorific, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.
AS A DIURETIC, it imparts a healthy action to the Glands and Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.
SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE is not a mixture or manufactured article, but is pure from the juice of the Portugal Elder, grown in New Jersey, recommended by Chemists and Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to any other Wines in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children.
A LADIES' WINE, because it will not intoxicate as other wines, as it contains no mixture of spirits or other liquors, and is admired for its rich, peculiar flavor and nutritive properties, imparting a healthy tone to the digestive organs, and a blooming, soft and healthy skin and complexion.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1861.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Fred. G. Coggin, son of John Coggin, Esq., of Nashua, has been appointed Assistant Engineer in the Navy, and Ephraim H. Dewey, son of R. E. Dewey, Esq., of the same place, has been appointed Master's Mate in the navy.

—— The Nashua Manufacturing Company have contracted with the government to furnish 300,000 cotton flannel drawers. They are all to be sewed by hand.

—— Messrs. Gage, Warner and Whitney of Nashua have a contract for manufacturing cannon. They are forged by the Nashua Iron Company, of which Gen. Gage is agent, and finished at the shop of Gage, Warner & Whitney. The cannon are made upon the "stub twist" principle, bars of iron being wound round a spindle, over and over, and then welded together.

—— The 4th N. H. Regiment arrived at Washington, Sept. 30, and went into camp about a mile from the New Hampshire Third and north of the city. They have not yet received their rifles.

——Charles H. Hanson, of South New Market, was killed on Saturday, in attempting to draw his gun forward with the muzzle toward him. He was twenty-one years of age.

—— Exeter has furnished over 100 soldiers to the war, twenty-eight being from the Carriage Manufactory of Messrs. Hea[illegible], Jewell & Co.

—— The editor of the News Letter has actually got off a joke. He says the Exeter ladies are rebels—"because they wish to be taken by the Union men." The beautiful ladies of that pleasant town—and they are plenty there—must look out for that horrid editor, if he is going to tell tales out of school in this perfectly outrageous style. But we should say the ladies who wish to "join the Union men," are not rebels.—And by-the-bye, where is our friend of the Ballot—is'n't he a true Union man? As the Exeter girls all "wish to be taken," there must be a better chance for bachelors, than down this way—for our Portsmouth girls (say) they don't wish to be taken.

—— Capt. Paul R. George, of this State, Brigade Quartermaster, has been appointed by Gen. Butler, on his staff, as Assistant Quartermaster of the new department—called the Department of New England.

—— Nathan Lord, Jr., son o President Lord of Dartmouth College, has been appointed Lieut. Colonel of the Vermont Regiment. He was captain of an Indiana company of three months volunteers, and served in Western Virginia with his command. He was at the battle of Phillips, and behaved with so much gallantry and coolness that he was publicly commended for his conduct by his superior officers.

HAMPTON, Oct. 5.

An attempt was made on Friday night, about half-past 12, to break into the store of George W. Lane & Co., in this town, by boring through the panel in the front door. The burglar had succeeded in making a hole big enough to admit his hand, and had removed the fastenings, when he was interrupted by the appearance of Capt. David Knowles, who was on his way to the depot to hit the freight train from Portsmouth, to see a man who goes up on the train, and whose office is over the store of Messrs. Lane & Bo. Seeing a man standing in front of the store, he accosted him, thinking it was the man he wished to see; but finding out his mistake, was passing on towards the depot, when his suspicions were aroused by hearing the man run; and on going back to the door, he found it had been tampered with. He aroused the Messrs. Lane, and on going into the store, found the door had been opened, but nothing was missing. But for the timely appearance of Mr. Knowles, the thief might have made a good haul, as the stock is large, both of staple and fancy goods. The burglar probably had an accomplice near with a team, though none was seen.

POPULARITY OF THE LOAN.—The first day after the 7.30 notes were received in Boston by the Assistant Treasurer, the outside sales were $200,000, including a subscription of $100,000 from one of the wealthiest families of Boston, and $20,000 from one of the oldest firms. The Hospital Life Insurance Company now take $100,000 of the second instalment. A distinguished foreigner, in New York, has taken $300,000 of the seven and three-tenths loan, and has sent orders to Europe for the sale of consols to the amount of $700,000 additional, as he intends to invest $1,000,000 in the new loan. The citizens of New Bedford have already taken a quarter of a million of the loan. The Providence Journal states that the subscription to the national loan from Rhode Island already amounts to one million of dollars.

THE REBELLION.

Gen. Wool has returned to Fortress Monroe.

The fortifications on Munson's Hill are nearly completed and are much more formidable than those of the rebels.

It is not known that there was any picket firing during last week.

It is said that the rebels will soon attempt to run the blockade at Old Point, with two steamers from Norfolk and Yorktown, and another powerful steamer on James River.

A dispatch from Gen. Banks' division says, rumors are current that Gen. Stone will shortly lead our advance over the Potomac. His forces have been strengthened largely of late. The enemy are known to have largely augmented their force in the vicinity of Leesburg.

Gen. Fremont's charges and specifications against Col. Blair, including Blair's letter to the Postmaster General, having been published in the St. Louis Democrat, Gen. Fremont states that the publication was without his knowledge or sanction, and that he has telegraphed to the President and Gen. Scott that the act meets his unqualified disapproval.

Gen. Scott's release of Blair is understood to be peremptory, until such time as charges are made against him.

Nine regiments, most of which are full, and the rest rapidly filling up, have been furnished by Kansas for the war. Every man in Kansas is well drilled and ready to fight if occasion requires.

There are about 11,000 armed rebels scattered over the south-western part of Missouri, including between 6000 and 7000 at Camp Walker, in Arkansas, eight miles below the Missouri line, under young Ben. McCulloch.

The report of Ben. McCulloch's death is repeated, the story being told with circumstantial minuteness. "His death was concealed even from his own men for a time, it being the policy of the surviving leaders to operate on the prestige of his name. His son Ben. was therefore placed in nominal command, in order to keep up the deception."

The news of the capture of the propeller Fanny being received at Hatteras Inlet, an armed expedition, for the relief of the troops, sailed on the morning of the 3d, but nothing had been heard from it at 5 o'clock that evening.

The report that our forces have established themselves on Ship Island is confirmed. The same authority considers the rumored capture of New Orleans "premature," although prepared to hear of that event at almost any time.

News has reached St. Louis that about two weeks ago, John Ross, Chief of the Cherokees, had called, by proclamation, 8000 Cherokees around him, and declared for the Union. Reed, an influential half-breed, and leader of the secession party, raised the standard of revolt, and had a skirmish near Talequah with Ross's body guard, in which the latter were victorious. This news conflicts with recently published accounts, but an active Government scout, thoroughly acquainted with matters in the Southwest, pronounces it reliable.

Steamer Spaulding has sailed from Fortress Monroe for Hatteras Inlet, with 500 troops. Gen. Mansfield went on her to assume chief command at the Inlet.

Part of the cargo of the British steamer Bermuda, which succeeded in running the blockade, is said to consist of 70 tons of gunpowder, 7000 Enfield rifles, 10 rifled cannon, 60,000 pairs of shoes, and a large quantity of blankets, clothing, quinine and morphine. Minister Adams remonstrated against her sailing, but the British Foreign Office would not interfere.

Commissary John Clark, late of the Boston Courier, was on board the propeller Fanny, but left with the first boat load of stores, and thus escaped capture. The captain of the Fanny is severely censured, as it appears the rebel vessels were not seen until they were within four miles of the propeller on Thursday morning.

Col. Franklin, a member of the Canadian Parliament, who was lately authorized by the U. government to raise a regiment regimen o Lancers, has been arrested at Toronto, C. W., for violation of the neutrality laws.

A large quantity of shot and shell were sent from Washington to Fortress Monroe on Monday.

Barnum lays it down as a rule, in his work on "The Art of Making Money," that the "proper time to advertise judiciously, is when other folks don't."

The Insurgents protest that they won't pay their debts to the people of the United States, and yet the United States troops are determined to draw on them at sight!

☞ Gen. McClellan is about to organize a regiment of signal officers—lieutenants detached from every regiment.

Letters come from the South by being sent the British Provinces in vessels running the blockade, and from there by mail.

TO JOHN C. FREMONT.

Thy error, Fremont, simply was to act,
A plain man's part, without the statesman's tact,
And, taking counsel but of common sense,
To strike at cause, as well as consequence. [thee,
So take thou courage! God has spoken through Irrevocable, the mighty words, Be Free! [tear,
The land shakes with them, and the slave's dull
Turns from the rice-field, stealthily to hear
Who would recall them now must first arrest [west,
The winds that blow down from the free North-
Ruffling the Gulf; or, like a scroll, roll back
The Mississippi to its upper springs.
Such words fulfil their prophecy, and lack
But the full time to harden into things. J.G.W.

BULL RUN.—The first monthly Part, of the Second Volume of the Rebellion Record, published by G. P. Putnam, New York, is devoted entirely to the battle of Bull Run, or Stone Bridge. It contains admirable descriptions from every point of view, and includes the official reports of Gen. McDowell, each Division and each Brigade; official reports of the rebels; Russell's letters on the battle and its results (with notes,) graphic narrations from eye-witnesses, "Munchausenians," and a mass of other matter, rendering this number one of the most valuable yet issued. It is complete in itself, and can be obtained separately, the price being fifty cents. But, as we look upon it, it is a duty which young men, especially, owe to themselves, to obtain a complete set of the Record for future reference.

SOME POTATOES.—"O, potatoes, they don't grow small over there," in North Hampton. We have received, by the hand of Postmaster Hobbs, of the North Hampton Hotel, a couple of potatoes almost too big for belief. One is labelled, "Jackson White; raised by Freeman Drake, North Hampton; weight, 2 lbs. 3 oz.;"—and the other, "Kentucky Seedling, raised by Nath'l Drake, North Hampton; weight, 3 lbs. 9 oz." Mr. Hobbs says Mr. Drake told him there was one even larger, but the boy who was digging them attempted to lift it, and finding it altogether too big for him! let it drop, and thereby broke it.

THE SPANISH EXPEDITION.—The New York Times' Washington dispatch says advices from Havana state that the Spanish expedition fitting out there against Mexico, will consist of six batteries of howitzers and 10,000 men. It will be ready to sail about the 1st of November. At last accounts from Spain, the war steamer Leone was waiting the result of the Cabinet conference in reference to the coalition against Mexico, and it is understood that she will bring out the ultimatum of Spain. Considerable pains is taken to impress the public with the idea that Spain is taking these steps on her own responsibility; but it is well understood that the English and French governments are to send their quota of men and means.

☞ Thursday afternoon, the fine large barn (100 feet in length) on the Webster Farm at Marshfield, Mass., was entirely burned, with its contents, consisting of 30 tons of hay, a large assortment of farming tools, a horse, carriages, &c., &c. At one time it was feared the flames would extend to the dwelling house, where resides the widow of the lamented statesman, together with the family of his son.

☞ The pony express brings news from San Francisco to the 28th ult. The cavalry regiments from California are full, and infantry regiments are fast filling up. The Forrest Theatre at Sacramento, was destroyed by fire on the 26th. The building cost about $100,000. There was no insurance.

☞ It is said that Commodore Craven is about to make the Harriet Lane the flag ship of the Potomac flotilla. The steamer Underwriter has gone to Fortress Monroe, to join the Atlantic squadron.

☞ The carriage house of ex-President Buchanan, at Wheatland, Pa., was broken open last week and a valuable set of double harnesses, purchased shortly after his inauguration, at a cost of $530, stolen.

☞ The Second Auditor of the Treasury has been instructed, in settling the accounts of deceased soldiers, to credit them with the one hundred dollars' bounty granted by Congress.

☞ The artist Leutze is to paint the ceiling of the corridor of the Capitol; the subject is to be "Westward the Star of Empire takes its way," and his commission is $20,000.

☞ Ebenezer W. Pierce, Brig. Gen. Mass. Volunteer Militia, late commanding at Camp Hamilton, Va., is now serving as a private soldier in Col. Fletcher Webster's Regiment.

☞ It is said that the rebel gunboat Yankee has actually sunk. She received a shot in her hold in the recent engagement, which so disabled her that she sunk on her passage to Memphis.

☞ Adams' Express will transport to the nearest Quartermaster, free of charge, all blankets, &c., which patriotic citizens may present to the army.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our terms for Subscription, Advertising and Job Work, except where accounts are open, are, invariably and exclusively, cash in advance of doing the work.

Subscribers to the old N. H. Gazette, who wish the paper continued to them, will please notify us, at the Chronicle Counting Room. Those who had paid in advance, may receive our paper for the amount due them, by leaving their order with us, or with the late publisher.—While we never wish to send a Daily or Weekly paper which we print, where it is not wanted or will not be paid for, we are very desirous to send them where they are wanted and paid for.

The Advertisements in the old Gazette have been continued in our paper, and we shall be pleased to retain them at the same rates. We shall also send a copy of our Weekly paper regularly to those who have advertisements in it—for which there will be no extra charge; and altho' the Gazette may not be especially interesting to those who read the Daily Chronicle, yet the Weekly will be found of some value to send to friends abroad.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—Subscribers who find a pen and-ink mark about this paragraph, are thereby informed that their subscription has expired; and they may forward more money if they wish the paper continued.

BLACK LIST.—Although we have large and excellent lists of cash-paying patrons, yet a few bogus "customers" do occasionally creep into our credit and get on our books. We are preparing a Black List of such chronic delinquents, and shall print it in a few days, after giving all concerned a fair notice and chance to settle up and keep their names out of print.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

To all who shall pay in advance the Daily Chronicle, or $1 for the Weekly, for the year 1862, we will furnish the paper without charge to Jan. 1.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

FROM BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

WAR,—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,

☞ A very large concourse of people attended the funeral of Hon. Christopher S. Toppan, on Monday afternoon, at the Stone Church. The services were by Rev. Dr. Peabody, late pastor of the church. They were brief and appropriate. The lodges of Odd Fellows, the City Council, and the long train of carriages containing mourners, formed a very solemn and imposing funeral procession. Flags were hoisted at half mast throughout the city.

☞ Capt. Pearson, Commandant of the Navy Yard, visited the Constellation on Friday, and administered the oath of allegiance to the crew. The oath was read, and those who declined taking it were told to step on one side, and those who wished to take it to hold up their hands. While Capt. Pearson was explaining the oath, and before he had fairly got through, every arm was upstretched, and nine cheers for the Union were given spontaneously by all on board. Three cheers were given for Capt. Pearson. The men would have cheered until he left the ship, had not the first lieutenant [stopped them. So says a correspondent of the Boston Advertiser.

☞ Perhaps it is of no use to advertise, but on Monday morning we announced that we were desirous of obtaining copies of our Daily issue for Feb. 10 and Sept. 11, 1860, and at half-past 8 that morning, the papers were upon our desk. On Saturday we advertised a dwelling house to be let, for Mr. Harvey, and at noon the bargain had been struck.

☞ The Maine Tenth Regiment passed through this city about 1 o'clock on Sunday noon, on their way to Hampstead, L.I., there having been a delay in Portland of one day. A few of the men were left behind, having received a furlough until Monday morning, a general impression prevailing that the regiment would not leave until Monday or Tuesday. A fine band of 24 performers, under the leadership of Chandler, formerly of the Portland Band, accompanied them.

☞ The Herald states that "although not readily noticed—for it is not to be seen upon the outside—great improvements have been made upon the Newburyport Bridge. There has been scarcely a fair day for years, when men with saw and hammer might not be seen at work strengthening that bridge. This has gone on till what a few years ago was so weak as to be a scarecrow, has become a wonder of strength.—We doubt whether a stronger bridge—unless it is a small one entirely of stone—can be found in New England. The corporation began at the bed of the river, on the foundations of the piers, and they have worked up and through, till it is a multiplication of timbers, plank, braces, knees, bows, iron bolts and supporters. There may be ever so many cars running over the top, and ever so many teams and horses on the floor, and there is no more jar than though it was on the solid earth. In passing through it one day last week, we were surprised at the changes that had been made, and were satisfied that one-half of all the material could be taken out and then it would be as strong as a common bridge."

☞ Our readers may enjoy a pleasant day or two, at a very cheap rate, by attending the York County Fair, at Saco and Biddeford, which opens to-day, and continues through to-morrow and Thursday. Passengers will be carried at half fare on the P. S. & P. Railroad.

Hon. Kinsley S. Bingham, U. S. Senator from Michigan, died recently.

Why Longer Suffer?—Those who are so fortunate as to have escaped Dyspepsia and its attendant evils, can hardly conceive the suffering that these diseases cause. The wonder is, that the afflicted continue to suffer, when that infallible remedy, the Oxygenated Bitters, is within their reach. 6t

We have heard of people asking for bread and receiving a stone. We should consider ourselves much worse treated, after asking for Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus, to have some other kind palmed off on to us. We state this that our readers may enjoy the same pleasure we have—viz.; to eat a better Biscuit than was ever made with any other Saleratus or soda. Most of the Merchants have it for sale. Their depot is 112 Liberty Street, New York. See that the name of Herrick Allen is on the wrapper and no mistake can occur. 3t

HENRY R. COSTAR:—All the summer I have been troubled with Roaches and Mice. I was actually ashamed of the house, for the Roaches were everywhere. I purchased a box of your Exterminator and tried it, and in one week there was not a Roach or Mouse in the house.
JOHN B. GIVENS, No. 94 Elm Street.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer. If they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We had tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but Costar's article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice and Bed Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country. Medina (O.) Gazette.

MORE GRAIN and provisions are annually destroyed in Grant County, by vermin, than would pay for tons of this Rat and Insect Killer. —Lancaster (Wis.) Herald.

HENRY R. COSTAR:—Your Exterminator is received, used, and pronounced a decided success. We used a box of it, and the way the Rats and Mice "raised Nel" that night, was a caution to sleepers. Since then, not a Rat or Mouse has been heard in kitchen or cellar.—Musgrove (Iowa) Times.

I HAVE BEEN SELLING your Exterminator for the last year, and have found it a sure shot every time. I have not known it to fail in a single instance.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.
Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been prescribed to the public as curatives.
Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c, and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.
Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.
The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentation, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever
It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.
It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.
The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.
This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

MY CREED.

BY ALICE CARY.

I hold that Christian grace abounds
Where charity is seen—that when
We climb to heaven, 'tis on the rounds
Of love to men.

I hold all else, named piety,
A selfish scheme—a vain pretence—
Where centre is not, can there be Circumference?

This I moreover hold, and dare
Affirm where'er my rhyme may go;
Whatever things be sweet or fair,
Love makes them so.

Whether it be the sickle's rush
Thro' wheat-fields, or the fall of showers,
Or by some cabin door a bush
Of ragged flowers.

'Tis not the wide phylactery,
Nor stubborn fast, nor stated prayers,
That make us saints—we judge the tree
By what it bears.

And when a man can live apart
From works, on theologic trust,
I know the blood about his heart
Is dry as dust.

—New York Ledger.

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire, so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a single plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and evenly heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves; but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a lot to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of simple size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, can be used for a hot except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mather, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Meadum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE STOVE for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is
STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent KESKIN'OILR, (of copper, with a tin coating,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and bread, meat and dinner prepared the next day with no sensible waste of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current substituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested
FOR TWENTY YEARS,
and not found wanting in any particular. Yet, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And now we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three more—one to the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

For Wood or Coal,
Operating on the same principle as the celebrated
MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR
VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING
STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

It is so safe a remedy, that the contents of a bottle might be drank without harm. Physicians look with wonder upon its speedy cures, for it has heretofore been thought absolutely necessary to use preparations of lead or mercury to cure immediately; but the MAGNOLIA BALM contains neither. It is the most elegant and neatly put up article for sale anywhere, and may be obtained of all our Apothecaries and Fancy Goods dealers.
☞ Price 50 cts. a bottle.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1861.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

CITY OF NEW YORK, Oct. 5, '61.

Dear Chronicle:—The wedding alluded to in my last, was consummated on Tuesday, and a brief mention of the arrangements may be of interest to those ladies who honor this correspondence with a perusal, and those of my male readers, who are able to see their marriage in the future.

The church, entrance, and even the walk were crowded with people, many of whom grew restless at the hour's delay in the proceedings, and clambered on pews, railings and window sills. The bride's dress was of white moire antique with an overdress of white lace, with diamond armlets, bracelets and necklace; and a large diamond cross an inch and a half long confined the bridal veil at her forehead.

The magnificent brown stone orifice, the future residence of the parties, was redolent with the perfume of the most costly flowers.

The walls of the bridal chamber were covered with crimson satin, box plaited, and the ceiling with the same material floted toward the centre-piece.

The tete-a-tetes were covered with white satin with wreaths of flowers embossed on them, and the bed covering and three-cornered pillows were also of white satin, embroidered with flowers.

Two regiments went South from this city yesterday, and the 1st Mass. Artillery passed up Broadway last evening.

The Herald continues to inform its readers that "a decisive engagement may be expected to-day," reminding me of days gone by, when in attending ship launches, sundry urchins were wont to commence, a half-hour before the appointed time, the cry of "There she goes!"

Among the distinguished arrivals lately, we noticed your former correspondent "Islington." He did not come round in his tub however, probably from fear of confiscation, and arrest for sailing in Southern bottoms, his vessel having originally served as a molasses hogshead in secesh latitudes!

With the many other mysterious proceedures of the times, an expedition is fitting out at this port, in which five propellers, now anchored off the Battery, are to take part. The Third N. H. Regiment is expected here from Washington to-morrow morning, and will be joined by the baggage train which came up from Hampstead Plains yesterday, and are now quartered in the Park. Two of our city regiments are under orders to march at twenty-four hours notice, and something is evidently "up." how long it's going to stay up, is indefinite. The Government officials and the N. Y. Herald, without doubt, know all about it; but unfortunately, the rest of mankind, including your correspondent, "don't see it!"

NEWINGTON.

☞ Several German astronomers have calculated elliptic orbits for the late great comet, giving periods of 601 and 1540 years; other astronomres find parobolic and hyperbolic orbits. This comet is still visible through so small an instrument as an opera-glass, and the American and European astronomers with their leviathan telescopes will continue to observe it for a month to come.

The recent announcement in the London papers, (and copied by the American,) that a new comet had been discovered in the northern heavens, proves to be without foundation. But two comets have appeared this year so far.

☞ In the rigging of the impromptu stearing gear of the Great Eastern, a seaman descended by a rope from the stern of the ship, with a knife in his mouth, to cut through some entanglement. It was a task of no common risk, for with every roll of the ship and every dash of the waves, he was violently submerged. But he persevered, cut through the entanglement, and was hauled up safely.

☞ Preble, the wife murderer, and Ford, who killed Dwier, were arraigned before Court in Androscoggin Co., Me., on Saturday. The former pleaded "guilty," the latter "not guilty." Ford subsequently retracted his plea, and pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter. He was sentenced to five years in the State Prison. Preble was sentenced to be hanged.

☞ A wife at thirteen—a divorce at fifteen—a suicide at eighteen—is the brief but significant history of a young woman who took strychnine last week in Bleecker street, New York, and so prematurely ended her mortal existence.

☞ Mrs Greenhow, a female rebel, who was imprisoned in her own house in Washington, has sent her washing bill to the Secretary, and he is puzzled whether to pay it or not. [Better not pay it—let the rebels do their own washing.]

☞ The cash value of male slaves in Charleston, S. C., at present, as shown by a recent auction sale, is $315; female $400.

RECOLLECTIONS OF AULD ACQUAINTANCE.—By UNCLE TOBY.

In the preparation to build a new Depot in this city, for the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad, it became necessary to demolish the old machine shop, which was formerly the residence and tan house of Toppin Maxwell.

This offers a fitting occasion for the production of one of Uncle Toby's stories.

TOPPIN MAXWELL.—Why such a man ever drifted away from sweet Ireland, where he was born, or why he happened to drift into the old harbor of Piscataqua, in which he lived, and near one of whose tributaries he died, your deponent knoweth not and therefore sayeth not. But the fact that he did drift away from the one and into the other is about as well established as any similar fact can be; inasmuch as the veritable Uncle Toby himself, in his boyhood, has often paddled in the water (not to mention the mud) which surrounded the Maxwell mansion, and rendered the whole domain a landscape very much like a sketch of Noah's view from his window, shortly after the Ark rested. That he had drifted up the harbor and was moored to the shore thus, rests on the testimony of an eye witness. That he had drifted away from the green isle was no less manifest to every ear which listened for once to the richest and most unctuous brogue but ever rattled from the tongue of a native.

But—but—the reader may ask, How and why did he live in the harbor, when land was plentiful all around it, and when a little money would have given him a dry acre? The why of this question can only be guessed at: the how will soon be plain to the mind of the reader, almost to his eye. Perhaps the reason why he planted himself in a mudhole on the flats was, that such a lot, being worth little, cost little; or that, being a tanner, he was not afraid of water; or that, being an old bachelor, he thought it was not much matter where he lived. It might be any one of these reasons; or it might possibly be all of them together—for he loved money, he was an excellent tanner, and he never married. Or it might be none of them. For, as "there is no disputing about tastes," he might deem his location the most delightful and desirable of all the lovely spots on our shores. If this was so, one happiness he doubtless enjoyed, viz: a home, which no one envied him in the possession. And, though probably nobody else thought so, he always acted as if he thought it the best place in the world.

Let no one infer from the hint about Noah, that Maxwell's ark rested on Mount Ararat, or any other mount, whence he came down at certain seasons to enjoy himself in the mud, or disport himself in the water like a dolphin. No sports had he, that his neighbors heard of—but work, work, work, was his practice, whatever might be his theory. And his ark was at once shop and house, tannery and palace. The harbor of the Piscataqua abounds in bays, great and little, in creeks and inlets of all sizes. One of those creeks, formerly deep enough for ship building on its banks, was turned into a tide-pond a hundred years ago, by the erection of Levia' mills,—and on the shore,—no,—in the shore of this pond, at its southeastern extremity, Toppin Maxwell built his castle, exactly at the point which sailors call "between wind and water."—Small and frail it was at first, and at every spring tide, when the winds blew and the floods came, the neighbors' eyes were turned that way, to see it go off—but it did not go: and from year to year, as he threw out much tan from his pits, but sold none, his land emerged from the tide as Venus did from the sea. Now and then a stray log, a waif from the waters, came along: it was moored, and very gradually, but certainly buried: and by a slow process, as some geologists describe creation, dry land appeared, drier and drier, wider and wider—till a goodly lot, like Boston on a small scale, had emerged from the water—and none but the highest tides dared show their heads above it. As land and money grew in his hands, so did buildings rise. Addition upon addition, patch upon patch, were hitched together, incongruous and inconvenient—but the owner was a conservative, and would throw nothing away. He built stronger and stronger, and always at some cost, till he had a large building. Then all at once a new idea shot across his mind: he would have a wind-mill to grind his bark. This he had done before by a horse, and sometimes hired it done at a water-mill—but now, quoth he, "I'll have a wind-mill, and grind for meself and for half the toon."

Big with this one idea, he took no counsel of flesh and blood as to the expediency of the proposed measure, but went about the work like a man determined "to be supreme over his accidents." Money would buy lumber, and hire workmen. He bought and hired the best. But money would not buy true ideas, either in castle building, or the building of wind-mills. On this latter subject, Toppin Maxwell had ideas of his own, which he thought cost nothing, but which in the end proved to be very valuable, if articles are to be prized at their cost. Remonstrances from the workmen or bystanders, as to the style of the building, were overruled in a summary manner. He would build the mill to suit himself, and so he did. It was framed strongly enough for a den of lions, and braced so as to resist the "tempestuous wind called Euroclydon."—Should the top of the mill be rotary, so as to meet all the winds, as wind-mills usually are? "No," was the answer: "make it fast, facing the north-west; that's the strongest wind that blows here." And so it was done.

Everything was finished to his mind; and when the wind blew from the favorite quarter, the wooden sails moved round, and turned the iron mill and ground the bark—but it was not perfect. The machinery was heavy and clumsy, and in a light wind it would scarcely move. The arms were now made as long as they could be without striking the ground, and the width of the fans was doubled. Now the mill went well with a light nor'wester; but how did it go with a stiff topsail breeze? It went furiously, like the driving of Jehu, the son of Nimshi.—What was the remedy? Take in sail, reef the sail, says some green reader; Alas, that was impossible! for two reasons—first, you could not throw the mill out of the wind to get hold of the sails; and second, if you got hold of them you could not take them in, for instead of cloth they were made of boards, nailed fast to strong timbers. The only way to stop the mill was to choke it with bark, rammed into the hopper by armfuls. Of course it would not always stay choked, but would start off again like a thing of life, compelling Toppin and his workmen, or boys, not exactly to make hay while the sun shone, but to grind bark while the wind blew. After a windy day sometimes would come a windier night, and then they would grind till they were tired, choke the mill as well as they could, and go to bed.—About the time they got warm and dozy, the breeze would freshen, the mill start, and the music begin—jingle, jingle—rattle, rattle, rattle—whiz, whiz, whiz-z-z-z. "Out of bed, all hands—the mill is agoing—it will soon be on fire." "Will ye—nill ye," up they must get, and grind or choke as best they could, while the breeze lasted.

In winter, north-west breezes often swell to gales, lasting two or three days. One day and one night the mill had ground and ground and groaned—another day passed and a second night drew on; the pile of bark went down rapidly, but the wind did not go down at all—on the contrary, it seemed to rise. Everybody was tired and sleepy, and discouraged. Orders were given to stop the mill; but it was easier told than done: however, in a lull of the wind the wheels were brought to a stand—the lights were put out—and all hands went to bed. They might sleep, but not long, for a flaw started the mill, and the mill roused the sleepers. Wide awake, and cross enough, they choked and clogged the machine as best they could; and when at last it stood still, they sought repose once more. But the gale increased; and as the flaws became more violent, away went the mill again. This was too much. Breathing out threatenings, the man of the house not only called the hands, but arose himself, resolved, like Don Quixote, to have a tilt with the wind-mill; but not like the redoubtable Don, to come off second best and sneak off in his wounds. No, not he! There was the machine revolving in hot haste; hotter and hotter, faster and fa-ter, round and round it went, making all gee again. No time was to be lost. He seized the first weapon that came to hand—a heavy iron crowbar—and, poising it with his stalwart arm upraised, as lightly as a dandy flourishes his rattan, he stepped upon the platform, and, suiting the action to the word, roared out—"There! (with an oath too big for the Chronicle,) see if I can't stop ye!"

Down went the crowbar amongst the teeth—round went the mill one whole turn, swallowing the crowbar and bending the iron like a piece of cap-wire—but the meat was too hard to digest, and like the Babylonish Dragon after eating the pitch, the mill burst asunder. One grand crash, and all was still—so still that it never moved again. All hands slept soundly that night—and for all the noise made by the mill, they might have slept till this time. This was Toppin's last scheme. He went back to the horse mill; backward in many of his affairs; and, without living to be very old or very rich, he long since passed off the stage. Peace to his ashes; he made room for greater men—we were going to say wiser—but let that pass. Corporations which he never heard of, machines and inventions he never dreamt off, occupy his old tanner's paradise. A steam mill, made of his house, now grinds bark where his wind-mill broke down—a steam tannery has done in a week what he used to do in a year—two or three steam cotton mills are planted on the shores of his pond—the pond itself is cut up with a multitude of railroad tracks—the telegraph at the next door speaks of new things—and old men and old things are rapidly forgotten.

This biography is written merely for the love of the thing—no chick nor child nor friend of Toppin is there left to reward Uncle Toby for giving their relative a good character,—nor foes, that we wot of, to exult over a bad one; but hundreds of men in middle life there are, who can see his round, rosy face and portly bulk once more, as in a glass—and then, perhaps, think of him no more. But he had his uses, his aims, his purposes, his thought and life—and who can say that such an one as he had no place in the divine and beneficent plans of the great overruling Providence? or that he did not fill it? If any think or say so,—let them do it better.

BANK STOCKS IN BOSTON, the Traveller says, have had a rapid decline. In the past six months, they have depreciated more than 13 per cent., or $5,113,920, on the $38,631,000 of capital in that city.

DEPOT ROBBED.—On Friday, when all the employees of the Newburyport Railroad were absent, the Depot was broken open, the money drawer of the ticket office forced, and $21.00 stolen.

THE REBELLION.

Reports from Missouri state that Price, the rebel general, with the main body of his army, is on his way South. It was thought he would avoid a battle with Gen. Fremont, if possible. Claib. Jackson is reported en route for Texas. The farmers of Pettis county, Mo., have offered Gen. Fremont $250,000 worth of grain, gratis.

Humphrey Marshall, of Kentucky, has escaped to the Southern rebelocracy.

Numerous complaints have been preferred against certain regimental Quartermasters for malfeasance in office. The matter will be investigated, and the guilty parties punished.

Gen. Wool has as yet received no instructions. It is uncertain that he will proceed to Missouri.

It is understood that Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island will be appointed a Major General.

All the colonels of cavalry are to be ordered to report to the examining board.—The examination will extend to other officers successively.

Mobile papers say that the defences south of that city are rapidly going on. The municipal authorities issue shin-plasters in small amounts.

A dispatch from Cairo, Ill., Oct. 7, says two of our gunboats, while reconnoitering down the river, fell in with the rebel gunboat Jeff. Davis. They chased her within ten miles of Columbus, when the batteries on the Kentucky shore, some twenty guns, and some of them rifled, opened upon them. The engagement lasted an hour. No damage was done to our boats.

☞ Some of the friends of Senator Wilson, in Boston, have purchased him a fine horse. The horse is a thorough-bred Morgan stallion, weighing one thousand pounds, and was sold a year since for $750. It was purchased for Col. Wilson for $500. A saddle, bolsters, &c., accompanied the horse, having been purchased by the same parties.

It is said the steamer Bermuda is an iron-clad vessel of 1500 tons. The cargo cost $1,000,000. The vessel is now fitting out as a pirate to prey on returning California steamers. It is said that Commander Totten is to have charge of her; also that two more iron clad steam frigates are expected at Savannah from England by the 15th of the present month.

The N. Y. Times' dispatch says the main body of the rebels is at Fairfax Court House, whence a broad belt of camps is seen stretching northward toward Leesburg, where there are nearly 30,000 on the lower Potomac. There is a strong force of 12 or 15,000 back of Evansport. At and near Manassas there are comparatively few troops. It is reported that one rebel regiment refused to do duty, and that four other regiments sent to reduce them to subjection, also rebelled.

The Herald's dispatch says the Commissioner of Indian Affairs has made a brief visit to several tribes north of the Osages, and held many councils with them. He found them all loyal, evincing strong attachment to the Federal government. It appears that only three tribes were not accessible and beyond reach of the government.

A gentleman from Fortress Monroe relates that the Merrimac, having been put in order, steamed out of Norfolk harbor late Monday afternoon, and came within sight of Fortress Monrae. She seems thoroughsteel plated. There appeared to be a full complement of men on board, and she is evidently ready for service.

Dispatches in the Richmond Examiner of Friday last report Breckinridge and other Kentuckians at Abingdon, Va., on the 3d. Breckinridge will resign his seat in the U.S. Senate. He will issue an address to the people of Kentucky, and actively engage in the war.

Special Notices.
Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that
"Combination and a form indeed"
of medicine, known as
Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,
whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.
Strong Testimony
From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.
SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.
Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hope of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before the second bottle had been taken I was almost as well as ever. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.
Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.
Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and on all kinds of Vermin.
Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.
Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, where premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.
The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After seeing such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. IRWIN,
(Editor of the Old Fellow.)

☞ A schooner which arrived at her wharf in this city, one night last week, with a cargo of corn and flour, &c., and was left apparently all right; was found next morning to have several feet of water in her hold, much to the damage of the freight.—A singular case, which gave rise to rumors of secessionists scuttling, and the like.

☞ We resume, this morning, the publication of Uncle Toby's "Recollections of Old Acquaintance"—long interrupted by press of other business upon his time, and other matter in our columns. We shall endeavor to give at least one such article each week, for the future.

☞ To accommodate our increasing lists of subscribers, and serve all our patrons the earlier—we have this morning sub-divided our routes, and put on a new Carrier. We also learn that Mr. Gustavus A. Abbott has resigned his office as Keeper of Whale's Back Light, to take effect as soon as his successor is appointed.

☞ Thirty-one men, who have been enlisted during the past three weeks, in this city, at the recruiting office opened by Messrs. Hayes and Sides, will leave here this afternoon, under Serg't A. J. Sides, for Concord. A company from Dover will join them at Newmarket Junction. They are to join Col. Cross' Regiment—the Fifth, which will probably be ready to leave for the seat of war, at the last of the month.

Refreshments are to be furnished free; and it is the intention to add music, both vocal and instrumental, to the other attractions.

LATEST.

57 wounded prisoners,taken at Bull Run, have arrived at Fortress Monroe from Richmond. They report 5000 rebels at Richmond; that the rebel army on the Potomac is supposed to be over 150,000; and that apprehensions of an attack on the seaboard cause great anxiety.

Gov. Brown. of Georgia, has recalled five regiments to defend that State.

Jeff Davis returned to Richmond last Saturday in feeble health, and speculations were rife as to his successor.

The rebels are suffering greatly for want of medicine, clothing, and certain kinds of food;—articles cut off by the blockade were bringing fabulous prices.

The dispatch says Brig. Gen. Williams arrived at Fortress Monroe, Monday morn, and would proceed by first boat to Hatteras Inlet to assume command.

Gens. Fremont and McKinstry left for for Western Missouri, Monday morning. It is Fremont's intention to follow Price rapidly and continuously, and, if necessary, he will enter Arkansas. He says he wants no more men.

Information having been received at Jefferson City that McCulloch's forces were on the south bank of the Osage river a few days since, intending to cut off Fremont's communication with St. Louis, and then to march on that city, strong and experienced scouting parties have been sent to scour the whole of lower part of Osage Co.

Bearing its mortal crest of silver white.

JOHN B. GIVENS, No. 94 Elm Street.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. We had tried poisons, but they effected nothing; but COSTAR'S article knocks the breath out of Rats, Mice and Bed Bugs, quicker than we can write it. It is in great demand all over the country.
Medina (O.) Gazette.

MORE GRAIN and provisions are annually destroyed in Grant County, by vermin, than would pay for tons of this Rat and Insect Killer.—Lancaster (Wis.) Herald.

HENRY R. COSTAR:—Your Exterminator is received, used, and pronounced a decided success. We used a box of it, and the way the Rats and Mice "rale-d Neil" that night, was a caution to sleepers. Since then, not a Rat or Mouse has been heard in kitchen or cellar.—Mayrage (Iowa) Times.

I HAVE BEEN SELLING your Exterminator for the last year, and have found it a sure shot every time. I have not known it to fail in a single instance.
GEO. ROSS, Druggist, Cardington, O.

WE ARE SELLING your preparations rapidly. Wherever they are used, Rats, Mice, Roaches, and Vermin disappear instantly.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory nature, and the disease becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and scarifying, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—the whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound; and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE HILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY
THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,
Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 2 ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. The permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a bearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and rossting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Winkley, C. C. Jackson, C H Memdum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be the stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbors; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, heated not to char, frill dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and break fast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer draw, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural one is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the parts constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested
FOR TWENTY YEARS,
and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on STOVES.

1861. MAGEE'S PATENT COOKING STOVE. 1861.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE AGE!

PATENT COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
Operating on the same principle as the celebrated
MAGEE PARLOR STOVE.

THE MAGEE PARLOR
VENTILATING AND GAS-CONSUMING
STOVE.

We deem it unnecessary to enlarge upon the good qualities of this Stove, believing it to be too well known to need any recommendation from us, further than to say that it has been greatly improved in its appearance and thoroughness of operation, being made round or oval, and a very ingeniously constructed and ventilated OVEN attached.

This beautiful COOK STOVE is now offered to the public with entire confidence in its being the BEST OPERATING, MOST DURABLE and ECONOMICAL Stove ever invented, requiring one-third less Fuel than any other Stove in the market, to do the same amount of cooking; and the fire may be kept in it the entire season, without going out. The public are invited to call and examine this Stove, which is all that is necessary to convince any person that it has no superior, and cannot be beat. And we predict for it that popularity and immense sale which has attended the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE since its introduction into this market.

"Every Stove is warranted to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in every particular."

We have on hond many other kinds of COOK STOVES, which are well known in this vicinity, among which are

THE GOOD SAMARITAN,
BOSTON AND MAINE,
TRIUMPH, CLIPPER,

For a Square (1½ inches) or less, one insertion 50 cents, three insertions $1, one week $1.50, one month $3, three months $5, six months $8, one year $15. These are Daily rates—and no advertisements receive more than one insertion in the Weekly (Gazette) without special order and charge.
Funeral Notices, and Advertisements of articles Lost and Found, &c., 50 cents.

☞ Capt. Robert Johnson of Gorham, Me., a respected citizen, but of unsound mind in consequence of a paralytic shock received some time since, was found dead, on the York & Cumberland Railroad, on Sunday. Friday he was in Portland, and stepped into a car at the depot to go home; but the car was not attached to the train, and he remained in it all night. Saturday evening, he took the train for Gorham, but not getting out at the depot in that place, the train was stopped a short distance above, and he was helped out of the car by the conductor, and his residence pointed out to him. Instead of taking the route home, he followed on after the train, until he had got about a mile above Gorham village. At this time there was a locomotive coming down for repairs, and it is supposed that Capt. J. was struck by the frame of the engine, and killed instantly. No person witnessed the accident, and the body remained where it fell until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

☞ September 28th was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of Rev. Geo. W. Blagden, D. D., as Pastor of the Old South Church and Society, in Boston. Only six of those who were pastors in that city when Dr. Blagden was settled at the Old South, continue in that relation. Two others survive, and sustain nominal relations in their societies. The quarter century anniversary of the settlement of Rev. Dr. Bartol, of the West Church, and Rev. Dr. Neale, of the Baptist Church, will occur next year.

☞ Bobby Haslett, a lieutenant in the rebel army, is a bad egg. Among the intercepted letters from the South, just published, is one addressed by him to his wife, Mrs. Jane Haslett, Greenpoint, L. I.; and another addressed by the same individual to a Miss Georgianna Wilkins, of Baltimore, Md., whom he styles his "dear little pet," and his "baby," and whom he promises "never to leave again." Mrs. Haslett, of Greenpoint, is probably convinced by this time that a man who is false to his country is naturally unfaithful to everything else.

☞ Hon. George Hodges of North Andover, Mass., has recently disposed of all his factories at Sutton's Mills to Eben Sutton, Esq.,—the largest transfer of real estate which has taken place in that vicinity for many years. Mr. Sutton now has the whole property in his hands, which together with the factories owned and worked by him before, makes him the largest individual mill owner in the county, if not in the State.

☞ The short crop of grain in France will necessitate large importations. Such is the demand for shipment to France at present, that the sales of grain in the New York Corn Exchange last Friday, reached 750,000 bushels. French buyers have almost controlled prices in that market for some time past, their orders having been given on a very extensive scale.

A New York critic says the recently arrived Spanish dancuse "is a gloriously handsome woman with eyes like concentrated midnights."

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1861.

A WASTE OF POWDER.—Two classes of papers are calling upon the President to do their bidding, in the matter of emancipation.

One urges him to take as high ground as Gen. Fremont took in his proclamation; though it is well known that the Act of Congress stopped a long way below it, and that the President will not go beyond Congress and the Constitution, unless it should be absolutely necessary!

On the other hand, one of the other class of papers, seeming dreadfully afraid that some disaster will happen to the slave power, says, with ludicrous gravity, "A war for emancipation will wipe out the last vestige of civil liberty, and place us at the mercy of foreign despots." This proposition borders closely on the absurd, though the writer may possibly believe what he says, though of this we have very great doubts.

Both classes of papers are wasting their powder and shot, as we look at the contest. The slave power has struck at the Government and the Union, and every blow recoils. Military necessities are arising, and will arise, in every department where the battle rages, which must lead to emancipation. Such a necessity, we think, exists in Georgia, now, where an English steamer has just run in, with a cargo of warlike stores,—and is soon to run out as a well armed first class pirate!

A naval expedition ought to be down on Savannah at once,—and a body of U. S. troops landed at some other point in Georgia, at the same time, inviting contrabands to come in; then as soon as our black regiments could be got down there, land them also and set them to work.

We suppose that nothing is to be gained by a mere Presidential proclamation of freedom to slaves of rebel States; for he has no power to make it good.

But suppose Gen. Butler, or Gen. Anybody-else, to make a landing with a good force in South Carolina, and to give out that negroes were contraband of war. Suppose, further, that he should proceed, or that civil officers with him should proceed, to confiscate the property of rebels.—Why might not these confiscated and contraband negroes be settled on the confiscated lands of the rebels?

Some writers seem terribly frightened at the idea of a re-construction of society, though they tremblingly hope for the restoration of the Union exactly as it was last year or five years ago.

In this last particular they hope for an impossible thing. The Democratic party of the North have crushed out the power to do it; and the rebels in the Gulf States laugh it to scorn,—for if slavery and cotton can't rule the country, they would like to sink it. But it won't sink, and the slave power can never rule it again.

In this war, having stolen what it could, it must now take just what it can get; and when peace comes, as come it will, if slavery still lives, the peace will be nominal and short; but if slavery should happen to be killed by accident during the war, peace would be made very easily, and would promise to be somewhat durable.

Let the reader never forget for a moment that the slave power broke up the Democratic party and made the war. And if, in the course of the contest, that power should get the worst of it, can anybody tell us why the mourners should go about the streets?

☞ Most of the Union State treasury notes, for small sums, payable on demand, are payable in specie, at New York.

The Express says the popularity of these notes is fully established, and there remains no doubt of the ability of the department to keep the whole fifty millions in active use, to the benefit of the Government and people.

Some bankers and financiers believe that great harm will arise from this "Government circulation," but the financial editor of the Boston Post remarks:—"We do not —under the circumstances of the case— though utter unbelievers in small bill circulations, in general.

We admit all that can be said against a paper circulation; but it prevails over the loyal States, notwithstanding, for good or evil; and as we can't abolish it, we would improve it. Now this can be done at the West by an infusion of Government notes.

The West needs currency, and would gradually obtain it. It would not be gold, and it would be paper good or bad. Now the Government paper is the best that can be made, and therefore we advocate it for the West, under the circumstances."

NAVAL.—The frigate Wabash, from Charleston bar evening of the 3d, has arrived at New York. She received five or six shot below her water line during the action at Hatteras Inlet. She will have some repairs to her hull and machinery, and will sail again in a week or ten days.

The Roanoke, Vandalia and Flag were off Charleston.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Dr. Isaac H. Hazelton, 2d Assistant Physician in the N. H. Asylum for the Insane, has been appointed Assistant Surgeon in the U. S. Navy.

—— The First New Hampshire Battery of Light Artillery, Capt. George A. Gerrish, was mustered into service at Manchester, Sept. 24th, by Lieut. Ingraham, U. S. A.

—— New Hampshire, this year, sends forty-nine students to the several departments of Harvard University.

—— The United States and New Granadian joint convention for the settlement of claims against the latter, growing out of the Panama riots, have appointed Hon. N G. Upham, of Concord, as umpire. Mr. Upham acted in a similar capacity in 1853 for the United States and Great Britain claims convention.

—— Lieut. Charles Dodd, who was second in command of Dodd's Carvers for three months, has been appointed Adjutant of the Fifth N. H. Regiment. Adjutant Dodd was a member of the Boston Tigers for many years.

—— The editor of the Manchester Union says he "has received by express, from an unknown friend, a pumpkin of immense proportions—so large that ten men stood around it, when it was rolled into his sanctum."

——A letter from Mount Washington says a large body of snow remains in Tuckerman's Ravine, which will not be likely to diminish this year, as snow has begun to fall on the mountain already.

THE N. H. THIRD REGIMENT.

ANNAPOLIS, Maryland, Oct. 5.

We were ordered to leave our camp at Washington, on Thursday forenoon, the 3d inst., but our final departure did not take place till 7 A. M. Friday morning; the camp was aroused at 3, and at 7 we were on the march for the depot. We arrived at Annapolis about 2 P. M., and were heartily received by the 21st Massachusetts,—six companies of which are stationed here, the remaining companies being on picket duty between here and Annapolis Junction. We are quartered in the Naval School buildings within a few rods of the Bay, the cool breeze from which is refreshing and strengthening us for future toils. We are a very short distance from Gov. Hicks' residence, the patriotic Governor of this State. The men are all in good health and spirits; but four being in the Hospital, and these have no fatal disease. The address of the Regiment will be as above for a fortnight, probably, though we have been moved so frequently that we don't feel sure of being in any one place a very long time. If anything of importance transpires I will inform you. Yours, &c., J.

PATRIOTIC EXAMPLES.—One of Boston's patriotic merchants has procured an assortment of the 7.30 U. S. Treasury Notes which he is willing to exchange for good checks, or current bank bills. He has notes for $500, $100 and $50. No profit or commission is expected, as the gentleman has purchased the Notes from a desire to have the loan distributed as widely as possible among the people.

One of Boston's patriotic ladies, in response to the call for army blankets, resolved to visit every family in the street in which she lived and invite them to contribute one blanket each, offering her house for a depot. The result was a cheerful contribution from all but one family!—and nearly all were sent the same evening.

☞ Hon. Robert C. Winthrop delivered a most eloquent speech in Boston on Tuesday, on the occasion of the presentation, by the clerks of the Custom House, of a silk banner to Col. Wilson's Regiment. The printed report thrills the heart of readers, as it did the hearts of the thousands who heard it on Boston Common. The illness and death of Mrs. Winthrop has prevented Mr. Winthrop from taking part in any of the popular demonstrations of the past few months, but he has now spoken in a tone of lofty eloquence, which has not been excelled by any of the foremost Union orators since Sumter was attacked.

☞ While Messrs. John W. Forl, Rufus Hyde, Chas. L. Hyde, Stephen Morse, Edmund Goodhue, and Charles Buzzell, of Portland, were on a fishing excursion on Tuesday afternoon, the pleasure yacht containing the party was struck by a squall, and as the gentlemen all sprang towards the stern, the boat capsized and sunk. Mr. Goodhue alone escaped, all the rest being drowned. Four leave families. One swam within ten feet of the shore, but became exhausted, and was drowned.

THE REBEL BEN.—The correspondents have killed Ben McCulloch and sent his body to Texas, installed his son to represent his name, and put his wife in weeds. The facts are all against these reports. Ben is not dead; he has no son; and as he never had a wife, cannot reasonably be expected to leave a mourning widow.—Boston Transcript.

☞ One of the Maine regiments, lately gone to Washington, out of 1000 men, had only five married men in it.

THE REBELLION.

The New York reporters are henceforth forbidden to report naval movements at that port, on pain of incarceration at Fort Lafayette—a U. S. Captain has notified them by authority.

The principal charges against Gen. Fremont seem to be, that he sacrificed Gen. Lyon; that he neglected to reinforce Col. Mulligan, when he had the power to do so, and kept Col. M's messenger, sent to ask aid, waiting three days before he saw him; that his expenditures of money were excessive; that he surrounded himself with corrupt men, knowing them to be such; that he was inaccessible to Union men calling on business; that he wilfully delayed assuming his duties after he was appointed to his command in Missouri.

It is said that Johnston and Smith are anxious for more active operations on the part of the rebels, but that Beauregard is more cautious.

According to a dispatch from Gen. Rosecrans, he is able to sustain himself against the combined forces of Lee and Floyd.

It is believed that the charge against Col. Rankin at Toronto, for breach of the neutrality laws, cannot be sustained. His arrest will not impede the prompt organization of the regiment of Lancers now being rendezvoused at Detroit. Upwards of 500 picked men are already enlisted.

A dispatch from New Orleans, Oct. 4th, says the U. S. Sloop-of-war Vincennes, a large propeller steamer, the Water Witch, another sloop-of-war, a schooner, and a pilot-boat, were at the head passes.

It is stated that about three weeks ago a slave insurrection was attempted in Jasper Co., Mo., and that about 35 negroes were killed and a number of others hung.

Richmond papers say the rebel forces under Lee and Floyd have united. Wise is in bad odor, has had a quarrel with Floyd, has arrived at Richmond, and would probably be court martialled.

Gov. Moore, of Louisiana, has issued a proclamation, forbidding the carrying of cotton to New Orleans, and Maj. Gen. Twiggs says he shall co-operate with Gov. M. in enforcing it.

The Citizens' Bank of New Orleans are circulating fives cut in two pieces, each piece to represent two and a half dollars.

The federal steamer South Carolina has captured a Mexican steamer off Galveston.

The electoral tickets for the Presidential election have been nominated in only five of the rebel States.

The rebels at Hatteras Inlet, the day after the capture of the Fanny, being reinforced by 2500 others, came over from the main land in small steamers and flat boats, and attacked the Indiana regiment, who were obliged to retreat. The Susquehanna and Monticello, hearing of it on Friday, steamed up outside, and Col. Hawkins marched up with 6 companies. During the night he was joined by the Indiana regt., who had passed in the darkness a large body of rebels, landed to cut them off. Saturday morning the Monticello steamed round the cape, and a few miles up the coast met the rebels marching down to attack our troops. They were within easy range, and the Monticello opened upon them. The rebels soon broke in every direction, and took refuge upon their vessels. Our steamers and land forces returned to Hatteras Inlet. The havoc among the rebels is represented as frightful. Col. Bartow of Georgia was killed.

NEWSPAPERS.—The Democratic Advocate, published at Lewiston, Me., has been sold to the publishers of the Lewiston Republican, Messrs. Johnson & Hale. The two papers will be united and published daily under the title of the Herald, which, says the Advocate, "ignoring past and present issues, will be an independent, political, family newspaper." The Republican and the Advocate were weeklies, and this affords another example of the way in which the weeklies give place to the dailies.

The New York daily newspapers, with the exception probably of one or two, are losing money at the rate of $200 and $300 a week. Their circulation never was larger, but their advertising patronage, the only thing that pays, has fallen off wonderfully.

☞ The Iowa State Register says that Tomas Sargent, United States Receiver at Fort Dodge is a defaulter in the sum of $4300; and upon the arrival of P. F. Wilson, special agent of the Treasury Department, he not only refused to make any effort to settle, but openly defied the authority of the Government.

☞ Flora Temple, the little bay mare, has appeared in a new character. Her owner, on recovering her from the clutches of the U. S. Marshal, took her home to Baltimore, and is now exhibiting her in that city, at a fixed price per head for admission.

☞ A son of Mr. John Moran, Biddeford, Me., fell from a tree on the day of the National Fast, and was instantly killed.—He was putting up a swing, and only fell about ten feet. He was about 20 years old.

☞ By the Quebec steamer Norwegian, we have advices from Europe to the 27th ult., two days later. The London Post publishes the terms of a treaty concluded between England, France and Spain, providing for an immediate hostile expedition against Mexico. The operations of the allies are to be limited to taking possession of some of the principal ports on the coast, and collecting the revenue for their own benefit. The Pope is said to be dangerously ill. Advices from China to the 12th August had been received. A large rebel army was approaching Shanghae. The Governor General of India has offered prizes for the next two years for the production of cotton.

☞ The New York Herald says the fall of the year has brought with it a revival of all kinds of business. Money is abundant; the specie reserve in the banks is increasing instead of diminishing; places of amusement are thronged night after night; jewellers and fancy goods stores present an appearance nearly as animated as was witnessed a year ago; capital is finding itself new channels of occupation, and trade and commerce are establishing themselves upon a safer and less precarious basis.

Hasn't Mrs Fremont any domestic duties? Can't the Pathfinder prevent her characteristic billets doux—or is she irrepressible? No offence meant.—Post.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affections, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medicine to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering; as I had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, (having, at that time, slight faith ever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

WAR.—WAR on Rats, Roaches, and all kinds of Vermin.

Boonsboro', Md., Mch. 21, '61.

Mr. Henry R. Costar—Dear Sir,—Having occasion to visit a friend in Virginia, whose premises were so badly infested with Rats, that nothing could be kept out of their reach—he was, after trying various other preparations, persuaded to try your Exterminator.

The first test he gave it was in his barn; and to the astonishment of all, in the morning the floor was almost covered with dead rats. After such a destruction of these horrid creatures, I have ever since recommended your invaluable preparation—and must, undoubtedly, pronounce your exterminator the most effective preparation for the destruction of Rats, Mice, Roaches, and such vermin, which has ever been brought before the public. Yours truly, F. H. HWIN,

(Editor of the Odd Fellow.)

Local.

☞ The Concord & Portsmouth Railroad corporation are already preparing to build their new Depot at the corner of Bridge and Deer streets.

In digging for this purpose, they uncovered the tan pits and vats which belonged, a few years ago, to Mr. Joshua Brooks' steam tannery, on the old Maxwell lot; and are driving a large number of oak piles into the mill-pond mud, to get a solid foundation for a heavy building.

☞ We learn that Co. K, of the Second Regiment, have presented to their present commanding officer, Lieut. John S. Sides, a splendid sword—said to be the finest blade in the regiment. Its cost was thirty dollars. Such a handsome testimonial must be peculiarly gratifying to Lieut. Sides, coming from the men under his command, who thus testify that experience has tended only to increase their confidence in him.

POLICE COURT, Oct. 6.—Geo. W. Brooks and Frank Foss were found guilty of being drunk, and each fined $3 and costs.

George W. Brooks pleaded guilty to the charge of committing an assault, and was fined $3 and costs, $3.85, therefor.

☞ News was received in this city on Tuesday, of the death of Mr. WM. H. HARRISON FRANKLIN, second mate of the ship New Hampshire, Capt. Lord, while on the passage from New York to Liverpool, where she arrived on the 14th of September.

☞ Yankee Locke and Tom Hampton's dramatic company, now performing at the Temple, draws nightly large and respectable houses, and seems to give good satisfaction. The play is dramatized from T. S. Arthur's well known temperance story of Ten Nights in a Bar-Room,—and is well rendered.

☞ The ride or walk (and we have tried both within a week) to Rogers' Garden and Nurseries, Kittery, is not less beautiful and picturesqué than at the summer solstice. Vegetation has exchanged the freshness of June for the variegated tints of autumn—more georgeous, and hardly less delighting the eye. Love Lane is as beautifully sequestered—as truly rural, as ever. And Mr. Rogers' grounds never looked better at the season. He is constantly enlarging and improving his premises,—and is now building a new green-house, the third. On your way back, you can spend an hour pleasantly and profitably about the busy Navy Yard.

☞ Mr. John Rogers, of Kittery, has a beautiful, imported Ayrshire cow, three years old, which he tells us gives seven quarts of milk per day, on common pasturage only; from which upwards of two quarts of cream will rise—a yield of about 38 per cent of cream to milk, and 2 lbs. of butter per day.

☞ Schooner G. T. Hubbard, Williams, sailed from Hartford, Oct. 6, for Portsmouth Navy Yard, with machinery for the new steamer Kearsage, building here.

☞ The crew of the U. S. sloop of-war Constellation are to be paid off to-day.

☞ John Murray, of this city, is one of the Captains of the 5th Regiment.

☞ "Perley" sends the Boston Journal, from Washington, the following, which is about the fair thing:

Prominent among the "crack corps" hereabouts, is the company of sharpshooters in the New Hampshire 2d, commanded by Capt. S. G. Griffin, formerly of Concord, who throws the Berdan boys quite into the shade by the performances of his men, who use Sharp's breech-loaders, and fire without rests. Their favorite range is six hundred yards, yet at eight hundred they will hit the mark as well as they did the secesh officers at Bull Run. They also drill as skirmishers before Gen. Hooker's brigade, (to which their regiment is attached) going through the genuine skirmish drill without the Zouave variations, and illustrating McClellan's bayonet exercise to perfection.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.—October 1st was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Capt. & Mrs. Eleazer Johnson, of Newburyport, though the "city clerk" has not yet passed seventy-one years. The occasion was celebrated in a quiet manner. We hope that many years yet remain to these parties, and that the Captain may not disappear from the City Hall, or his shadow be less while life remains.

☞ The address recently issued by the Massachusetts Temperance Alliance, contains the following noteworthy sentence: "Men of elegant and cultivated leisure look upon the temperance reform as an example of vulgar, but chronic fanaticism. And hence the bibulous wits of the day take a sort of vinous pride in emulating the alcoholic genius of defunct whiskey flavored libertines."

☞ The Circuit Court at Syracuse, N.Y, has decided that a brothel keeper cannot recover damages for the destruction of his property by a mob.

FAREWELL SUMMER.

Sounds are in the earth and ether,
Sobs and murmurs half divine;
Blasts beyond man's puny power
Rock the branches of the pine.
The summer past, what dreams are over!
The incense of the air hath fled!
The carpets of the golden meadows
Are torn by tempests, shred by shred:
The rose hath lost her fragrance;
The lily hangs her head,—
Dead,—dead! —Barry Cornwall.

THE STRONG MAN.—Dr. G. B. Windship, who has developed his strength to an enormous degree, was announced to lecture on Wednesday evening in Brookline, Mass., and to lift on a platform twelve men, averaging 140 pounds each—1680 lbs.

HOUSEKEEPERS troubled with vermin, need be so no longer, if they use "Costar's" Exterminators. We have used them to our satisfaction, and if a box cost $5, we would have it. ZOLLICKOFFER'S

NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or general inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Rheumatism, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patients may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking: giving an oven nearly 2ft. long! or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time'. The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz.:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking over.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends also to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an a tractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be used except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner: the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRUNDY, ESQ., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen. for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phinehas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is

STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no additional fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to augment the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer draw, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last, and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861 is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a flush Scythe.

Now we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, by comparison to another almost-unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the Stewart Stoves in his family, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart!—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

A NEW MUSIC BOOK,
Or the New York Musical Review,
FOR NOTHING!
We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, or THE CHOIR BOOK;" a new collection of Church Music for singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. LOWELL MASON. Dr. MASON's last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous sale, in its first year, of over 54,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.
We publish also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of 16 quarto pages, including 4 pages of choice music in each number, with 12 pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, $1 per annum
In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of obtaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. MASON's new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.: To every one sending us, before 1st November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the paper for a year, and also, as soon as issued, a copy of Dr. MASON's new work above announced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those desiring the book sent by mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay postage in advance.

HUTCHINS' HAIR DYE,
THE VERY BEST NOW IN USE, as many thousands who have tried it will testify.
The great superiority of this Dye consists in its easy application, having but one preparation. It colors in one minute as much as any other, and sold at a much less price. This Dye imparts to the hair the most natural color of any yet discovered; and instead of injuring, it gives it the beauty and elasticity of youth. This Dye is having the largest sale of any Dye in the market, and is warranted to give better satisfaction than any yet offered to the public.

"EVERYBODY"
WHO USES
HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE
Is convinced of the fact that
It Will Restore the Natural Color of the Hair,
Where age or sickness has turned it gray, and that it will render it soft and glossy.
"ANYBODY"
Who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the Hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article of the toilet has no equal.
☞ Read this letter:
ST. LOUIS, MO., June 1, 1859.
MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & CO.—I hereby certify that my hair having become gray, and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use, my hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling, and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any hair preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the very best and cheapest hair preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WM. ROSEWALL.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

Nobody has been authorized to raise troops in Canada for our army, no commissions have been offered to military men in Europe, and a command in the army has not been tendered to Garibaldi. Garibaldi is a naturalized citizen of this country, and if he should offer his services,—a thing which may sometime happen,—he will be made a Major General.

Gen. Mansfield has been requested to pay a visit to Hatteras Inlet, to inspect the fortifications and the condition of affairs there, but he remains, for the present at least, in command of Fortress Monroe.

Gen. Scott's order, issued ten days ago, for the release of Col. Blair, is not yet carried into effect. He is still confined in the barracks at St. Louis.

58 Union prisoners, taken at Bull Run, have been released by the rebels at Richmond. They were all cripples. On the 1st of Nov. the remaining cripples are promised release.

A vessel sent out by the Navy Department returned to Washington on Tuesday night with the Postmaster near Port Tobacco, and the whole contents of his office, consisting of a large package of letters to and from the South.

The indications are that the rebels have abandoned the idea of crossing the Lower Potomac into Maryland.

The rebels claim to have 40,000 men in Kentucky. Our troops at Paducah are preparing for the reception of the rebels, who are said to be advancing in heavy force against that place. The women and children have been sent away.

Ben. McCulloch has issued a proclamation calling for three rebel regiments, to serve one year. It is said his present force is only 3500.

The New Orleans Picayune asks the city authorities to put every vessel in the harbor into commission, and extend the chain of forts to Balize; and says that the taking of Washington, or the occupation of Maryland, are of no consequence, compared with the loss of New Orleans and the security of the cotton and tobacco crops.

Our troops have made a further advance into Virginia, occupying prominent positions near Lewinsville. The rebels retreated, tho' our troops really invited an attack.

Gen. Reynolds has made two reconnoissances in force in Western Virginia against Gen. Lee, and has driven him from Big Spring, the former rendezvous of his main force. The rebels destroyed their camp equipage, and ammunition, burned several hundred muskets and left their wagons, &c. Several wagons fell into our hands. Lee is now 120 miles from Cheat Mountain.

Bowman, of the N. H. Second, is among the prisoners recently released from Richmond.

Letters from Washington state that several New England regiments were to leave on Tuesday, Oct. 8, for an expedition down the coast, taking 15 days' rations.

NAVAL.—The steam sloop-of-war Mohican, Com. Gordon, sailed from the Charlestown Navy Yard on Thursday, for New York, to convoy several transport vessels South.

The Naval Medical Board, in session at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, has passed twenty-nine candidates for the position of Assistant Surgeons in the Navy. About twenty-five vacancies remain to be filled.

The U. S. steamer Mystic, Capt. LeRoy, arrived at Philadelphia on Monday, from St. Paul de Loando, W. C. Africa, Aug. 10th, via Barbadoes, Sept. 25th, where she put in for coal and water. U. S. steamer Iroquois was to sail from Barbadoes same day, in search of privateer Sumter.

The U. S. steamer Powhatan and U. S. gunboat Keystone State, left Barbadoes about Sept. 23d, in search of the privateer Sumter.

☞ Advices by the last steamer from Europe give us the assurance that the capitalists of the old country are preparing to invest largely in the seven and three-tenths per cent. loan. The prompt action of the Northern banks in guaranteeing the original loans, and the apparent readiness of the people to take in small lots from the original subscribers, had done much to assure Europeans of our ability to maintain the Union, as it gave evidence that we were firmly determined to do so. It is said that a large amount of capital is being withdrawn from investments in the old country, which is to be sent over for reinvestment in our loan.

☞ It is stated that the steamer Bermuda brought, among her cargo, eighteen rifled cannon of large size and long range. Her own armament is represented as two twelve-pounder rifled guns; but she is described as iron-clad; and when she shall be put into active service—as she will be very soon—her armament will be increased, and she will become a very ugly customer for our blockading ships to deal with.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

OLD PRINTERS AND PRINTERS OF OLD.—JOHN MELCHER, SAMUEL WHIDDEN—FOWLE AND OLD PRIME.—Don't go to thinking, gentle reader, that Uncle Toby knew all these; for some of them died before he was born; but he knew a part of them, and they knew the rest.—Through one of them, (Whidden,) Uncle Toby claims a regular (though not exactly apostolic) succession from Fowle and Old Prime, who were the first printers in New Hampshire,—of which undisputed succession he is as proud as any man ought to be of so high a distinction.

The order of succession is this: Fowle, who established the New Hampshire Gazette, had the old negro Prime, or Primus, for a pressman; John Melcher was an apprentice to Fowle; Samuel Whidden (who died here only a year or two since) was an apprentice to Melcher; and Uncle Toby was an apprentice to Whidden.

With this man, as kind a man as need be, Uncle Toby wrought at printing some time since, in an office belonging to John Melcher, who was the first State Printer New Hampshire ever had, and who lived till a very recent period. When Uncle Toby was a boy with a stint, Mr. Melcher would sometimes send him on an errand—but would always take his 'stick,' and 'set' for him while absent, and when he returned would commonly tell him a story when he laid down the stick or emptied the "stick-full." He was always certain to set a little more than the boy would have done; always to mark the copy where he left off;—and always to deal in this little matter so justly and fairly, that Uncle Toby was well pleased to listen to his stories. Some of these stories were of Old Prime, who was a negro pressman, belonging to Daniel Fowle, founder of the New Hampshire Gazette.

Mr. Melcher was a correct compositor, a careful proof-reader, and a good pressman; and if any man ever hated blotches and bunglers, he did. When he lost all patience with bad press work, he would say, "Why, I have seen a negur, who could not tell a letter in a book, who did better press work than any of you!" Sometimes I have tried to imagine what old Primus Fowle thought of his business, and how much pleasure he must have taken in printing books he could not read, and working hard without pay. He could not strike for wages, but he could grumble—and tradition says that he did sometimes; and probably he did it pretty often, for his temper was rather peppery, and he could snap out a reply quite as tart as any reproof that was given him.

Some time before the Revolution, Mrs. Fowle died; and in those days, at funerals, the negroes in a family walked with the whites, as mourners, each white member of the family having a black yokefellow at the left hand. Primus and his master on this occasion were chief mourners; but when they took their places in the procession, Primus inadvertently got on the right hand, which, in this case, was evidently the wrong side. His master saw the error, and winked, and nodded, and pointed with his finger for Primus to exchange places; but to no purpose; he touched him; but the negro remained immovable. At last he whispered, "Go to the other side," expecting to be promply obeyed in so slight and reasonable a request; but, to his surprise and that of the bystanders, Primus screamed out, "Go tudder side ye'self, ye mean jade!" The master of course complied, and the procession moved off.

In due time Mr. Fowle himself died;—and, as he left no children, his newspaper and printing-office passed into the hands of his apprentice, Mr. Melcher, whose term of service being nearly run out by its own limitation, was now closed by the death of his master. With the press went the pressman, and old Primus probably did the same work in the same way, under the new master, as he did under the old, and perhaps noted no change. Bowing down to the press, as he toiled year after year, he had a permanent stoop, and stood at his work something in the shape of a capital F. In this posture he labored and grumbled for years, and seemed to grow no older—but he died—and by and by he bent his shoulders so stiff and dull and feeble as to be incapable of any labor whatever. He was, however, comfortably cared for by his master, as to food and shelter, and suffered to spend his time as he pleased.

Without companions, and with no ability to read, he seemed to have no higher pleasure than to seat himself on the door-steps of shops or houses in the old paved street of Portsmouth, and sit for hours together, generally in the sunshine. The boys often amused themselves by offering him a copper for standing up straight—a feat utterly impossible; but he would attempt it, and with much effort and strange grimaces, straighten himself out as nearly as possible. To the honor of the boys be it said, he commonly got his copper; and then he sat down again to sun himself, to look at the passengers' feet as they went by, and possibly to muse on the passage back to Guinea, whither all the negroes here used to think all black friends went after death. That was the most beautiful superstition of which their minds were capable—and surely nothing of the kind could be more harmless.—Primus returned, however, to the dust, not of Guinea, but of New Hampshire, the scene of his toils, and has long occupied that narrow house where the weary are at rest! Primus was buried, with all the negroes of his day, in the old negro burying ground, front of the old jail; in other words, his dust now reposes, either under the south end of Chesnut street, or perhaps under the north side of Court street.

Let no true lover of our noble craft blame Uncle Toby for selecting such a subject for a sketch. One of the earliest printers in New Hampshire was a black slave; and the early history of the State always seems imperfect to him if Prime is not seen working at the press, printing he knows not and cares not what!

Local.

POLICE COURT, Thursday, Odell, J.—John T. Fields, George Maloon, Joseph Holmes 2d, (fisherman,) Michael Gleason and Wm. H. Sargeant, were found guilty of being drunk on Wednesday night, and fined $3 and costs.

John T. Fields was also found guilty of making a brawl and tumult on the same night, and fined $3 and costs.

George Dudley, for keeping a disorderly house, was bound over in the sum of $100.

Mary Linsay plead guilty of fornication, and was bound over in the sum of $50.

George Mich and Louisa M. Percival, for keeping a disorderly house, were bound over in $100 each, for their appearance before the S. J. Court to be held in this city, next week.

Four men and four women were also brought up on the charge of making a brawl and tumult; but the evidence was considered insufficient to hold them, and they were discharged.

The police on Wednesday night made a descent upon two houses of ill-fame in this city, one in Hunking, and the other in Pickering street, at the South end; and arrested all the above parties, there being six women and twelve men in all.

NORTH END AND SOUTH END.—Like their older brethren in the nation, though perhaps with less reason, two large parties of small boys, residing in this city, had a pitched battle on "Rundlett's Mountain," near Middle street, on Wednesday afternoon, having met there by mutual agreement. Drums beat to quarters, clubs and cow-hides were thickly flourished, and brick-bats flew promiscuously. Two of the combatants, we are told were injured so severely as to require the services of a physician. We do not know which party proved victorious, or which proved itself composed of the more foolish boys. They would be wise, not beyond their years, to avoid such encounters in future; and their parents to see after them. They have pretty much run the horse-chesnut nuisance into the ground recently, and that's going far enough.

☞ William Ross, while intoxicated, stabbed Austin White and James Card in the street in New Castle, about 9 o'clock on Wednesday evening. He made use of a murderous-looking butcher-knife, and inflicted severe wounds, though they are not dangerous. The origin of the trouble we have been unable to ascertain; but Ross had been noisy and quarrelsome during all the evening previously. It is said he is from North Carolina. White was cut in the left knee and right leg,—receiving two very ugly wounds. Card received two cuts in the left thigh, some six inches in length; Ross also tried to stab him in the back by striking over Card's shoulder; fortunately he failed to accomplish the purpose, as he struck downward nearly perpendicularly—merely cutting Card's coat from the collar nearly to the waist. Ross was arrested by Police Officer Joshua K. Card, and brought up to this city and lodged in jail. The wounds of Messrs. Card and White were skilfully dressed by Dr. Smart, who is now stationed at Fort Constitution.

Ross is a seaman, married a Newcastle woman, and has resided there for several years. He is represented as under ordinary circumstances a quiet and inoffensive citizen, but in this evening became infuriated by intoxicating drinks, and committed the assault.

He was brought up before the Police Court on Thursday evening, and the wounds of the principal witnesses being too severe to permit their appearance, he was ordered to find bonds in $500 for his appearance on Monday next, and to stand committed until the same were procured.

☞ The two new side wheel steamers now building at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, have been named the Sebago and Mahaska—from two lakes in Maine.

☞ The present number of The New Hampshire Gazette, commences a new volume—the 107th year; a fitting occasion for Uncle Toby's "Recollections" of the early printers—and a good time to subscribe.

There—hold up, boys. It's dangerous to be so funny.—Ballot.

That's a fact—and hold up, girls, for it's dangerous being "grouty."

EXETER BOYS IN THE THIRD REGMENT. The story of the trouble between some of the soldiers and Capt. Wilbur of Co. E, Third Regiment, is told by a correspondent at the camp in another column, but the offence for which they were punished does not clearly appear. There seems to be but one feeling in the company towards Capt. Wilbur, and that one of unmitigated contempt; and we may add that their sentiment in this respect is concurred in by not a few of their fellow citizens at home.—Exeter Ballot.

☞ There are 10,000 bales of cotton at Apalachicola which might easily be captured. At present rates it would bring twenty-two cents a pound.

☞ Gen. Butler has now some 1600 men in camp at Lowell for his expedition, which will require 6000.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— It has been stated that the Sixth and Eighth Regiments would be encamped respectively at Keene and Nashua, but the Statesman says they are be encamped at Concord. Per contra, the Manchester American says the Eighth is to be encamped in that city. It says:—"an examination shows that the expense does not surpass that incurred at Concord, and therefore in accordance with the request of many of our citizens a delegation called upon the Executive Board, and through Hon. Frederick Smyth presented the advantages which Manchester possesses over any other locality for the encampment, and it was voted to have it here."

—— Hon. James W. Weeks captured last week, a fine black bear, weighing about 200 pounds, on Mount Prospect. Bruin put his foot in a trap kindly prepared for his reception and Judge Weeks ended his days with a bullet. Bears are "more plenty" this season than usual, the absence of berries in the woods forcing them into the openings for their "rations."

—— The Supreme Judicial Court has been in session at Laconia and disposed of quite a lot of criminals. George Varney, for stabbing Hiram Leathers of Barnstead, of which wound he died—plead guilty of manslaughter and goes to the State Prison. John G. Love of Upper Gilmanton for shooting and wounding his brother-in-law, Jackson, plead guilty. Israel Bartlett of the same town was tried for shooting Lucian Dicy, and John Woodman of Alton for killing his infant child, pleaded guilty of manslaughter and was sentenced to the State Prison for 30 years.

—— On Tuesday afternoon, at one of the schools in Manchester, one of the scholars was stabbed by another. Albert Eastman had been to the desk for some purpose, and when returning up the aisle a boy named Edward Lovely put out his foot as though he would trip Eastman. The latter playfully cuffed his ears, when Lovely instantly struck him with a knife he had in his hand, inflicting a small cut on Eastman's hip, which bled profusely.

—— Governor Berry has received word from Government that no more horses or wagons be sent with our regiments, as it has now an abundant supply.

—— Capt. Barker of the Second Regiment, appointed Major of the Sixth N. H. Regiment, declines the position.

—— Rev. Henry E. Parker, Chaplain of the Second Regiment N. H. V., is a Concord, called home on account of sickness in his family.

—— The Fifth Regiment lacks about 150 men of being full. There are more than 700 men enlisted for the 7th, which will go into camp early next week.

—— At 11 o'clock Saturday morning Col. Marston received at Exeter, quite unexpectedly, a telegraphic dispatch summoning him to Washington. He was off in the half past eleven o'clock train, and on Monday was in Washington.

—— The tenant's house attached to the farm of Charles N. Healey, Esq., in Stratham, was consumed by fire on Wednesday morning last, with most of its contents.—The building was valued at $300, and insured in an Exeter office for $150.

THE KINGSTON MUSTER.

HAMPTON, Oct. 10.

The 7th Regiment, N. H. Militia, Col. Saml. S. Winslow, paraded for inspection and review in Kingston yesterday, in the following order:—

Newton Brass Band, Hodgkins, leader; Cavalry, Capt. Severance; Artillery, Capt. Young; Grand Division Light Infantry, Capts. Stickney and Currier; 1st Grand Division of Infantry, Captains Greenough and Currier; 2d do. do. Inf., Capts. Colcord and Sargent; 3d do. do. Inf., Capts. Moulton and Colby; 4th do. do. Inf., Capt. Watson; Taylor Guards (riflemen) Capt. Prescott.

The Ellsworth Guards, Capt. Titcomb, of Seabrook, in their new and beautiful Zouave uniform, were present, and by general request were placed on the right of the line. The Guards, by their soldierly bearing and gentlemanly conduct, won the highest praise from many distinguished military gentlemen present.

A somewhat novel feature on the muster field was introduced. A company of patriotic young ladies, numbering 180, under command of Gen. Moses Eaton, of South Hampton, with Col. Rufus Dow and others as aids, marched on to the field, and passed in review before Gen. Quimby and staff, attracting universal attention. The beauty and fashion of Kingston and the adjoining towns, was finely represented, and no wonder the young men are stimulated to emulate the deeds of their forefathers, when they see their mothers, sisters and wives marching on to the field in battle array.

After the inspection and review, a banner was presented to the ladies by Col. Gideon Webster, of the General's staff, who made a most feeling and patriotic address, which was responded to by Mrs. Gen. Quimby, with thanks.

At noon, the regiment being dismissed for dinner, your correspondent enjoyed the hospitality of Col. Winslow, for which he will receive our thanks.

At one o'clock the line was again formed, and the regiment went through with the usual evolutions in a very creditable manner, after which a hollow square was formed, with the ladies inside the line, and all listened to an address from Col. Webster, which was eloquent and patriotic. Col. Webster closed by introducing Hon. W. C. Patten aid to Gen. Quimby, who made a few happy and well-timed remarks.

The usual number of gingerbread carts, new cider men, and itinerant button and hair-exterminator pedlers were on the ground, with squeaking fiddlers, "fore and aft jig dancers"; finally, everything necessary to constitute a genuine old-fashioned muster, with the exception of the liquor tents, fighting, gambling, etc. The number on the ground was estimated at from 2000 to 3000 people, and a more orderly crowd has not been collected together for a long time. The Newton Brass Band discoursed sweet music, and the people separated in the best possible humor.

The ball is in motion, and the people demand a general militia law, compelling all able citizens to perform military duty; and they will hail with delight a return of good old great training days. INDEX.

Be Wise To-day.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry cures the latter disease, yet the former disappear at once under its influence. 6t

Portsmouth, Oct. 11, 1861.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"

of medicine, known as

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,

whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

FROM BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston.—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, which completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had obtained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, and sold by American Women.

America is justly proud of its beautiful women; but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.

One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a bottle, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my28dawśm

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Our terms for Subscription, Advertising and Job Work, except where accounts are open, are, invariably and exclusively, cash in advance of doing the work.

Subscribers to the old N. H. Gazette, who wish the paper continued to them, will please notify us, at the Chronicle Counting Room. Those who had paid in advance, may receive our paper for the amount due them, by leaving their order with us, or with the late publisher.—We also never wish to send a Daily or Weekly paper which we print, where it is not wanted or will not be paid for, we are very desirous to send them where they are wanted and paid for.

The Advertisements in the old Gazette have been continued in our paper, and we shall be pleased to insert the same at the same rates. We shall also send a copy of our Weekly paper regularly to those who have advertisements in it—for which there is no extra charge; and although the Gazette may not be especially interesting to those who read the Daily Chronicle, yet the Weekly will be found of some value to send to friends abroad.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—Subscribers who find a pen-and-ink mark about this paragraph, are thereby informed that their subscription has expired; and they may forward more money if they wish the paper continued.

BLACK LIST.—Although we have large and excellent lists of cash-paying patrons, yet a few bogus "customers" do occasionally creep into our credit and get on our books. We are preparing a Black List of such chronic delinquents, and shall print it in a few days, after giving all concerned a fair notice and chance to settle up and keep their names out of print.

ZOLLICKOFFER'S

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF

INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and vesicating plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every complaint of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; when, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILLS, Chemist,

N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY
THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,
Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or (by the removal of a simple plate) in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3 ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time! The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and evenly heated than a tin roaster, which receives no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz.:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends a so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an unrivalled feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, need not be lied except once or twice a day for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mathes, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James P. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Nichols, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Solomon M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,
No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE
in the Market,
after all said,
is
STEWART'S
NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT,
SUMMER AND WINTER
COOKING STOVE,
For Wood or Coal,
IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the
STEWART COOK STOVE,
Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attended upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 20 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a DUTCH OVEN prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to support the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement" and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8. In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 18 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of QUIETNESS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested
FOR TWENTY YEARS,
and NOT found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and used for a score of years; but the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861, is as superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and expose to public notice, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the NEW, improved Stewart's, but did for a long time use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

THE MAGEE PARLOR

THY WILL BE DONE.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

We see not, know not; all our way
Is night; with Thee alone is day.
From out the torrent's troubled drift,
Above the storm our prayer we lift,
Thy will be done!

The flesh may fail, the heart may faint,
But who are we to make complaint,
Or dare to plead in times like these
The weakness of our love of ease?
Thy will be done!

We take with solemn thankfulness
Our burden up nor ask it less,
And count it joy that even we May suffer, serve, or wait for Thee,
Whose will be done!

Though dim as yet in tint and line,
We trace Thy picture's wise design,
And thank thee that our age supplies
The dark relief of sacrifice.
Thy will be done!

And if, in our unworthiness,
Thy sacrificial wine we press,
If from Thy ordeal's heated bars,
Our feet are seamed with crimson scars,
Thy will be done!

If, for the age to come, this hour
Of trial hath vicarious power,
And, blest by thee, our present pain
Be Liberty's eternal gain,
Thy will be done!

Strike, Thou, the Master, we thy keys,
The anthem of the destinies!
The minor of Thy loftier strain
Our hearts shall breathe the old refrain,
Thy will be done!

☞ Dr. Hayes's Arctic expedition arrived at Halifax on Monday, on its return to the United States. The party are all well, but have lost two of their original members by death,—August Sonntag, the astronomer, and Gibson Carruthers, the carpenter. The party sailed from Boston July 10, 1860, in the schooner United States (formerly the Spring Hill,) and reached Smith's Strait Aug. 26, 1860, but have been unsuccessful in the main object of their enterprise, having been unable to penetrate the Strait, either last year or this. They wintered at Port Foulke, near Cape Alexander and with a dog sledge reached latitude 81 deg. 31 min. North on the first day of May last. It will be remembered that the latitude of 82 deg. 27 min. was attained by a portion of Dr. Kane's party, in June 1845.

☞ In the case Gen. Graham, arraigned before Judge Merrick, at Washington, for contempt in detaining a minor in camp, for whom a writ of habeas corpus was issued, the General pleaded for his defence an order of the Adjutant General, forbidding any more discharges on account of minority. The Judge refused to receive the excuse, declaring that no reasons of state nor plea of necessity could justify a disregard of judicial duty, and threatening to execute punishment for contempt if the writ of habeas corpus should not be obeyed before Thursday noon.

☞ The steamer Fanny, at the time of her capture by the rebels, was not in the service of the Navy Department, and has never been employed by it; and the same may be said of her captain. That Department has no knowledge of him whatever, and has no reason to suppose that at the time of the capture of the Fanny a single person in any way connected with the Navy was on board of her.

OPENING OF THE TEN YEARS' SEALS Ten years since, Rev. Henry Morgan, o Boston, lectured on temperance in various New England cities, and sealed up the names of signers to the pledge in a book to be kept in the city records for ten years. As the time has now expired, Mr. Morgan commenced last Monday, a tour of lecturing, with a view to open the books, break the seals, and call the names of those who pledged themselves to abstain from the use of intoxicating drinks for ten years.

The following rules are laid down for the direction of ladies wishing to knit socks for the soldiers:—Get large needles and a coarse yarn. Cast on seventy-eight stitches, and knit the leg ten inches before setting the heel. The heel should be three and a half inches long, and knit of double yarn, one fine and one coarse, for extra strength. The foot should be eleven or twelve inches long.

A monkey owned by an Edinburg shopkeeper lately snatched from its mother's arms a baby twelve months old, and with its teeth and nails nearly tore it to pieces before it could be reached.

PURE LIQUORS AND WINES FOR PRIVATE USE AND MEDICAL PURPOSES.
We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no traveling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Communications by mail will receive prompt attention, with full and complete catalogue of goods, prices, &c.

THE NEWSPAPER.

"This stick of type hath more of might,
Than warrior hosts or fortress walls;
And it shall batter towers to dust,
That laugh at hosts and cannon balls."

We protest against assumptions which have latterly become too rife, and which would sink individual opinion, and the respect due to the great institution of the Press, too low. It is rather early in our new military sphere for the term of "civilian" to be treated with contempt, and somewhat premature to make a lackey of the Press.—It has a loftier mission than the mere praise of generals; and its prerogatives belong to war as well as peace. While generals manœuvre in the field, it stirs the people to support the cause; and having summoned them to arms, is bound to notify them how the cause goes on. The greatest triumph of civilization over the barbarity of war during the last quarter of a century, has been the admission of the press as one of the institutions of a campaign; and while this is the case under the rigorous conditions of European governments, it will not do on this liberal continent to treat its pretensions with a sneer. It represents hundreds of thousands of anxious hearts at home; of wives, of aged fathers and widowed mothers, some of whom have contributed their "only one" to the cause of the Republic;—and it likewise represents the right of the people, to a certain due extent, to supervise the conduct of all who are acting in their name.

We have fallen upon dangerous times, indeed, if any department of the public service is not amenable to criticism; and to a deplorable condition of the Press, if it be held that any negro with a braided jacket, who goes between the city and the camp, or sutler, or teamster, or Billy Barlow, who gets holiday for an afternoon, may be trusted with the secrets of our position, in preference to those who represent the greatest institution of the age!

But these remarks are meant rather for that unthinking portion of the public who took up the sneer against the "civilians and the Press" immediately after the disaster at Manassas, than for the commanders of the army. Their conduct has been courteous to all well-established journals; and none have been more considerate in this way than Gen. Scott and Gen. McClellan.

But, the Press may as well insist upon having its position truly understood. In this war, it has been the great recruiting sergeant, stimulating the people with the loftiest temptations, and standing by to give further aid to meet all the rising exigencies of the country. It always contributes more than it receives, and it cannot be satisfied with less payment than respect. It is vitally important to the public welfare that it should not be restricted in its rights of comment; and if it is sometimes querulous and hypocritical, it is more often a wholesome monitor and an invaluable auxiliary. Those who sneer at it loudest are the first to seek its information; and even the most supercilious generals would be unable to study the breadth of the campaign, were it not that the Press lays before them every morning, a complete diagram of the contest, as it rages at the remotest point.

While its services, therefore, must be duly recognized, its opinions are also worthy of consideration. There is nothing so marvelously intricate in the art of war, that a reasonably high intelligence cannot comprehend its combinations and its policy; and outside observers can often detect the balances and relations of a game better than the players who are busy in its meshes, and who are absorbed by the local influence of its spell.

Generals are not infallible; and possibly the spell of prestige, or the headway of a course, may carry us too far in one direction. Common sense always has its value, and while every day has its share of error, it should never hesitate in pronouncing its opinion. The humblest citizen has as great a stake in the Government as Mr. Lincoln; but while he concedes cheerfully to the head of the constituted powers, he may not be willing to resign himself to blind acquiescence in every detail of their measures.

Our successes in this war have not been so continuous or so signal as to require the surrender of our judgment. On the contrary, our failures and mortifications have been so numerous as rather to summon a universal contribution of ideas.—George Wilkes.

☞ A fiendish attempt to murder a whole family, by blowing up a dwelling with gunpowder, occurred in Roxbury, Mass., about 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening.

The outrage was perpetrated upon the residence Edw. Bran, an Irish blacksmith, and was effected by throwing a couple of jugs of gunpowder through the windows, with a slow match attached. As soon as they fell on the floor both exploded, shattering the house and furniture, but fortunately injuring none of the inmates.

One side of the house for a distance of fifteen feet was blown completely out, and the inside partition and walls were badly shattered. The powder was thrown in through one of the rear windows into a bedroom. The family at the time were in a front room visiting a neighbor. A similar attempt to destroy Mr. Bran's blacksmith shop, was made a year since, by placing powder inside the bellows, which exploded as it was blown out upon the coals.

☞ Among the stockings given to a Marblehead, Mass., company, was one pair knit by a woman who has the use of but one arm.—and that her left.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Mr. Samuel L. Gerould was ordained pastor of the Congregational church in Stoddard, Oct. 2d. Rev. Dr. Barstow, of Keene, preached the sermon, and Rev. Mr. Gerould, of Canaan, father of the candidate, gave the charge.

—— Rev. S. S. Hunting, of Manchester, has received a unanimous call from the Unitarian Society in Detroit, to become their pastor, at a salary of $1500, the same being secured by private pledges for two years. The Society has never paid but $1200 heretofore.

—— Lieut. D. M. Robinson, wagon master of the 3d Regiment, has returned to Manchester, commissioned to employ thirty teamsters, who will receive the liberal compensation of thirty dollars per month. It is understood that the regiment will soon start on an expedition, and have active service probably in an important position, and men are needed at once.

—— The Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Regiments are upon the tapis of formation. No others will be raised at present in this State. These, and those already sent to the seat of war, with the four companies of cavalry now raising, and three companies of Sharpshooters, will make the quota from New Hampshire.

—— An apple tree in Nashua, which like nearly all the rest, failed to blossom last spring, has repented, and last week appeared in full blossom.

—— J. M. Williams was tried a year ago for the murder of Vanness Wyatt, at Warren, and the jury did not agree. The Court is now in session at Haverhill, before which his case was coming up for a new trial. He was called for by the Court Monday, and did not appear. It is understood that he has left for parts unknown, for prudential reasons. The amount of his bail at present is about $2000. It was $10,000 at first. Last week was the third of the Court, and thus far it had been engaged upon the trial of Patrick Scanlan for the murder of his wife at Bethlehem.

—— Samuel Williams, the first selectman of the town of Enfield, a member of the School Committee of the town, a man of influence, and worth $10,000, has enlisted in Capt. House's company in Lebanon, as a private. The company is composed of independent farmers and mechanics.

—— They had a Fair and Cattle Show in Weare the other day, and one of the farmers saved his dimes. He is worth his thousands, pays one of the largest farm taxes in town, boasts of his 500 acres of land, and bountiful crops, and of his constantly increasing "coppers." On the last day of the Fair, there might have been seen, a short, fat man, (our hero) with wife and little ones, lingering among the trees and peeping over the fence, with a most wistful face and distressed pocket. He watched for the going down of the sun, and kept a sharp eye on the gates. At four o'clock, during the great trot, and when the show was about over, the guards left the gates to the free entrance of all outsiders. This was the time for our poor hero. In he rushed, with his wife and babies, at a dog trot, hurrying through the crowd to the tent. He and his looked with all eyes, scampering from object to object, for the Show was nearly over. "Golly!" said he to his wife, "we've saved our quarters!"

—— A few Sabbaths since there were present at the church at East Alton, Deacon Richard Roberts and five sisters, whose ages ranged from 73 to 61 years, and in the aggregate equalled 400 years. It is remarkable that no brother or sister of the family has deceased since 1803.

—— The Manchester American says:—"Joseph Lovely or Lovette, who struck another boy with a knife in school on Monday, is to be sent out of town by his father, which will relieve pupils and parents from any apprehension of a repetition of such an act."

We would respectfully inquire where that "out of town" is—where there are no pupils to be struck and no parents to feel alarmed?

☞ The entire population of the British empire amounts to 275,000,000. Of these, the number in the British Islands is 29,250,000; the North American Colonies, 3,785,000; the Australian group, 1,275,000; West Indian, 1,000,000; while the aggregate number of British subjects in Ceylon, Mauritius, and the African and European possessions, amounts to 3,200,000. In British India the number is 135,000,000. In sixty years the increase of population in the United Kingdom was 82 per cent., but for the last ten years the increase has been only 6 per cent.

☞ It is stated upon good authority, that the Confederate agents in Europe have purchased another large screw steamer, which has taken a cargo of woolen goods, for the use of the rebels, and is now on her way to this country. The success of the Bermuda in running the blockade at Savannah will, no doubt, encourage many similar enterprises.

If our our naval and land forces, down that way, could be quick and strong enough to take Savannah, before the Bermuda gets out, it might turn the tables a little.

THE REBELLION.

The 20th Indiana regiment lost in the recent engagement at Hatteras, not less than 70 killed and wounded. The enemy captured their military stores and a considerable number of arms, knapsacks and tents. The regiment had no other weapons than muskets. The rebel rendezvous is Roanoke Island, about 12 miles from the scene of action.

It has been determined at Fortress Monroe to use all exertions to augment the strength of our forces on the North Carolina coast.

It is reported that 3000 rebels went southward from Bowling Green, Ky., on Wednesday,—it is supposed for the purpose of guarding the coast. It is stated that John C. Breckinridge, ex-Minister Preston and John B. Hodges were at Bowling Green, Wednesday.

The Union gun is now mounted so as to sweep the roads between Fortress Monroe and Sewall's Point.

Six Union pickets, four or five miles from Paducah, were attacked by a large force of rebels on Thursday morning; two were mortally wounded and two taken prisoners, with their horses and equipments. The rebels had divided their force, and in the excitement fired into each other. They then fled, each party taking the other for our cavalry.

The "Grand Army of the West" has left Jefferson City, Mo. Gen. Fremont, although not prepared as he wished, will go forward rapidly, and if possible will push on after Price and his followers, "nor stop until he drives him into the Mississippi river, or brings him to bay to fight it out."—There is a hope that the high stage of water in all the streams will impede Price's movements, and allow Fremont's command to come up to them, and settle the matter by a pitched battle. From the best information, Fremont will be able to concentrate at Sedalia not less than 35,000 men, with 100 pieces of artillery.

The Chicago Tribune says there was not, as the telegraph stated, a fight in Ray county, Mo., on Saturday last, in which Lane and Sturgis on our side, and Harris on the other, were engaged. At that date Lane and Sturgis were not within sixty miles of the place. Sturgis did not appear opposite Lexington as the rebels were leaving, and accelerate their movements by tossing shells among them. He must have been at Kansas City. The latest accounts give reason to fear that Price has escaped from the "trap" set for him, by a rapid march to the northward. He was last heard from at Grand River, a good distance beyond the southernmost station of the federal army.

Two rebel steamers endeavored to pass Fortress Monroe, in the darkness of the storm Wednesday night, doubtless to run the blockade, but withdrew on finding the were observed.

The Tribune's dispatch says there are no rebel fortifications on the Potomac, except at Aquia Creek.

It is said Hon. John J. Crittenden is first private in the Frankfort, Ky., Home Guard.

Enlisting in Kentucky for Union forces is progressing rapidly. 300 rebels were advancing on Hillsboro', for the purpose of burning that place. 58 Home Guards opened fire upon them, causing them to fly in all. The rebels lost 11 killed, 29 wounded, and 22 prisoners. We captured 127 Enfield rifles and a large number of other arms, and lost 3 killed and 2 wounded.

A mutiny was imminent in the 2d and 6th Regiments, a Lt. Colonel (the Provost Marshal of Tipon) having killed a private who refused to lay down some boards he was tearing from a fence.

☞ Steamship Asia, from Liverpool Sept. 28, arrived at New York on Friday. The advance on cotton for the week was 3-8 a 1-2d.

The American squadron had left China for home, except one small vessel, which remained at the earnest request of the American merchants, and had gone to Shanghae, where a schooner was reported as fitting out for a privateer.

Religious services were celebrated in one of the Presbyterian churches in Liverpool on the 26th, in sympathy with the day of humiliation and prayer in America.

☞ The steamer R. B. Forbes has been thoroughly repaired at the Washington Navy Yard, and is now ready for sea.

At the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the chartered steamers Vanderbilt, Baltic, Atlantic, &c., will soon be ready to start on their secret expedition. A number of surf boats are being placed on board the Vanderbilt, and the other vessels are taking in stores.—It is not known what troops these vessels will take out, but they will necessarily consist chiefly of volunteers.

☞ The Portsmouth Journal hints that the dispatch reporting that Ben. McCulloch is alive is a "tell-lie-graph." People hereabout would not grieve much should it prove so.

A mere matter of form.—Wearing corsets.

Special Notices.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced tenfold by scientific and judicious combinations with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in that

"Combination and a form indeed"
of medicine, known as
Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry,
whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

Strong Testimony

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at South Royalston, Mass.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Jan. 4, 1860.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston,—Gentlemen:—Although unsolicited by you, I cannot refrain from adding my testimony to the many already given in favor of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard, dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health, that after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, though with no belief whatever in its wonderful curative properties; and before using two bottles the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor.

Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted.

Very respectfully yours, BENJ. WHEELER.

Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, and sold by Preston, Kimball, Hutchings, J. H. Thacher, N. P. Thacher, Portsmouth; James P. Packer Greenland; S. Hanson, Jr., New Market; Porter & Thyng, and Wm. B Safford, Exeter; J. W. Green, Hampton Falls; and by dealers every where.

American Women.
America is justly proud of its beautiful women; but how many die annually, or prematurely lose their health and youth for want of a remedy suitable to their peculiar ailments. That remedy is found in SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS. We know hundreds of cases where they have been used with the greatest success.—In all cases of Nervous and Spinal affections, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on slight exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of sleep, Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites, and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed,—moderating excesses and removing obstructions, whether from cold or any other cause. Suffer no more anxiety or low spirits, but try them. For full particulars, get a pamphlet, free, of the Agent.
One dollar and six postage stamps sent to any authorized agent, will insure a box, containing over 50 Pills, by return mail. my25 3m w3m

The success of this remedy has been fully tested in various parts, where the moisture of the climate induces great prevalence of Colds, &c., and a certainty of the efficiency of a remedy is required to avoid Consumption and ultimate death. This remedy, although only recently introduced in this vicinity, has met with a great demand, and every confidence is placed in its merits by those who have given it a fair and impartial trial.

BOY WANTED,
To learn the Printer's Trade,—at the Chronicle Office.

Local.

A 'MATCH' FOR OLD UNCLE BEN.—A jolly "old" friend of ours tells us he has a match for our story of Benj. Akerman, Esq. the shoemaker, aged 85 years. She is the widow of Mr. John Underwood, formerly of Portsmouth; and though now 86 years of age, has been visiting her children in Massachusetts and New York, making long journeys, often alone—and is yet hale and hearty. She is sister to Dan'l P. Drown, Esq. of this city—who, although he has seen nearly fourscore years, has recently advertised in the Chronicle, the resuming of his old business as Justice of the Peace.

THE BALLOT newspaper, now printed at Exeter, contains in this week's paper, the following significant paragraph, in an article on "paying up."

* * * "Now we don't want to print a paper here unless it will pay—there being at present no call for self-sacrifice in that direction—but while our charges are such as to represent a paying business, we do not feel like closing up at a sacrifice of the labor of years. And yet for months past our receipts have not been equal to our expenses, while our charges have doubled them." * * *

Now if ever a man or a paper deserved well of any "party," the Ballot and its editor certainly did, and do, of the Republican party in Rockingham County. And the way in which the paper has been neglected, and the paramount personal claims or merits of its editor to political preferment, almost utterly ignored, is to us a standing comment on the ingratitude of political parties and leaders. Blessed is he who asks and expects nothing from them, for then he may not be disappointed. The Chronicle will stick to its "Independent" course, still.

☞ Rev. Samuel H. Winkley, of Boston, will preach at the Unitarian Church tomorrow.

Rev. Mr. Butterfield, of Great Falls, will preach at the North Church.

NOW FOR FUN.—Locke & Hampton's Dramatic Company, at the Temple, this evening, announce a new cast—and will give Ten Nights in a Bar Room this Afternoon. We are glad Yankee Locke is to appear again in his legitimate sphere of comedy, in which he is hard to beat. Laugh and grow fat; or laugh, at any rate.

Major Shaw, himself among the veterans, has handed us a list of men residing in Newburyport, between 70 and 90 years of age—the oldest 89; in all one hundred and six. Twenty-three are between 80 and 90, and eighty-three between 70 and 80.—Newburyport Herald.

Who will furnish us a similar list for this city?

DEXTER'S BUSTS OF THE GOVERNORS. Marble busts of Gov. Buckingham of Connecticut, and Gov. Ichabod Goodwin of New Hampshire, additions to Dexter's collection of the Governors of 1860, have been placed at Williams & Everett's, and are now on exhibition there.—Boston Transcript.

☞ On Wednesday night the stables and outbuildings connected with the Atlantic House, Chelsea Beach, were entirely destroyed by fire. The hotel was not damaged. The buildings belong to John Moran, who is absent at the seat of war. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The loss is estimated at about $2000 or $2500.

☞ Gen. Graham, Thursday, in accordance with the requirements of Judge Merrick, produced to the court at Washington, Jeremiah Lyon, the Union volunteer whom he had detained after his release was ordered on a writ of habeas corpus. The lad had volunteered contrary to the consent of his parents, and was now surrendered to their custody. There were accordingly no further proceedings against Graham, and he was discharged.

☞ A letter from the Southwest of Missouri states that large numbers of slaves are being constantly forwarded by their masters into Arkansas and Texas, as they have recently been from the northern and western parts of that State; and it is said there are not now much more than half as many slaves in Missouri as there were at the time of South Carolina's secession.

☞ The Potter Investigating Committee has adjourned. Their first report included the names of 237 Government employees against whom evidence of treason was presented. A second report will be presented, giving 235 more. The subject is unexhausted, and will probably be renewed at the beginning of the next session of Congress.

James Hernandez, the most celebrated of American equestrians, died very suddenly at Hong Kong, China, in which place he was temporarily professionally engaged.

☞ No less than a dozen of the federal regimental postmasters have been detected in purloining letters belonging to soldiers.

☞ Several government contractors for army blankets have failed with their agreements.

☞ A Union newspaper has been established at Alexandria.

PORTLAND ITEMS.—Two young girls, 14 or 15 years old, were arrested on Monday for stealing clothes from the entries of public schools—a frequent crime in that city of late. Eight boys, aged from 12 to 15 years, have also been arrested for stealing fruit from gardens.

The gun-boat Kineo was launched on Tuesday afternoon.

Capt. Peter W. Brown, of brig Lauretta, has been bound over for trial on a charge of smuggling 7500 cigars and a barrel of sugar.

☞ The bodies of the six men drowned in Portland harbor, on Tuesday, have all been recovered. When the boat was recovered it was found that both jib and main sheets were trimmed flat and belayed when the squall struck her.

☞ The New-Hampshire Gazette and Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room. Price 3 cents. $1 per year, in advance.

☞ An afternoon performance of "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," will be given on Saturday, for the benefit of the ladies and the children. The price of admission is but fifteen cents,—children, 10 cents.

Be Wise To-day.—'Tis madness to neglect a cough or cold. Consumption may follow, and though Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry cures the latter disease, yet the former disappear at once under its influence. 6t

☞ See a woman, in another column, picking Samuel Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals and by the first class families in Paris, London, and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y

NTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
A PREPARATION FOR THE CURE OF
INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND RHEUMATIC GOUT, NEURALGIC RHEUMATISM,
SCIATICA AND LUMBAGO.

Of all the diseases incident to the human family, there is none, perhaps, which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as RHEUMATISM in its various modifications. Medical writers, and the faculty in general, have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other which have been presented to the public as curatives.

Rheumatism, as well as Gout (which latter is but a more aggravated form of what is commonly understood as Rheumatism), would seem to result from a peculiar diathesis or inflammatory condition of the system, originating in a diseased state of the blood. It usually affects the larger joints, as the ankle, knee, elbow, shoulders, &c., and manifests itself in Neuralgic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, and other forms of this character.

Sometimes, through negligence, or the inadequacy of the remedies applied, it assumes a decided inflammatory feature, and then often becomes a constitutional affection, permeating every muscle, and exposing the surface to a most painful sensitiveness to every change in the weather; thus seeming to preclude all prospect of a restoration to health.

The almost exclusive and indiscriminate use of external applications, such as fomentations, stimulating embrocations, blistering and warming plasters, bleeding, cupping, and leeching, have in most cases proved ineffectual, merely transmuting the disease from one part of the system to another. The ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL, on the contrary, is altogether an internal remedy, and is intended to strike at the root of the disease. It is a new and original preparation, invented by the subscriber, and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever.

It is not pretended, however, that this Cordial will cure every reputed case of Rheumatism that may be presented, although the results have hitherto been such as would justify every one afflicted by it in making the trial; and where even the most remote benefit is discoverable, it may then be fairly inferred that a cure will be effected, providing the directions be steadily and perseveringly adhered to, both as to the time of taking it, and the quantity used.

It is a singular fact, that advanced age appears to be equally as susceptible to the benefits derivable from its use as youth, or those in the meridian of life. We have a number of instances of persons ranging from sixty to upwards of eighty, who, having been many years the subjects of Rheumatism, in one or other of its varied forms, have by using a few bottles been completely restored—their whole system invigorated, and, as a matter of course, their general health greatly improved. We have rarely known a return of the disease after it has been subdued by the use of this Cordial, even though the patient may have been exposed to the vicissitudes of wet weather; which, however, there have been any slight indications of "the old complaint," a few doses have produced the most happy effect.

The subscriber can furnish a long array of names of the most prominent and influential citizens, who can testify to the inestimable efficacy of this invaluable compound, and who are willing that their names should be placed before the public, in order to inform those who are afflicted with RHEUMATISM in its various phases, that there is a sovereign remedy in "ZOLLICKOFFER'S ANTI RHEUMATIC CORDIAL." Prepared only by THEODORE DILKS, Chemist,
N. E. cor. Pine and Sixth sts., Philadelphia.

This article has been used in this city and vicinity during the past year, by many persons; and with results that fully justify the above recommendation of the manufacturer. A fresh supply just received by

Morning Chronicle.

The bride selected for the Prince of Wales, the Princess Anna of Denmark, is described as just fifteen, very fair, with a most brilliant complexion, and lovely hair, clustering in thick curls about her neck and shoulders. Her royal highness has been most carefully brought up, and is possessed of a most splendid musical talent, cultivated to its utmost extent by the first masters in Europe. Altogether, she is considered one of the most accomplished Princesses in Europe; and her portrait, in white muslin, with blue ribbons, and a single rose bud in her golden hair, long formed one of the greatest attractions of Giroux's exhibition at the Boulevards.

☞ John Bell is now residing at Nashville, Tenn., with his son-in-law, one of the numerous Yateman family. He is not only politically, but also financially ruined, and his love of liquor is said to have increased greatly of late.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system disorganized, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some ill is stealthily creeping upon you, and should be arrested by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the functions move on unobstructed in health again. Every schoolmaster knows the function of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep-seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the victims of these Pills will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they cure.

Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well known public persons.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of a disease seven years in her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother has been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After one chill was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her.

ASA MORGRIDGE.

As a Family Physic.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, New Orleans.

Your Pills are the perfection of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease.

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

DEAR REV. SIR: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say of them as ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach which they cleanse at once.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an operative, but I find their tonic qualities upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people. ☞

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Washington, D. C., 7th Feb., 1854.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quite marked, and consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom failed in cases of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Relax, Worms.

From Dr. J. C. Green, of Chicago.

Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in sickness. To regulate the order of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Pazzia, Fits, etc.

☞ From Dr. J. P. Vanglen, Montreal, Canada.

Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in publicly doing it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the promoter of others that are worse. I believe on Hippocrates to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. R. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston.

I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are a cancellation to pain of the natural sorts, has when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawies, of the Methodist Episc. Church

PULASKI HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not support my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which subsist in chronic rheumatism. Nevertheless, although I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. They effected wonders, but cure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SPEAKER CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec. 1854.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of rheumatic gout—a painful disease that has afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill. But the doubtful cures ascribed to it frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Price, 25 cents per Box, or 5 Boxes for $1.

ANOTHER NEW STOVE!

THE MODEL COOK

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

MADE BY

THE BARSTOW STOVE COMPANY,

Of Providence, R. I.

In introducing a new Cook Stove, of singularly novel construction and arrangement, it is proper that we speak of its merits.

The novel—the peculiar feature of the MODEL COOK, that which distinguishes it from all others, is the addition of a Ventilated Roasting Oven within the body of the stove and in front of the fire; so arranged that it can be used separately for a roaster, or by the removal of a simple plate; in connection with the larger oven, for baking; giving an oven nearly 3ft. long; or large enough to take six large plates on the bottom, every part of which will bake evenly at the same time; The advantages of this arrangement over that adopted for roasting in the Stewart and other stoves, by extending the oven with a tin roaster in front of the fire, are obvious, viz:

1st. This permanent extension of the stove costs no more than the temporary extension by a tin roaster, while this is more durable, tasteful and useful.

2d. As the flues of the stove extend over and under the entire size of the oven, it is more easily and surely heated than a tin roaster, which reaches no heat except what it borrows from the baking oven.

3d. By this arrangement the processes of roasting and baking are entirely separated, while by the others they are carried on together, the fumes of both being intermingled.

4th. By this arrangement the roasting oven can be attached to the baking oven in a single moment of time, when occasion requires; or it can be used for a hot closet when not required for baking or roasting.

5th. By this extension an additional boiler hole and other room is gained on the top of the stove, while, at the same time, the stove occupies no more room on the floor.

We might make extended notice of some other things peculiar to this stove, as compared with other high priced Air Tight Cook Stoves, but will barely allude to them, viz:

1st. The double plates each side of the fire prevent any leak of ashes into the oven and make the stove more durable.

2d. The admission of external air between these plates, for the ventilation of the roasting oven, tends so to the preservation of the plates most exposed to destruction.

3d. The durable dump grate, with the ash box of ample size to receive the ashes and coals, is an attractive feature of the stove.

4th. The draft door, at each end of the fire box, is a great convenience, when a quick fire is wanted.

5th. The movable ash pan, which, tho' it forms a hearth to the stove, can at be used as a receiver of ashes or clay for taking up and carrying away the ashes.

6th. The stove has but one damper, and but one division of flues on the back of and under the oven, ensuring a very quick bake.

7th. The stove is made in the most thorough manner; the doors and roasting oven are lined with tin, and tin jackets are provided for the back and bottom plates. A hot closet and tank can be added, if required. With any reasonable care, the stove will last a life-time, and we know it to be "perfect in its operation."

This stove was thoroughly tested before being brought into the market, and we know that all that is said of it will be found true on trial.

JOHN TRENDY, Esq., one of our most practical and scientific mechanics, who has had large experience in the construction of stove patterns in years past, and has for many years been using one of the Stewart Stoves, has purchased one of the MODEL COOKS, and after a fair trial pronounces it far superior to the Stewart or any stove he has ever seen, for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Reference can also be made to Messrs. J. M. Mather, N. K. Walker, C. C. Jackson, C. H. Mendum, James F. Shores, Geo. Whitehouse, Joseph E. Cate, Nathaniel Dennett, John Harrett, Phineas Jenkins, Thomas E. Call, Portsmouth; Stephen M. Weeks, Geo. W. Davis, Greenland; John Smart, Stratham; Robert F. Gerrish, Kittery; Nath'l F. Berry, Gosport, and many others who are using the Stove.

The MODEL COOK is adapted equally well for wood and coal, summer and winter. It will be found to be THE stove for farmers, mechanics or professional men; for boarding houses or private families—in fact for every place where a good stove is needed.

We have nought to say against any other stove, believing that a man can sell his own goods without depreciating his neighbor's; but this we do say, that we honestly believe this is the best stove that can be found in the world; and what is more, we think others will agree with us after a trial of it. We invite every one to examine the Stove, whether they wish to purchase or not.

☞ We have also a very beautiful new pattern COOK STOVE, called the

Modal Range;

Of which very many are being sold. It works well and comes cheap, and is well suited for a small family.

EZRA A. STEVENS,

No. 46 Market Street.

The Best COOK STOVE in the Market, after all said, is

STEWART'S

NEW, LARGE OVEN, AIR TIGHT, SUMMER AND WINTER

COOKING STOVE,

For Wood or Coal,

IMPROVED IN 1859.

The peculiarities of the

STEWART COOK STOVE,

Embracing the Latest Improvements, briefly stated, are:

1. It is what it purports to be—AN AIR TIGHT COOKING STOVE. That is, when the draft is properly adjusted, wood will lie and smoulder and char, upon the grate, after the manner of a coal pit. Or, if the fire be of Anthracite Coal, by simply closing the draft, it will be effectually put out.

2. Combined with this, are the peculiar position of the fire-chamber, the general internal structure, and the outward movable coverings, by which means the heat of the stove may be confined within, or thrown off to warm the apartment, thus relieving females of the discomfort usually attendant upon carrying on cooking operations in summer, and securing the qualities of the brick oven so fully that the baking process may be carried through successfully without any one going near the stove, from the time the article is set in until it be removed from the oven.

3. The stove is accommodated to the reception of a permanent RESERVOIR, (of copper, with a tin casing,) containing from 10 to 30 gallons, by which the waste heat, in passing off, is made available to keep on hand a constant supply of hot water. The space beneath the reservoir is occupied with a TIN CLOSET, where articles ready for the table are placed to keep warm, bread set to rise, fruit dried, &c.

4. Also, by the aid of the TOP COVER, a coal fire may be kept up through the night, and breakfast and dinner prepared the next day with no addition of fuel.

5. Roasting is performed in the most perfect manner in front of the stove, with a TIN OVEN over prepared for the purpose—the heat being communicated to it from both sides of the fire box; and the fumes, the meanwhile, passing into the draft.

6. A NOVEL PLAN OF VENTILATION is adopted, by which two kinds of meat may be roasted in the oven at the same time, without imparting the peculiar flavor of one to the other; and the current instituted for this purpose made subservient to engaging the heat upon the bottom of the oven, with no increase of combustion.

7. By the aid of the perforated metallic linings, or "gas burning arrangement," and application of the full summer dress, the various culinary processes may be carried forward successfully with a single stick of wood at a time.

8 In regard to DURABILITY, the Stewart Stove is made to last; and will last. The structural form is such that the frame-work of it cannot burn out.

All the plates constituting the original STEWART STOVE, which was brought out 15 years ago, are still made, and sent to different parts of the country on call.

The price of COMFORTS, COMFORT and HEALTH secured to a family by the use of a culinary apparatus perfectly adapted to their wants, cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents.

But we cannot, and need not, enumerate in detail, the excellencies of THE STEWART STOVE. It is no experiment, or new-fangled notion got up to gull the public, to which we invite your attention; but

THE STANDARD COOK STOVE,

Now in use, which has been widely tested

FOR TWENTY YEARS,

and not found wanting in any particular. Yes, the Stewart Stove has been manufactured and sold for a score of years; and the inventor has kept pace with the times, and repeatedly made improvements—so that the Stewart Stove of 1861 is superior to that of 1841, as the Mowing Machine is to a Bush Scythe.

And here we will venture to refer to, and explain if not refute, the statements of one of our city Stove Dealers, respecting the Stewart Stove, in comparison to another almost unknown Cook Stove. The gentleman therein named, as using and discarding the Stewart, never had one of the new, improved Stewart, but did for a long period use one of the old pattern; and it gave such complete satisfaction that we have recently furnished three members of the same family, with the new improved Stewart—which we do say

HAS NOT BEEN EXCELLED,

yet, as a Family Stove. For further particulars, and to see the best Stove in the market, please call on

VOL. 19. PORTSMOUTH, N. H. MONDAY, OCT. 14, 1861. NO. 62.

THE EMANCIPATION QUESTION.—The Baltimore correspondent of the New York Tribune believes that the South will at the last moment, if needed in self-defence, proclaim emancipation,—a policy proposed by the Government in Cuba, if necessary to arrest the fillibusters of Lopez or the United States.

"When Gen. Toombs made his speech against the increase of the army, in the Senate two years ago, he warned the North that the South held the institution of slavery in its own hands, and that if events should justify it, the Slave States would anticipate outside pressure, and by a sweeping act of emancipation, convert the slaves into the friends of the South. The Secessionists of the more ardent sort in this city do not hesitate to assert that this will be the policy of the South, as the war progresses, rather than suffer the rebellion to be put down. They are free to admit that a vigorous prosecution of Fremont's policy would speedily end the rebellion, and hence their joy at its modification."

A promise of emancipation by the rebel powers, would no doubt induce many slaves to fight: and such a promise might fulfil itself more fully than the promissors intended.

Mr. Toombs' plans of a sweeping emancipation would be simply the suicide of the slave power. The war would die of itself; and the Union would be reconstructed at leisure and without difficulty: but we see no signs of it, and think Mr. Toombs was talking for Buncombe.

☞ A citizen of Clark county, Va., who reached our lines a few days since, states that at present there are only three or four hundred rebel militia at Winchester; that breastworks are erected on the approaches to the place from the north and west, and that a few pieces of cannon are planted at other points in the vicinity. The poor were suffering for the want of subsistence. Groceries were entirely exhausted, provisions were scarce, and no currency was seen except shinplasters. The debris of the locomotives brought from Martinsburg was still in the place, and no efforts had yet been made to extend the railroad to Strasburg.

☞ Three brothers, George H., Gustavus D. and Cyrus G. Simpson, of St. Albans, Me., some three months since enlisted in Company E, 3d Maine Regiment. At the battle of Bull Run, Cyrus was killed by a cannon ball. A few weeks later Gustavus died in the army hospital of typhoid fever; and last week George followed him, after suffering for a long time from the same malignant disease.

☞ Mr. Russell, the London Times correspondent, is at last beginning to understand us, and declares in his last letter that the Federal Government is sure to succeed if it puts forth all its strength. Till lately he has professed absolute incredulity of any such result.

☞ A. Joy, who has the care of the town farm in Deerfield, Mass., has a turkey that commenced laying on the 15th of April, and has since laid 164 eggs. Can any turkey beat this?

☞ There is an immense crop of chestnuts this year. In Connecticut $2 per bushel is asked for them, but those who interest themselves in the matter say they will be down to $1.

Popularity in politics is to see your name in large type, pasted to a fence. Somebody will inquire who you are, and when the first rain comes you will disappear.

Our customs and habits are like ruts in roads. The wheels of life settle into them; and we jog along through the mire, because it is too much trouble to get out.

Liberty will not descend to a people; a people must raise themselves to liberty; it is a blessing that must be earned before it is enjoyed.

You may speak out more plainly to your associates, but not less courteously than you do to strangers.

☞ The Government has opened another hospital at Washington.

We offer to the country trade and consumers, a complete assortment of LIQUORS, WINES, &c., and would say that our experience of more than FORTY YEARS as Importers, is not only a sufficient guarantee for the Purity of our Goods, but that it enables us to offer advantages to buyers that cannot be excelled by any house in Boston. Owing to the difficulty of procuring, in many towns, a strictly pure and reliable article of Liquors and Wines for medicinal and other purposes, we have for many years given special attention to filling orders for PRIVATE USE; and consumers will find it greatly to their advantage to send their orders to us direct, as we employ no travelling or other agents whatever. Persons who require Pure Liquors or Wines in large or small quantities, may rest assured that all orders will receive our best personal attention, and that every article sent from our house will be satisfactory in every respect. Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1861.

THE REBELLION.

Local authorities in Southern cities are exerting themselves to prevent the accumulation of cotton at one place. They have a wholesome dread of a Federal seizure.

A graceless scoundrel, on Monday evening, during the excitement of pitching tents, getting supper, and a heavy storm, smuggled into the lines of the Conn. 5th a hogshead of liquor. The effects were that a citizen was killed, two or three wounded, and several horses and cattle shot. Gen. Banks issued an order immediately to destroy all the liquor found within the lines, and to arrest all sellers.

Manufacturing operations are brisk, the merchants are encouraged to procure stocks of seasonable merchandise, new buildings are going up on "the burnt district," and the place is recovering its wonted activity. These facts will be gratifying to all who know how large a share of discouragements have fallen to the lot of the Laconians.
